House Group Clears Aid-To-Jobless Bill

Financing Plan Altered To Meet GOP Objections

WASHINGTON (AP) — A billion-dollar aid-to-jobless bill — No. 1 on President Kennedy's priority list — cleared the House Ways and Means Committee Thursday and headed for passage by the House next week.

The committee approved emergency extension of unemployment compensation benefits after changing the financing provisions to meet objections from Republicans and business groups.

Democratic leaders docketed the bill for House consideration next Wednesday. It was expected to be brought up under a procedure permitting only a "yes" or "no" vote, with no amendments.

The Kennedy administration's objective is to start these additional payments to the long-term unemployed by April 1, and Democratic leaders said they hope to meet that deadline.

Extra 13 Weeks Of Benefits

The bill would provide up to another 13 weeks of benefits to jobless workers who have exhausted their rights since last June 30. The emergency program would run for two years from that date.

The Kennedy administration has estimated 500,000 or more persons already have reached the limit of their benefits under regular unemployment compensation programs, and that another 2.4 million will do so in the future.

Passage was assured when Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana announced support of a temporary extension of jobless aid.

This help is needed, Halleck said, because of "conditions which have developed" since last November — when Kennedy was elected.

Temporary Tax Boost

At a news conference in advance of the committee's action, Halleck said Republicans believe the cost should be met by a temporary increase in the current 3.1 per cent payroll tax paid by employers.

That is the method the committee adopted, rather than providing for a permanent increase from $3,000 to $4,800 in the annual base on which the tax is levied. Kennedy had sought the increase in base.

As cleared by the committee, the estimated $990-million cost—to be advanced out of the Treasury — would be repaid during next year and the year after by a temporary boost of four-tenths of one per cent in the payroll tax.

Rees Convicted

Melvin Davis Rees, Jr., 32, a jazz musician from Hyattsville, Md., leaves federal court in Baltimore yesterday after an all-male jury convicted him on a federal kidnap charge. Rees was accused of kidnaping Mrs. Mildred Jackson, 27, and her daughter, Susan, 5, of Apple Grove, Va., and transporting them across the Virginia-Maryland line for the purpose of killing them. The jury did not recommend capital punishment and Rees faces a maximum sentence of life imprisonment. U. S. Marshal Gerald F. Bracken (right) and an unidentified officer escort Rees.

Former Aide Of Lumumba Flees Rebels

Power Struggle Continues; Fears Of Bloodbath Grow

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Reports of a new falling out among rebel leaders in Stanleyville reached diplomats here Thursday. One former aide of slain ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba is said to have fled and another to have been arrested in the struggle for power in rebel ranks.

Fears of a bloodbath grew as Stanleyville authorities remained silent on a U. N. demand for information on the fate of 15 political prisoners believed executed by the rebels. The truce between the United Nations and Katanga also began showing strains.

Diplomats here said Bernard Salumu, former secretary to Lumumba, quarreled with Antoine Gizenga, the Communist-backed rebel leader, and fled Stanleyville. Salumu, one of the Congo's most violent antiwhite extremists, was the rebels' main contact with the United Arab Republic. The U.A.R. is believed by some to be a main source of arms for the rebel regime controlling the northeastern Congo.

Since the slaying of Lumumba was announced by Katanga Province authorities last week, the rebels in Stanleyville have been maneuvering among themselves for the mantle of leadership worn by the deposed premier even during his two months in jail.

Anicet Kashamura, who showed Communist influences when he controlled the Congolese radio in Leopoldville during a term as information minister under Lumumba last summer, was rumored under arrest by Stanleyville soldiers.

Kashamura had been designated leader of Kivu Province—south of Stanleyville and Oriental Province—when the rebels seized the area early this year. Two weeks ago he was reported arrested, and then freed by soldiers loyal to him.

Reports reaching Shangugu, in the Belgian U. N. trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi bordering Kivu Province, said he had been arrested by Gizenga's soldiers again.

Kashamura's shifts from freedom to captivity could be linked to unrest among soldiers in Kivu. Omaci Adrien, another Lumumba man, took over Kivu after Kashamura left the provincial capital of Bukavu earlier this week.

But Adrien is reported having trouble staying in power because his soldiers are jealous of the higher pay given soldiers from Stanleyville.

Engineers Heed Appeal By Kennedy

Agree To Return While Commission Studies Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) —Prodded on all sides, flight engineers of six airlines decided Thursday to return to work at once, ending the nation's most paralyzing airlines strike.

The announcement of the walkout's end was made personally by President Kennedy. Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, who played a key role, stood at his side in the White House.

Kennedy's statement, however, did not signal full peace on the airlines' labor front. Western Air Lines was not covered.

Goldberg said Western's flight engineers still would stay out because the company had refused to join the other airlines in pledging no reprisals against the strikers.

But the Flight Engineers International Association agreed to end its six-day strike of Pan American, American, Trans World, Eastern, National, and Flying Tiger airlines.

By doing so, the engineers heeded Kennedy's appeal of Tuesday to return to work while a presidential peace-seeking commission studied the dispute.

Pressure was applied to the engineers when George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, seconded the President's appeal. And the airlines added more pressure when they handed the engineers an ultimatum Wednesday.

Deadline Extended

The airlines said they would withdraw their pledge of no reprisals unless the flight engineers returned to work by noon Thursday. The pledge had been made when Kennedy set up his commission.

Goldberg persuaded the airlines to extend their deadline for two hours, and a settlement was reached in the afternoon.

Unlike most strikes, this one did not hinge on wages. It arose from a ruling of the Federal Mediation Board covering union jurisdiction.

The board ruled that the flight engineers of United Air Lines must join the same union as the pilots. The flight engineers fear a single union because the pilots easily would outnumber them.

Although Goldberg maintained consistently that the board's ruling applied to United Air Lines alone, the flight engineers of the other major airlines walked off their jobs.

The strike began Friday. It shut down all operations of Eastern, American, and Trans World, and sharply reduced flights of Pan American, National, and Western.

84,000 Workers Laid Off

The airlines said the strike cost them more than $5 million a day. Upwards of 84,000 workers were laid off without pay.

Kennedy read his statement Thursday to a hastily assembled news conference.

He said the Flight Engineers International Association, the Air Lines Pilots Association, and six airlines have all agreed to the proposal made by the secretary of labor on my behalf on Saturday, and that arrangements are now being made for prompt resumption of operations of these airlines."

"The men are immediately available to return to work," Kennedy continued.

"I want to thank all of the parties to the dispute for their cooperation in complying with the request."

In citing a previous proposal made by Goldberg, Kennedy apparently referred to the secretary's private negotiations with the airlines in New York last Saturday.

After the President made his statement, Goldberg discussed the position of Western, which has announced the dismissal of 130 flight engineers and their replacement by pilots.

Goldberg said Kennedy has amended his order setting up the three-man commission so that it covers Western as well as the six other airlines. Originally, Western was omitted.

Dirksen Plans Rights Bill, Hits Demo Omission

WASHINGTON (AP) — Noting that President Kennedy hasn't asked for one, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Thursday he would "unfurl a civil rights bill" in a couple of weeks.

Dirksen, after a conference of Senate and House GOP leaders, said he would introduce his bill "in the absence of any clear indication the administration is going to submit anything."

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, the House Republican leader, joined Dirksen in gibing at Kennedy's omission of civil rights in his recent list of 16 most-wanted bills.

The list included bills on minimum wage, unemployment compensation, health care for the aged, federal aid to education, Social Security revisions and other fields.

Dirksen said he had expected Kennedy to include "something in the general field of civil rights and the revision of Senate Rule 22" to make it easier to shut off a Senate filibuster.

Kennedy has indicated he intends for the present to rely primarily on executive actions which may be taken under present laws.

The Illinois senator said his civil rights bill would cover proposals to give statutory authority to the equal jobs opportunity commission and to give federal aid to school districts to help them desegregate.

Halleck said he personally wouldn't introduce a bill in the House.

But he said some of those who recently advocated enlarging the Rules Committee had argued that this would make it easier for a civil rights bill to win approval by the committee.

Halleck said the fact that Kennedy has offered no civil rights proposal, now that the Rules Committee has been enlarged, proves that the arguments for enlarging the committee were "without justification, a lot of hullabaloo."

Argentine Tanker Blast Kills Four

LA PLATA, Argentina (AP) — Four crewmen or more were killed and several injured Thursday when an explosion ripped the Argentina government tanker into two pieces.

About 20 crewmen were working aboard the docked ship. The blast apparently came from sparks on a welding job. The ship had been unloaded for an overhaul and gas may have collected in one of the compartments.

The tanker was built in England in 1925 and is owned by the Argentine State Oil Monopoly.

Kennedy Calls For Resources Development

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy called on Congress Thursday to give immediate attention to solving the many problems of conserving and developing this country's natural resources.

He also called for the fullest cooperation of state and local governments and private industry, declaring "it is not a task which should or can be done by the federal government alone."

In a special message to Congress, Kennedy rejected a "no new starts" policy, which aides attributed to the Eisenhower administration. Kennedy said this policy of holding up new projects took a heavy toll of lives and money "by postponing essential flood control projects."

"This administration," he said, "is committed to strengthening and speeding up our flood control program as rapidly as our fiscal and technical capabilities permit."

The President said he was calling for reports on flood hazards in all 50 states.

Kennedy's message ranged over a wide area of immediate and long-range problems in what he called "the widely scattered resource policies overlapping, conflicting and wasteful policies dealing with water, land, forests and minerals.

There was no over-all cost estimate. Many of Kennedy's recommendations were based on future needs and administration officials indicated they expect little immediate effect on the budget.

Among other things, the President's program looks to development of economically competitive nuclear power within 10 years to supplement or replace conventional power in areas where generating costs are high.

It also envisages exploration of the oceans for oil, gas and minerals and additional food; great expansion of recreational areas; control of air and water pollution, and forest conservation.

Counterforces Buildup Cited By McNamara

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said Thursday the United States will maintain a sufficient force to strike a "decisive counterblow" against any atomic aggressor.

He told the House Armed Services Committee this country has no alternative "so long as the adversaries of freedom continue to expand their stockpiles of mass destruction weapons."

"In this age of nuclear armed intercontinental ballistic missiles," he added, "the ability to deter rests heavily on the existence of a force which can weather a massive nuclear attack, even with little or no warning, in sufficient strength to srike a decisive counterblow."

McNamara testified behind closed doors but newsmen were given copies of his prepared statement.

The secretary said "no effort would be spared, no means overlooked," to strengthen the nation's protection and control of these "crucial retaliatory forces."

He said the recently-announced speed-up in production of missile-launching submarines was one move by the new administration to strengthen the nation's retaliatory power.

Woman, Baby Beaten To Death

CENTRAL POINT, Ore. (AP)—Bodies of a woman and her infant son, both beaten fatally with a hammer, were found in a closet in their apartment here Wednesday night. Two men were taken into custody Thursday for questioning.

Mrs. Charles Theodore Holt, 32, and her son, Rodney, 2, apparently were killed the night of Feb. 12 and their bodies thrown into the closet and covered with blankets, Police Chief Wallace Bowen said.

At nearby Medford, Dist. Atty. Alen Holmes said two men were taken into custody there for questioning. Holmes identified them as Mrs. Holt's estranged husband and Ray McGahuey, 35, of Medford. Holt, 43, has worked until recently as a card dealer in Reno, Nev.

British Queen To Visit Pope

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II will visit Pope John XXIII May 5 in an atmosphere of growing cordiality between the Church of England and the Church of Rome.

It will be the third visit to the Vatican by a British monarch this century.

Buckingham Palace announced Thursday night that the queen and Prince Philip, her husband, will call on the Pope at the conclusion of a four-day visit to Italy.

The queen constitutionally is defender of the Anglican faith. She will see the Pope five months after the pontiff received Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury, at the Vatican. That meeting raised hopes for a closer collaboration of all Christians.

U.S. Dealt Dual Setback In Laos Peace Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has suffered a double setback in efforts to gain international support for a U.S.-backed plan to establish a neutral status for Laos.

Western diplomats placed this interpretation Thursday on the reported refusal of Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk to serve as chairman of a three-nation neutral nations commission in the troubled Southeast Asian kingdom.

Diplomats said President Kennedy may take a personal hand in the matter, sending a private message to Prince Sihanouk. However, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said he could not comment on this possibility.

King Savang Vathana of Laos last Sunday called on Cambodia, Burma and Malaya to form a commission to help stop the fighting in Laos and guarantee its neutrality in the future. The king's plea was fully backed by the United States but has been snubbed by Communist China, Communist North Viet Nam and the leader of the leftist Pathet Lao rebels in Laos.

Rejection by Cambodia was regarded as a heavy blow to the whole plan.

Adding to the U.S. diplomatic setback was the return of former Premier Souvanna Phouma from his self-imposed exile in Cambodia to the rebel-held headquarters at Xieng Khouang in central Laos.

Souvanna Phouma also washed his hands of the neutrality proposal by the king, calling it U.S.-inspired.

Flood Situation Eases In Dixie

By United Press International

Floods surging through Dixie kept more than 6,000 persons from their homes and hit new cities Thursday night, but weathermen hoped the worst was over.

The week-long downpour of record-breaking rains across Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Georgia were blamed for at least six drownings — two each in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

Many of the flood evacuees were taken from their homes in National Guard amphibious boats and helicopters. Plans continued for housing the homeless in public buildings and churches and damage mounted into the millions of dollars.

But even though Friday and Saturday forecasts called for more rain over the Southland, the floods apparently had done their worst.

Protestant Group Backs Artificial Birth Control

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) —The general board of the National Council of Churches, the nation's largest Protestant church group, Thursday overwhelmingly approved artificial birth control to be used for planned parenthood.

The inter-denominational statement of a Protestant theological position put the council squarely opposed to the views of the Roman Catholic Church, which has long battled any means of artificial contraception.

The vote of the general board was 83 in favor of the policy statement with no votes against it. Four members abstained. More than 100 members of the 250-member general board were unable to make the Syracuse meeting because of the airlines strike.

The board's pronouncement also called for opposition to laws and institutional practices which restrict the availability and information concerning contraceptives.

Among other effects, this was seen as granting additional argument to Protestans in Massachusets and Connecicut seeking repeal of restrictive laws in their states.

Additionally, the pronouncement recommended that the federal government seek means of providing information on birth control to any other government requesting such information in the interest of population control.

Abortion was conditionally condemned by the council as a means of birth control, but tentative approval was given to voluntary sterilization.

Ike, Nixon And GOP Legislators To Meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and ex-Vice President Richard M. Nixon Thursday agreed informally to confer with GOP congressional leaders when they return to Washington in a few weeks.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen told newsmen he talked with Eisenhower by telephone at Palm Springs, Calif. and with Nixon in Washington just before he took off to return to private life in California.

Thompson Delayed On Moscow Takeoff

NEW YORK (AP) — Weather and the strike of flight engineers combined Thursday to keep Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson from delivering a personal goodwill message from President Kennedy to Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The envoy had been scheduled to leave here for London en route to Moscow on a Pan American World Airways flight. However, the flight was cancelled because of the strike.

He finally got off at 4:12 p.m. on a Wantas flight, after being delayed by bad weather.

The ambassador left Washington Wednesday after two weeks of conferences concerning this country's relations with the Soviet Union.

TOKYO (AP)—A slight earthquake jarred central and northern Japan Thursday afternoon. No casualties or damage were reported.

Killing Of Dad "Humane," Son Says In Suicide Note

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"He has been the most considerate and wonderful father anyone could ever have. I have always been most happy in doing anything I could to please him."

And so Dale Elden Bunch, 49, smothered his 88-year-old father with a pillow "because it was the only humane thing to do."

Thirty-six hours after Rollo E. Bunch died in their home, the son shot himself in the head with a revolver. Wednesday he died in a hospital.

A four-page typewritten letter left by the younger man "to whom it may concern" said in part: "I shall be severely criticized for what I have done, but it was the only humane thing to do under the circumstances."

Because of recent business failures, the safety lock manufacturer explained, his car had been repossessed. His furniture was about to be taken back and—

"Dad's television, one of his only sources of enjoyment, will go also.

"This is the kindest thing I can do, so long as I am going to die shortly by my own hand.

"The doctor told me he had an enlarged aorta, and suspected dad had cancer of the prostate gland. Dad was 88 Feb. 16. He would never be able to stand to have surgery. I have been earnestly hoping that he would peacefully pass on for the last several months."

His father asked for medicine. Instead, the note continued, the son gave him sleeping pills.

"Believe me, this was absolutely the hardest thing I ever had to do. I held the pillow against his nose and mouth for upwards of 20 minutes. The fact that he never so much as moved a muscle or twitched told me that he peacefully passed on without any pain or discomfort."

Sales Of U.S. Gold Take Sharp Drop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury officials said Thursday that sales of U.S. gold have dropped sharply since inauguration day. They gave much of the credit to President Kennedy.

During the first four weeks of the Kennedy administration, gold sales totaled $115 million dollars. In the preceding month under the Eisenhower administration, they amounted to $457 million. The month before they totaled $334 million.

Godfrey To Quit 'Candid Camera'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Arthur Godfrey is quitting as host of the popular Sunday night "Candid Camera" program, the Columbia Broadcasting System announced Thursday.

Godfrey, embroiled in a series of disputes with Allen Funt, creator of the program, told his CBS employers that he has decided against continuing as host next season.

Godfrey is scheduled to star in CBS-TV specials on April 20 and May 19.

Funt and Godfrey have had a number of clashes about the role of the host on the Sunday night program, which consists of staging stunts in different places and filming the results by means of a concealed camera.

The program is one of the network's top-rated programs.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Noting that President Kennedy hasn't asked for one, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Thursday he would "unfurl a civil rights bill" in a couple of weeks.

Dirksen, after a conference of Senate and House GOP leaders, said he would introduce his bill "in the absence of any clear indication the administration is going to submit anything."

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, the House Republican leader, joined Dirksen in gibing at Kennedy's omission of civil rights in his recent list of 16 most-wanted bills.

The list included bills on minimum wage, unemployment compensation, health care for the aged, federal aid to education, Social Security revisions and other fields.

Dirksen said he had expected Kennedy to include "something in the general field of civil rights and the revision of Senate Rule 22" to make it easier to shut off a Senate filibuster.

Kennedy has indicated he intends for the present to rely primarily on executive actions which may be taken under present laws.

The Illinois senator said his civil rights bill would cover proposals to give statutory authority to the equal jobs opportunity commission and to give federal aid to school districts to help them desegregate.

Halleck said he personally wouldn't introduce a bill in the House.

But he said some of those who recently advocated enlarging the Rules Committee had argued that this would make it easier for a civil rights bill to win approval by the committee.

Halleck said the fact that Kennedy has offered no civil rights proposal, now that the Rules Committee has been enlarged, proves that the arguments for enlarging the committee were "without justification, a lot of hullabaloo."

Thompson Delayed On Moscow Takeoff

NEW YORK (AP) — Weather and the strike of flight engineers combined Thursday to keep Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson from delivering a personal goodwill message from President Kennedy to Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The envoy had been scheduled to leave here for London en route to Moscow on a Pan American World Airways flight. However, the flight was cancelled because of the strike.

He finally got off at 4:12 p.m. on a Wantas flight, after being delayed by bad weather.

Quake Jars Japan

TOKYO (AP)—A slight earthquake jarred central and northern Japan Thursday afternoon. No casualties or damage were reported.

Argentine Tanker Blast Kills Four

LA PLATA, Argentina (AP) — Four crewmen or more were killed and several injured Thursday when an explosion ripped the Argentina government tanker into two pieces.

About 20 crewmen were working aboard the docked ship. The blast apparently came from sparks on a welding job. The ship had been unloaded for an overhaul and gas may have collected in one of the compartments.

The tanker was built in England in 1925 and is owned by the Argentine State Oil Monopoly.

Counterforces Buildup Cited By McNamara

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said Thursday the United States will maintain a sufficient force to strike a "decisive counterblow" against any atomic aggressor.

He told the House Armed Services Committee this country has no alternative "so long as the adversaries of freedom continue to expand their stockpiles of mass destruction weapons."

"In this age of nuclear armed intercontinental ballistic missiles," he added, "the ability to deter rests heavily on the existence of a force which can weather a massive nuclear attack, even with little or no warning, in sufficient strength to srike a decisive counterblow."

McNamara testified behind closed doors but newsmen were given copies of his prepared statement.

The secretary said "no effort would be spared, no means overlooked," to strengthen the nation's protection and control of these "crucial retaliatory forces."

He said the recently-announced speed-up in production of missile-launching submarines was one move by the new administration to strengthen the nation's retaliatory power.

Kennedy Calls For Resources Development

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy called on Congress Thursday to give immediate attention to solving the many problems of conserving and developing this country's natural resources.

He also called for the fullest cooperation of state and local governments and private industry, declaring "it is not a task which should or can be done by the federal government alone."

In a special message to Congress, Kennedy rejected a "no new starts" policy, which aides attributed to the Eisenhower administration. Kennedy said this policy of holding up new projects took a heavy toll of lives and money "by postponing essential flood control projects."

"This administration," he said, "is committed to strengthening and speeding up our flood control program as rapidly as our fiscal and technical capabilities permit."

The President said he was calling for reports on flood hazards in all 50 states.

Kennedy's message ranged over a wide area of immediate and long-range problems in what he called "the widely scattered resource policies overlapping, conflicting and wasteful policies dealing with water, land, forests and minerals.

There was no over-all cost estimate. Many of Kennedy's recommendations were based on future needs and administration officials indicated they expect little immediate effect on the budget.

Among other things, the President's program looks to development of economically competitive nuclear power within 10 years to supplement or replace conventional power in areas where generating costs are high.

It also envisages exploration of the oceans for oil, gas and minerals and additional food; great expansion of recreational areas; control of air and water pollution, and forest conservation.

Killing Of Dad "Humane," Son Says In Suicide Note

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"He has been the most considerate and wonderful father anyone could ever have. I have always been most happy in doing anything I could to please him."

And so Dale Elden Bunch, 49, smothered his 83-year-old father with a pillow "because it was the only humane thing to do."

Thirty-six hours after Rollo E. Bunch died in their home, the son shot himself in the head with a revolver. Wednesday he died in a hospital.

A four-page typewritten letter left by the younger man "to whom it may concern" said in part: "I shall be severely criticized for what I have done, but it was the only humane thing to do under the circumstances."

Because of recent business failures, the safety lock manufacturer explained, his car had been repossessed. His furniture was about to be taken back and—

"Dad's television, one of his only sources of enjoyment, will go also.

"This is the kindest thing I can do, so long as I am going to die shortly by my own hand.

"The doctor told me he had an enlarged aorta, and suspected dad had cancer of the prostate gland. Dad was 88 Feb. 16. He would never be able to stand to have surgery. I have been earnestly hoping that he would peacefully pass on for the last several months."

His father asked for medicine. Instead, the note continued, the son gave him sleeping pills.

"Believe me, this was absolutely the hardest thing I ever had to do. I held the pillow against his nose and mouth for upwards of 20 minutes. The fact that he never so much as moved a muscle or twitched told me that he peacefully passed on without any pain or discomfort."

Engineers Heed Appeal By Kennedy

Agree To Return While Commission Studies Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) —Prodded on all sides, flight engineers of six airlines decided Thursday to return to work at once, ending the nation's most paralyzing airlines strike.

The announcement of the walkout's end was made personally by President Kennedy. Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, who played a key role, stood at his side in the White House.

Kennedy's statement, however, did not signal full peace on the airlines' labor front. Western Air Lines was not covered.

Goldberg said Western's flight engineers still would stay out because the company had refused to join the other airlines in pledging no reprisals against the strikers.

But the Flight Engineers International Association agreed to end its six-day strike of Pan American, American, Trans World, Eastern, National, and Flying Tiger airlines.

By doing so, the engineers heeded Kennedy's appeal of Tuesday to return to work while a presidential peace-seeking commission studied the dispute.

Pressure was applied to the engineers when George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, seconded the President's appeal. And the airlines added more pressure when they handed the engineers an ultimatum Wednesday.

Deadline Extended

The airlines said they would withdraw their pledge of no reprisals unless the flight engineers returned to work by noon Thursday. The pledge had been made when Kennedy set up his commission.

Goldberg persuaded the airlines to extend their deadline for two hours, and a settlement was reached in the afternoon.

Unlike most strikes, this one did not hinge on wages. It arose from a ruling of the Federal Mediation Board covering union jurisdiction.

The board ruled that the flight engineers of United Air Lines must join the same union as the pilots. The flight engineers fear a single union because the pilots easily would outnumber them.

Although Goldberg maintained consistently that the board's ruling applied to United Air Lines alone, the flight engineers of the other major airlines walked off their jobs.

The strike began Friday. It shut down all operations of Eastern, American, and Trans World, and sharply reduced flights of Pan American, National, and Western.

84,000 Workers Laid Off

The airlines said the strike cost them more than $5 million a day. Upwards of 84,000 workers were laid off without pay.

Kennedy read his statement Thursday to a hastily assembled news conference.

He said the Flight Engineers International Association, the Air Lines Pilots Association, and six airlines "have all agreed to the proposal made by the secretary of labor on my behalf on Saturday, and that arrangements are now being made for prompt resumption of operations of these airlines."

"The men are immediately available to return to work," Kennedy continued.

"I want to thank all of the parties to the dispute for their cooperation in complying with the request."

In citing a previous proposal made by Goldberg, Kennedy apparently referred to the secretary's private negotiations with the airlines in New York last Saturday.

After the President made his statement, Goldberg discussed the position of Western, which has announced the dismissal of 130 flight engineers and their replacement by pilots.

Goldberg said Kennedy has amended his order setting up the three-man commission so that it covers Western as well as the six other airlines. Originally, Western was omitted.

Sales Of U.S. Gold Take Sharp Drop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury officials said Thursday that sales of U.S. gold have dropped sharply since inauguration day. They gave much of the credit to President Kennedy.

During the first four weeks of the Kennedy administration, gold sales totaled $115 million dollars. In the preceding month under the Eisenhower administration, they amounted to $457 million. The month before they totaled $334 million.

New Skirmish Flares Over Reapportionment

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland lawmakers squirmed through another skirmish Thursday in the battle over reapportionment, a fight that threatens to leave some open wounds.

For 2½ hours the House Judiciary Committee heard pleas and demands for fairer distribution of seats in the General Assembly.

The lawmakers had heard most of the arguments before and they certainly will hear them again.

Only once did a spark of debate indicate the heat that underlies the issue. It came in an exchange between one of the chief proponents of reapportionment and a delegate from the Eastern Shore, where small counties would lose some power under the plan.

Del. Robert Powell Cannon, D-Wicomico, asked Mrs. Bess Lavine, president of the Prince Georges County Committee for Fair Representation, if urban counties wouldn't become dictators in the legislature under the committee's proposal for reapportionment strictly on the basis of population.

"Let's continue this personal argument afterward," said Mrs. Lavine when Cannon pressed the question.

"I've a right to ask questions," snapped Cannon. "You're being a dictator right now. You're not telling us what to do. The committee tells you what to do."

At another point, Cannon illustrated the fear many rural county lawmakers have of reapportionment. He said a few more delegates voting as the Prince Georges delegation did on one bill last year would have imposed a ban on rockfishing which "would have taken food out of the mouths of Eastern Shore watermen."

The Maryland Committee for Fair Representation, represented chiefly by President Christian H. Kahl of Baltimore County and Vice President Royce Hanson, supported the population-reapportion plan sponsored in the House by 24 delegates. It would increase House membership from 123 to 150 and permit the Senate to be boosted from 29 to 50.

Francis White, Ex-Envoy, Dies At Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Francis White, ambassador to Mexico and Sweden in the Eisenhower administration and assistant secretary of state under three earlier presidents, died of a heart ailment Thursday at his Baltimore home. He was 68.

Since resigning from the diplomatic service in 1958, he had been an executive in the Baugh Companies, manufacturers of agricultural chemicals, and had been vice president of International Telephone & Telegraph Co.

White entered the diplomatic service in 1915, at the age of 23, as an attache of the American staff at Peiping. Other assignments took him to Tehran, Llavana and Buenos Aires before he was ordered back to Washington in 1922 to succeed Sumner Welles as chief of the Latin American division of the State Department.

He was named assistant secretary of state by President Coolidge and continued in the post under Presidents Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In 1933, President Roosevelt appointed him minister to Czeihoslovakia but he resigned a few months later.

White re-entered government service in 1953 when President Eisenhower appointed him ambassador to Mexico succeeding former New York mayor William O'Dwyer. He was reassigned ambassador to Sweden in 1957 and resigned that post the following year.

He is survived by his widow, Nancy Brewster White; a daughter, Mrs. George Graham Glascock of Mexico, and a nephew, Rep. Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md.

Kennedy Is Named As Debate Winner

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—A plaque designating President John F. Kennedy as winner in the Kennedy-Nixon debates will be awarded to the President Saturday.

Kennedy was picked by 31 college and university debate coaches from 15 states whose teams are competing in the University of Maryland's fourth annual Capitol Hill Debate Tournament which started Wednesday. Subject of the debates, which are being held on the College Park campus is compulsory health insurance for all American citizens.

The award will be presented at a luncheon Saturday preceding the final round of the tournament to be held in the U. S. Senate caucus room. Bob Freedman, president of the Calvert Debate Society, will make the presentation. It will be received for the President either by Attorney General Robert Kennedy or Democratic Congressman Chet Holifield, D—Colo.

Navy Aide And Family Unhurt In Plane Crash

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Navy Undersecretary Paul Fay, his wife and 4-year-old daughter motored to Washington Thursday after escaping injury in an early-morning plane crash.

A twin-engine U.S. Navy Convair carrying the Fay family, an aide and four crewmen plunged into the waters of the inland thorofare shortly before 1 a.m. while attempting a forced landing at Bader Field.

Rescue boats picked up all eight survivors in less than 15 minutes. The aide, Cmdr. William Golden, 40, Falls Church, Va., suffered a fractured left leg in the crash. He received emergency treatment at Atlantic City Hospital and later was removed to the Philadelphia Naval Hospital.

The Fay family, shaken but uninjured, spent the night at a local hotel.

The crewmen did not require hospital treatment.

Fay, who was to have been sworn in as undersecretary Thursday, was in New York Wednesday to inspect the carrier Constellation.

Deaths Of Father, Son Ruled Mercy Killing, Suicide

PRINCESS ANNE, Md. (AP)—Somerset County's deputy medical examiner Thursda, termed the deaths of a man and his father a "mercy killing and suicide."

Dr. R. H. Johnson said the men found dead Wednesday night were Clarence Elwood Barnet, 90, and his son, Robert Jean Barnet, 54.

The younger Barnet was discovered by a passerby on a lane leading to their home near here. His father was found in a bedroom of the house, apparently beaten to death with a claw hammer found at the scene.

Police said the son took his life with a single barrel shotgun.

State Police Cpl. Michael Galeone said several notes written by the younger Barnet indicated that he had killed his father as a merciful gesture. The elder Barnet had been bed-ridden for some time.

COLOGNE, Germany (UPI) — The trial of Nazi Adolf Eichmann will begin April 10 in Jerusalem, defense attorney Robert Servatius said Thursday night.

N.Y. Police Head Quits; Murphy Named

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's largest city has a new police commissioner — and just possibly a new candidate for mayor.

Michael J. Murphy, 47, who rose through police ranks during 21 years on the force, was sworn in Thursday to succeed Stephen P. Kennedy, who resigned dramatically earlier in the day after six years as New York's top policeman.

Kennedy, 54, quit in a dispute with Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner, over the commissioner's demand that a $600-a-year pay increase for policemen be assured by City Hall.

During the resignation interview, Kennedy said in response to newsmen's questioning: "I would not enter politics, not under any circumstances."

School Driver Education Bill Gains Support

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Advocates of driver education in Maryland high schools shifted into high gear Thursday in an effort to get their program rolling through the state legislature.

Some two dozen witnesses voiced their support of such a program at a public hearing of the House Motor Vehicles Committee.

Past driver education programs have failed to muster the necessary support to pass the General Assembly.

They appeared to endorse a proposal by Del. Edgar P. Silver, D-Balto 5th, committee chairman, and four other delegates.

The bill would require the Department of Education to institute a driver education program in the high schools of he state and finance it by an increase in the fee for a driving learner's permit from $1 to $5.

The only objection to the proposal was voiced by the State Board of Education. Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools, said the board "is not opposed to driver education as such" but questioned whether it belongs as part of the high school curriculum.

There will be a special meeting Sunday, Feb. 26th for all Crafts of furloughed men of the BO Back Shops at 2 p.m. at Odd Fellows Hall, Virginia Ave. Cumberland.

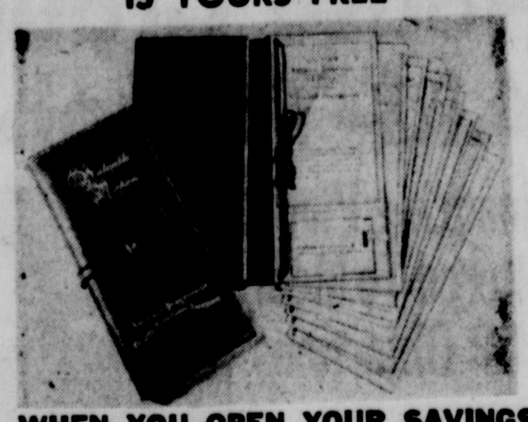

Maryland's January Auto Toll Down 41%

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP)—Twenty-four persons were killed on Maryland highways during January, compared with 41 killed during January, 1960.

State Police Headquarters said the fatality toll was down 41 per cent over 1960 but total accidents reported were up 33 per cent and personal injury accidents showed a 7 per cent gain.

The Chinese measure distance by a day's walk.

Ursuline Alumnae Will Extend May Invitation

Two innovations were made at the brief business meeting of the Ursuline Academy Alumnae, held on conjunction with the annual dinner Wednesday evening in the parish hall. Miss Mary Jo Simpson presided. Prayer was offered by Rev. Sylvan, O.F.M. Cap.

It was decided to invite the mothers of the 1961 graduating class to attend the breakfast this year. Arrangements also were made for representatives from each past graduating class to assist Mrs. Norman Sell Jr., and Mrs. Wiliam Harrison, this spring in bringing up to date the names and addresses of graduates.

Among the announcements made was a mass for deceased members. It will be held May 27 at 7 a. m.; and the breakfast, May 28 following the 8:15 o'clock mass. Plans also were made to hold a bake sale. The tentative date is April 16. Mrs. Thomas Dougherty was named chairman.

A rundown of classes for the past 30 years was made and the class of 1951 had the largest number present, with 10.

Table decorations were in keeping with the patriotic theme, celebrating George Washington's birthday. Miniature flags and red, white and blue candles were used. Covers were laid for 73. Arrangements of spring flowers centered the tables. Later they were awarded to Mrs. Norman Sell, Mrs. John McLean, Mrs. Thomas Cumiskey, Miss Rosemary Mullaney, Mrs. Robert Thomas, Miss Kathleen Mantheiy, and Mrs. Chester Williams. It was decided to send the main table decoration to Mrs. Salem Humbertson, an alumna who is recuperating from a serious illness.

Bedford Road Firemen and Auxiliary will hold a roast beef supper tomorrow night from 5 until 8 at the fire hall.

Rees Convicted; Could Get Life Term

BALTIMORE (AP) — Melvin Davis Rees Jr., saved from execution by a split jury vote, faces possible life imprisonment after being convicted of kidnaping a Virginia mother and her daughter.

The all-male jury which convicted the 32-year-old jazz musician Thursday after a 17-day trial in U. S. District Court did not recommend the death penalty. Sentence was deferred pending the filing of motions for a new trial and a judgment of acquittal.

The case went to the jury late Wednesday and the decision was announced this morning after 5 hours and 41 minutes of deliberations.

Jury foreman Charles A. Gomer told newsmen the panel voted to convict Rees on the first ballot, then spent the remaining time discussing capital punishment. One source said about 12 ballots were taken, with the vote 9-3 in favor of imposing the death penalty before a compromise verdict was reached.

The government asked the death penalty, contending Rees abducted Carroll V. Jackson Jr., his wife and two children after forcing them to the side of a rural road near their Apple Grove, Va. home on Jan. 11, 1959.

Members of the family never were seen alive again. The bodies of Jackson, 29, and Janet, 1½, were found March 4, 1959, buried in a sawdust pit near Fredericksburg, Va. And 18 days later, the bodies of Mrs. Jackson and Susan, 5, were found near Gambrills, Md.

Rees was not arrested until June 24, 1960 — and then in connection with another slaying. He was picked up in West Memphis, Ark., where he worked as a salesman for a piano company, and charged with unlawful flight in the shooting of Mrs. Margaret Harold.

Mrs. Harold was found shot to death in a parked car in 1957, about one mile from the spot where the bodies of Mrs. Jackson and Susan were found.

On June 25, the FBI announced that a federal indictment had been issued charging Rees with kidnaping Mrs. Jackson and Susan.

The indictment said Mrs. Jackson was kidnaped "for the purpose of beating her . . . having sexual gratification upon her body . . . and killing her." The government said Susan was kidnaped for the purpose of beating and killing her "to avoid apprehension."

Rees, from Hyattsville, Md. was accused under the federal Lindbergh Kidnap Law. Since Jackson and the youngest child were abducted and found dead in the same state, a federal law was not involved in their case.

Rees pleaded innocent to the charges.

Virginia authorities have charged Rees with slaying Jackson and Janet, and Maryland authorities have charged the former University of Maryland student with the lovers' lane murder of Mrs. Harold.

Shortly after Thursday's decision, Spotsylvania County Commonwealth's Atty. T. Stokeley Coleman said in Fredericksburg, Va. he had made no decision on whether to attempt to have Rees extradited and be tried for murder. But he said he thought the death penalty should have been recommended.

The U. S. attorney's office here said the decision on releasing Rees to Virginia would be up to U. S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

Old Editorial Blasts Lincoln For Sneak Trip

A partial reprint of the 1861 Sun editorial read, "We do not believe the Presidency can be more degraded by any of his successors than it has been by him."

The Sun explained that its antique editorial attack had been based on a sneak trip that President - elect Lincoln had made through Baltimore Feb. 22, 1861, on his way to inauguration in Washington. Warned of a possible assassination attempt, Lincoln had curtailed a speaking tour and arranged to pass through Baltimore unannounced in the dead of night.

When the train carrying Lincoln arrived in Baltimore, the Sun noted, the only man on hand to greet it was a drunk singing "Dixie."

The 1861 Sun was irate that Lincoln had "sneaked" through the city, and added that it had no respect for Lincoln "as a man."

The following day, when the official presidential train arrived in Baltimore, a crowd turned out to jeer Lincoln and cheer for Jefferson Davis. But only Mrs. Lincoln was aboard. The President already had arrived in Washington.

The old Sun's editorial writer fumed, "Never before had this city been such a dumfounded and bamboozled crowd.

"What would the nation think of its President stealing into the capital like a thief in the night?"

In Thursday's article, the Sun noted that its 1861 editorial was consistent with the Maryland sentiment of the time. Since then, the Sun's editorial policy toward Lincoln has undergone a major transition.

Seven Looks Lucky

MOSCOW (UPI) — Quadruplets—three girls and a boy—have been born to a 27-year-old woman in the Azerbaijan town of Masally, the Soviet news agency Tass said Thursday. The agency said the mother, who already had three children, and quads were doing fine.

Youth Held In Slaying Of Mother

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — A preliminary hearing has been scheduled Friday for an 18-year-old North Hagerstown High School senior charged with murder in the death of his 37-year-old mother, John Joseph Davis II is being held without bail in the Washington County jail here.

His mother, Mrs. Mary W. Davis, was found in a first-floor bedroom of her home in Hagerstown's north suburbs Wednesday night. Investigators said she had been stabbed in the right side and apparently dragged into the bedroom from the kitchen.

Sheriff Charles Price said an argument apparently developed between Davis and his mother when she criticized some school work he was doing.

Young Davis, scheduled to graduate in June, is enrolled in the high school's academic course.

Price said the boy's father, John Joseph Davis Jr., was with a younger son at a Boy Scout meeting when the killing occurred. The elder Davis had worked at Fairchild Aviation but is presently unemployed.

Wrong One Of Days Freed; Warden Dazed

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore jail warden pondered Thursday about what to do with the wrong Day released on the right day.

The problem was that there were two men in jail--both named James A. Day, one 22, the other 23. Monday, the attorney for one of the Days paid his client's $35.70 fine and obtained a jail release. But instead of picking up his client in person, the lawyer left the papers at the jail. And the wrong Day was released.

Thursday, both Days were in jail, on of them pleased with his unexpected two days of freedom. But Warden Charles Price had a legal problem: one of the Days had been paid out and the money had been processed. And yet there were two prisoners in the jail.

Price acknowledged that he was dazed by the whole thing.

Rees Convicted; Could Get Life Term

BALTIMORE (AP) — Melvin Davis Rees Jr., saved from execution by a split jury vote, faces possible life imprisonment after being convicted of kidnaping a Virginia mother and her daughter.

The all-male jury which convicted the 32-year-old jazz musician Thursday after a 17-day trial in U. S. District Court did not recommend the death penalty. Sentence was deferred pending the filing of motions for a new trial and a judgment of acquittal.

The case went to the jury late Wednesday and the decision was announced this morning after 5 hours and 41 minutes of deliberations.

Jury foreman Charles A. Gomer told newsmen the panel voted to convict Rees on the first ballot, then spent the remaining time discussing capital punishment. One source said about 12 ballots were taken, with the vote 9-3 in favor of imposing the death penalty before a compromise verdict was reached.

The government asked the death penalty, contending Rees abducted Carroll V. Jackson Jr., his wife and two children after forcing them to the side of a rural road near their Apple Grove, Va. home on Jan. 11, 1959.

Members of the family never were seen alive again. The bodies of Jackson, 29, and Janet, 1½, were found March 4, 1959, buried in a sawdust pit near Fredericksburg, Va. And 18 days later, the bodies of Mrs. Jackson and Susan, 5, were found near Gambrills, Md.

Rees was not arrested until June 24, 1960 — and then in connection with another slaying. He was picked up in West Memphis, Ark., where he worked as a salesman for a piano company, and charged with unlawful flight in the shooting of Mrs. Margaret Harold.

Mrs. Harold was found shot to death in a parked car in 1957, about one mile from the spot where the bodies of Mrs. Jackson and Susan were found.

On June 25, the FBI announced that a federal indictment had been issued charging Rees with kidnaping Mrs. Jackson and Susan.

The indictment said Mrs. Jackson was kidnaped "for the purpose of beating her . . . having sexual gratification upon her body . . . and killing her." The government said Susan was kidnaped for the purpose of beating and killing her "to avoid apprehension."

Rees, from Hyattsville, Md. was accused under the federal Lindbergh Kidnap Law. Since Jackson and the youngest child were abducted and found dead in the same state, a federal law was not involved in their case.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — A seedy idea for your home and community comes from Andy Pinkerton.

The head of the National Garden Bureau has beauty in mind when he recommends that the nation's families pretty their homes and towns with flowers.

Pinkerton said in an interview that planting programs in two upstate New York communities proved to the bureau that the sprouting of posies about even a tract home improves the neighborhood, protects real estate values and helps neighborliness to develop.

The two towns that prettied up are Tonawanda and North Tonawanda.

In the towns more than 60 social, business and academic groups merged merged their green thumbs.

Pinkerton said even the children got into the growing movement.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce built and painted more than a hundred window boxes for decorating the commercial areas.

"In the various residential districts," Pinkerton said, "homeowners associations met periodically for gardening discussions, lectures and demonstrations."

When the program blossomed, the business district sprouted flower boxes up and down the main streets.

"A planted wheelbarrow decorated the front of the local hardware store and petunias were blooming in tire gardens in gas stations," Pinkerton said.

"A pot bellied stove full of petunias prettied the front of the local diner. Rowboats full of flowers graced both entrances to the bridge over the canal connecting the two cities. Even the leading plumber put out a bathtub planted with annuals."

Pinkerton said that the experience in the New York towns moved the bureau to draw a blueprint for home and community beautification programs via flowers.

"The National Garden Bureau has set up regional committees around the country to function as liaisons in arranging for professional gardening help on a local level," the expert said.

The Biblical talent, in terms of present-day money, was worth about $6,000.

U. S. Unable To Track Russ Venus Rocket

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States cannot track Russia's latest space rocket on its weeks-long journey toward the planet Venus unless the Soviets decide to give this country a lot of help.

That is the word from Gen. Donald N. Yates, deputy director of research and engineering for the Defense Department. He told the House Space Committee at a closed-door session last week that U.S. trackers cannot follow the rocket at the present time.

A censored version of Yates' testimony was made available to United Press International.

The general also told the committee that as far as he knew the Russians had not launched any rockets or satellites with humans aboard.

Yates said the United States would be able to track the Venus rocket if the Russians "tell us when it is transmitting and what frequencies it is transmitting on and where it is transmitting."

The Soviets' "interplanetary station" was launched Feb. 12 from a satellite in space. It is scheduled to reach the vicinity of Venus about mid or late April, some 40 days sooner than originally expected.

Soviet scientists have said the rocket probably will come within a little more than 100,000 miles of Venus and not hit it directly.

The first earthenware produced in Ohio was made in Cincinnati in 1799.

Focus On Health

By The Associated Press

Burns, colds, snakes and a bit of history figure in the week's health notes:

COLD COINCIDENCE

Living in the sunny South or West doesn't confer significant protection against the common cold, a survey finds.

BURN DAMAGE

Burns of equal severity can cause greater injury in women than men, because men usually have larger and deeper hair follicles, says Dr. J. Raymond Hinshaw of the University of Rochester School of Medicine.

Hair follicle structure influences burn severity, he explains. Children and elderly persons also are likely to suffer relatively more severe injury because they have fewer and shallower hair follicles than other age groups.

Burns of different severity may sometimes look alike, and appearances alone can be misleading. One test is to pull out a hair from the burned area. In severe burns, the hair lifts out easily and painlessly, with little or no tissue resistance.

BATTLE TEETH

"Soldiers tore the cartridges for their muzzle-loaders with their teeth," says the Army's Dental Service. "When their front teeth gave out, they were discharged from the service. Physical qualifications up until the time of World War II required each man to have adequate opposing front teeth — apparently a hold-over from the Civil War requirements."

Today, the Army provides false teeth when needed.

BEWARE THE SERPENT

Public Health Service scientists have filed an indictment against the garter snake.

New evidence incriminates garter snakes as one possible source harboring the virus of equine encephalitis during the winter months. Birds have long been known to play a role in disseminating the virus during summer, but epidemiologists hitherto have been puzzled as to how the virus maintains itself during winter.

U. S. Unable To Track Russ Venus Rocket

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States cannot track Russia's latest space rocket on its weeks-long journey toward the planet Venus unless the Soviets decide to give this country a lot of help.

That is the word from Gen. Donald N. Yates, deputy director of research and engineering for the Defense Department. He told the House Space Committee at a closed-door session last week that U.S. trackers cannot follow the rocket at the present time.

A censored version of Yates' testimony was made available to United Press International.

The general also told the committee that as far as he knew the Russians had not launched any rockets or satellites with humans aboard.

Yates said the United States would be able to track the Venus rocket if the Russians "tell us when it is transmitting and what frequencies it is transmitting on and where it is transmitting."

The Soviets' "interplanetary station" was launched Feb. 12 from a satellite in space. It is scheduled to reach the vicinity of Venus about mid or late April, some 40 days sooner than originally expected.

Soviet scientists have said the rocket probably will come within a little more than 100,000 miles of Venus and not hit it directly.

The first earthenware produced in Ohio was made in Cincinnati in 1799.

Focus On Health

By The Associated Press

Burns, colds, snakes and a bit of history figure in the week's health notes:

COLD COINCIDENCE

Living in the sunny South or West doesn't confer significant protection against the common cold, a survey finds.

BURN DAMAGE

Burns of equal severity can cause greater injury in women than men, because men usually have larger and deeper hair follicles, says Dr. J. Raymond Hinshaw of the University of Rochester School of Medicine.

Hair follicle structure influences burn severity, he explains. Children and elderly persons also are likely to suffer relatively more severe injury because they have fewer and shallower hair follicles than other age groups.

Burns of different severity may sometimes look alike, and appearances alone can be misleading. One test is to pull out a hair from the burned area. In severe burns, the hair lifts out easily and painlessly, with little or no tissue resistance.

BATTLE TEETH

"Soldiers tore the cartridges for their muzzle-loaders with their teeth," says the Army's Dental Service. "When their front teeth gave out, they were discharged from the service. Physical qualifications up until the time of World War II required each man to have adequate opposing front teeth — apparently a hold-over from the Civil War requirements."

Today, the Army provides false teeth when needed.

BEWARE THE SERPENT

Public Health Service scientists have filed an indictment against the garter snake.

New evidence incriminates garter snakes as one possible source harboring the virus of equine encephalitis during the winter months. Birds have long been known to play a role in disseminating the virus during summer, but epidemiologists hitherto have been puzzled as to how the virus maintains itself during winter.

Quick Lenten Dish

Fish is king during the Lenten season. And, without a doubt, salmon is king of fish. For delicacy and deliciousness of flavor, for eye-appeal, for adaptability with other foods, for protein and vitamin nourishment and for ease of preparation, salmon reigns supreme. It brightens salads, gives zest to stews and casseroles and is a never-ending delight tucked into a souffle or under a flaky crust.

A quick Lenten dish that is bound to please and satisfy combines potatoes and canned salmon. It's a hearty dish that is certain to become a favorite recipe of the year.

Potato Salmon Bake

2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup chopped green onions
1 teaspoon sesame seeds
2 tablespoons flour
1¼ cups milk
1 tablespoon horseradish
1 teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne
4 cups diced cooked potatoes
2 7¾-ounce cans salmon, drained
½ cup grated cheese

In saucepan melt butter and in it saute onions and sesame seeds for 5 minutes. Stir in flour. Gradually stir in milk and cook, stirring over low heat until sauce is thickened. Stir in horseradish, salt, cayenne and potatoes. Arrange mixture in a greased shallow baking dish and make two hollows in center. Empty salmon into the hollows, sprinkle with cheese and bake in a preheated 375° F. oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Serves 4.

A Hearty Winter Breakfast

Winter is a good time to take inventory of your breakfast menus. Everyone needs a good breakfast of high quality protein every day, especially during the cold winter days. It's protein that has the stick-to-the-ribs quality that keeps you going all morning.

Sausage-Corn Fritters, featuring ground pork, is a hearty dish that adds variety and good nutrition to your family breakfast. A pitcher of maple sirup to pour over the top adds to their success.

Sausage-Corn Fritters would be especially delightful at a brunch for guests after a tart first course of fresh fruit.

Sausage-Corn Fritters

½ pound pork sausage
1 tablespoon water
1¾ cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup drained whole kernel corn
Lard for deep-fat frying

Place sausage and water in cold frying-pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Pour off drippings. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Mix milk with egg, and stir into sifted ingredients. Add sausage and corn. Drop by tablespoonfuls into deep hot lard (360° F.) for 4 to 5 minutes or until golden brown. Yield: 15 to 18 fritters.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Snow isn't the only thing that's been falling on the Capitol. Congress has been "snowed under" with legislation—from the moment the 87th Congress was gaveled into existence. And the end of both snowstorm and billstorm is not yet in sight. In the first three days of the new Congress, over 2,500 bills were introduced, and the number quickly rose to more than twice that. As you might guess, these bills deal with practically every conceivable subject—and some that you would have thought inconceivable. Be that as it may, there they are! Grist for the congressional mill, homework for this 87th Congress! In the House of Representatives, where co-sponsorship is not permitted (as it is in the Senate), many of the bills are duplicates. Some were entered just for the record, and may be forgotten. But, like the spawning salmon climbing the Columbia River, a hardy few—the most needed ones, we hope—will eventually make it.

LINCOLN DAY DINNERS—The Senate, by mutual consent, sort of coasted this past week in order to give the Republican members the opportunity to address meetings in various parts of the United States observing the birthday of President Abraham Lincoln, founder of the Republican Party. When the Jackson Day Dinners come along, the score no doubt will be evened up.

While the Senate itself was in recess part of the time, the various committees were busy as usual throughout the week.

STATES HAVE DONE GOOD JOB — Since World War II the states have built, without federal help, 680,000 classrooms — more than half of all in use. Teachers have increased in number 48 per cent in the last ten years, and pupils 44 per cent. Teachers' salaries have nearly doubled — up 99.8 per cent. Public school spending by the states jumped from 5.8 billion dollars to 15.5 billion. The spending per pupil rose from $260.37 to $481.48 a year. While the arguments about federal aid to education have been going on, it appears that the states have been doing a pretty good job for their youth.

LET'S LOOK CLOSELY — As most everyone knows, the annual federal budget is about 80 billion dollars. Possibly not so well known is the fact that municipal, county and state taxes total another 80 billion dollars every year. In other words, the people of the United States pay about $160,000,000,000 a year to support their government. My pencil, dividing $160,000,000,000 by 180,000,000, our total population, tells me that an average of $888 is paid by every man, woman and child every year in taxes. The taxes that will be paid by, say, a family of five—husband, wife and three children—would average out at $4,440. Some families will pay a lot more; some, a lot less. Some of the taxes are "hidden," but you pay them just the same.

The federal government's 80 billion this year is expected to come from these sources — all paid by the individual taxpayer and consumer one way or another: (The figures are approximate:)

Individual income taxes	$42,240,000,000
Corporation income taxes	22,240,000,000
Excise taxes	9,280,000,000
Employment taxes	320,000,000
Estate and gift taxes	1,440,000,000
Customs levies	960,000,000
Miscellaneous receipts	3,520,000,000
TOTAL	$80,000,000,000

Obviously, if big spending programs should be added to the burden, the Government would have to take more from the people to pay the extra cost—either that or deficit spending, which always means more printing-press money, more inflation, a dollar which will buy less and less.

We must take a close look at every spending proposal.

UNEMPLOYMENT: HOW BAD? — The figures on unemployment can be misleading. Before they are accepted as the basis for crash programs involving heavy spending at the expense of our already overburdended taxpayers, we should consider how these figures are arrived at.

First of all, let it be said that statistics do not mean anything to the man out of work. Unemployment can cause misery and distress. As long as there is one man or woman needing employment who cannot find work, I shall be concerned with that person's plight. But, here, we are now examining the over-all situation, which might be offered as a reason for certain governmental measures.

When times have been best — when industry has been going full-blast and when plants and business concerns have been begging for workers—even then statistical tables showed some unemployment. Voluntary unemployment will exist as long as workers are free to quit, move, and seek other work.

Now, about the figures: At regular intervals the U. S. Census Bureau sends out a questionnaire to 35,000 families, and it bases its figures for our 180,000,000 population on the returns. The question is asked: "Are you out of work and looking for work?" The resulting figures are criticized both as an understatement and as an overstatement, depending on who does the criticizing.

Some say they are too low because they do not include those with only part-time employment and also because they fail to take into account those who would be looking for work if they thought they could find any. On the other hand, listed as unemployed are those whose efforts to find work are feeble, to say the least. They also include students, housewives, and retired persons who are not regular members of the labor force. The statistics make no distinction among diverse situations. For instance, the sole support of a large family unable to find work counts no more heavily in the figures than the teen-ager looking for a baby-sitting job. It is even possible for four persons to be counted as unemployed when the head of the family loses his job and the housewife and two children in college go looking for work. Counted as unemployed are many who prefer only seasonal work, many who are resting up between jobs, and many who don't really want to work. You and I have heard of instances where undeserving people worked only long enough to get back on the Unemployment Compensation rolls so they could loaf. (This is a loophole in our Social Security system which we must try to close.) Many of these are included in the statistics as unemployed.

Such diverse factors make the picture quite uncertain. One thing seems sure: it does not do to jump to conclusions about the unemployment situation because of the unemployment statistics; big-spending crash programs should not result from these statistics alone.

SPEAKING OF SNOW — And who isn't? Last week I heard this remark: "Here we are blasting off for outer space, and I couldn't even get out of my driveway."

Nutmeg Apples And Sausages

—a nice change in breakfast fare

1 pound pork sausage links
2½ cups (1 can) apple slices
Flour
Nutmeg

Place sausage links in skillet; add small amount water. Cover; cook slowly 5 minutes. Drain; cook slowly, turning to cook evenly, until center has lost pink color. Remove sausage; keep hot. Drain off all but 4 tablespoons fat. Drain apple slices. Roll slices in flour; sprinkle with nutmeg. Fry in sausage fat until brown and thoroughly heated. Serve apple slices and sausages together. Makes 4 servings.

Serve with fruit juice, cornmeal muffins, coffee or milk.

Sauce Adds Zest To Salmon

3 tablespoons butter
¼ pound finely chopped mushrooms
1 medium onion, minced
3 tablespoons flour
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 egg yolks
1 1-pound can salmon, drained
1 cup fresh bread crumbs
Flour
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk
Fine dry bread crumbs
Shortening for frying

In a saucepan melt butter. Add 1 cup of the mushrooms, reserving rest for the sauce. Add onion and saute for 5 minutes. Stir in flour. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat, stirring, until thickened. Remove from heat and beat in salt, pepper and egg yolks. Stir in salmon and fresh crumbs. Chill. Shape mixture into rounds about 2-inches in diameter and roll in flour. Beat egg and the 2 tablespoons milk. Roll the salmon balls in the egg-milk mixture and coat with the dry crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat (375°F.) for 4 to 5 minutes, or until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper and serve with Sauce Smetane. Serves 4.

Sauce Smetane

2 tablespoons butter
4 green onions, chopped
Reserved chopped mushrooms
Salt and pepper to taste
½ cup white wine
2 cups sour cream

In a skillet melt butter and in it saute green onions and mushrooms for 5 minutes. Add salt, pepper and wine and simmer until only about 1 tablespoon liquid is left. Add sour cream and boil over high heat for about 10 minutes, or until sauce is reduced and thickened. Strain before serving.

Cranberries Massachusetts

Brighten Winter Menu

A soft, fluffy lemon filling in baked meringues will pull your midwinter meals right out of the doldrums and remind you that Spring is really "not far behind." This elegant dessert is the kind often considered for only festive occasions, but since the base of this filling is dessert topping mix you'll find it can be made often for simple gatherings. That is because dessert topping mix is low in cost and calories, convenient and easy to prepare. And best of all, it can be kept on the pantry shelf until ready to use as the perfect quick topping for plain fruit desserts, puddings or pies.

Lemon Angel Meringues

1 envelope dessert topping mix
½ cup cold milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 package lemon pudding and pie filling mix
½ cup sugar
2 cups water
2 egg yolks
6 baked meringues, cooled

Prepare dessert topping mix with milk and vanilla as directed on package. Prepare pudding and pie filling mix with sugar, water and egg yolks as directed on the package. Cool.

Fold the dessert topping into the cooled pudding. Spoon filling into meringues. Chill 3 to 4 hours. Makes about 3⅔ cups filling.

Canada's population is over the 17 million mark.

1 teaspoon sesame seeds
2 tablespoons flour
1¼ cups milk
1 tablespoon horseradish
1 teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne
4 cups diced cooked potatoes
2 7¾-ounce cans salmon, drained
½ cup grated cheese

In saucepan melt butter and in it saute onions and sesame seeds for 5 minutes. Stir in flour. Gradually stir in milk and cook, stirring over low heat until sauce is thickened. Stir in horseradish, salt, cayenne and potatoes. Arrange mixture in a greased shallow baking dish and make two hollows in center. Empty salmon into the hollows, sprinkle with cheese and bake in a preheated 375° F. oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Serves 4.

A Hearty Winter Breakfast

Sausage-Corn Fritters

½ pound pork sausage
1 tablespoon water
1¾ cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup drained whole kernel corn
Lard for deep-fat frying

Place sausage and water in cold frying-pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Pour off drippings. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Mix milk with egg, and stir into sifted ingredients. Add sausage and corn. Drop by tablespoonfuls into deep hot lard (360° F.) for 4 to 5 minutes or until golden brown. Yield: 15 to 18 fritters.

Grist for the congressional mill, homework for this 87th Congress! In the House of Representatives, where co-sponsorship is not permitted (as it is in the Senate), many of the bills are duplicates. Some were entered just for the record, and may be forgotten. But, like the spawning salmon climbing the Columbia River, a hardy few—the most needed ones, we hope—will eventually make it.

LINCOLN DAY DINNERS—The Senate, by mutual consent, sort of coasted this past week in order to give the Republican members the opportunity to address meetings in various parts of the United States observing the birthday of President Abraham Lincoln, founder of the Republican Party. When the Jackson Day Dinners come along, the score no doubt will be evened up.

While the Senate itself was in recess part of the time, the various committees were busy as usual throughout the week.

STATES HAVE DONE GOOD JOB — Since World War II the states have built, without federal help, 680,000 classrooms — more than half of all in use. Teachers have increased in number 48 per cent in the last ten years, and pupils 44 per cent. Teachers' salaries have nearly doubled — up 99.8 per cent. Public school spending by the states jumped from 5.8 billion dollars to 15.5 billion. The spending per pupil rose from $260.37 to $481.48 a year. While the arguments about federal aid to education have been going on, it appears that the states have been doing a pretty good job for their youth.

LET'S LOOK CLOSELY — As most everyone knows, the annual federal budget is about 80 billion dollars. Possibly not so well known is the fact that municipal, county and state taxes total another 80 billion dollars every year. In other words, the people of the United States pay about $160,000,000,000 a year to support their government. My pencil, dividing $160,000,000,000 by 180,000,000, our total population, tells me that an average of $888 is paid by every man, woman and child every year in taxes. The taxes that will be paid by, say, a family of five—husband, wife and three children—would average out at $4,440. Some families will pay a lot more; some, a lot less. Some of the taxes are "hidden," but you pay them just the same.

The federal government's 80 billion this year is expected to come from these sources — all paid by the individual taxpayer and consumer one way or another: (The figures are approximate:)

Individual income taxes	$42,240,000,000
Corporation income taxes	22,240,000,000
Excise taxes	9,280,000,000
Employment taxes	320,000,000
Estate and gift taxes	1,440,000,000
Customs levies	960,000,000
Miscellaneous receipts	3,520,000,000
TOTAL	$80,000,000,000

Obviously, if big spending programs should be added to the burden, the Government would have to take more from the people to pay the extra cost—either that or deficit spending, which always means more printing-press money, more inflation, a dollar which will buy less and less.

We must take a close look at every spending proposal.

UNEMPLOYMENT: HOW BAD? — The figures on unemployment can be misleading. Before they are accepted as the basis for crash programs involving heavy spending at the expense of our already overburdended taxpayers, we should consider how these figures are arrived at.

First of all, let it be said that statistics do not mean anything to the man out of work. Unemployment can cause misery and distress. As long as there is one man or woman needing employment who cannot find work, I shall be concerned with that person's plight. But, here, we are now examining the over-all situation, which might be offered as a reason for certain governmental measures.

When times have been best — when industry has been going full-blast and when plants and business concerns have been begging for workers—even then statistical tables showed some unemployment. Voluntary unemployment will exist as long as workers are free to quit, move, and seek other work.

Now, about the figures: At regular intervals the U. S. Census Bureau sends out a questionnaire to 35,000 families, and it bases its figures for our 180,000,000 population on the returns. The question is asked: "Are you out of work and looking for work?" The resulting figures are criticized both as an understatement and as an overstatement, depending on who does the criticizing.

Some say they are too low because they do not include those with only part-time employment and also because they fail to take into account those who would be looking for work if they thought they could find any. On the other hand, listed as unemployed are those whose efforts to find work are feeble, to say the least. They also include students, housewives, and retired persons who are not regular members of the labor force. The statistics make no distinction among diverse situations. For instance, the sole support of a large family unable to find work counts no more heavily in the figures than the teen-ager looking for a baby-sitting job. It is even possible for four persons to be counted as unemployed when the head of the family loses his job and the housewife and two children in college go looking for work. Counted as unemployed are many who prefer only seasonal work, many who are resting up between jobs, and many who don't really want to work. You and I have heard of instances where undeserving people worked only long enough to get back on the Unemployment Compensation rolls so they could loaf. (This is a loophole in our Social Security system which we must try to close.) Many of these are included in the statistics as unemployed.

Such diverse factors make the picture quite uncertain. One thing seems sure: it does not do to jump to conclusions about the unemployment situation because of the unemployment statistics; big-spending crash programs should not result from these statistics alone.

SPEAKING OF SNOW — And who isn't? Last week I heard this remark: "Here we are blasting off for outer space, and I couldn't even get out of my driveway."

Nutmeg Apples And Sausages

—a nice change in breakfast fare

1 pound pork sausage links
2½ cups (1 can) apple slices
Flour
Nutmeg

Place sausage links in skillet; add small amount water. Cover; cook slowly 5 minutes. Drain; cook slowly, turning to cook evenly, until center has lost pink color. Remove sausage; keep hot. Drain off all but 4 tablespoons fat. Drain apple slices. Roll slices in flour; sprinkle with nutmeg. Fry in sausage fat until brown and thoroughly heated. Serve apple slices and sausages together. Makes 4 servings.

Serve with fruit juice, cornmeal muffins, coffee or milk.

Sauce Adds Zest To Salmon

3 tablespoons butter
¼ pound finely chopped mushrooms
1 medium onion, minced
3 tablespoons flour
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 egg yolks
1 1-pound can salmon, drained
1 cup fresh bread crumbs
Flour
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk
Fine dry bread crumbs
Shortening for frying

In a saucepan melt butter. Add 1 cup of the mushrooms, reserving rest for the sauce. Add onion and saute for 5 minutes. Stir in flour. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat, stirring, until thickened. Remove from heat and beat in salt, pepper and egg yolks. Stir in salmon and fresh crumbs. Chill. Shape mixture into rounds about 2-inches in diameter and roll in flour. Beat egg and the 2 tablespoons milk. Roll the salmon balls in the egg-milk mixture and coat with the dry crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat (375°F.) for 4 to 5 minutes, or until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper and serve with Sauce Smetane. Serves 4.

Sauce Smetane

2 tablespoons butter
4 green onions, chopped
Reserved chopped mushrooms
Salt and pepper to taste
½ cup white wine
2 cups sour cream

In a skillet melt butter and in it saute green onions and mushrooms for 5 minutes. Add salt, pepper and wine and simmer until only about 1 tablespoon liquid is left. Add sour cream and boil over high heat for about 10 minutes, or until sauce is reduced and thickened. Strain before serving.

Cranberries Massachusetts

Brighten Winter Menu

A soft, fluffy lemon filling in baked meringues will pull your midwinter meals right out of the doldrums and remind you that Spring is really "not far behind." This elegant dessert is the kind often considered for only festive occasions, but since the base of this filling is dessert topping mix you'll find it can be made often for simple gatherings. That is because dessert topping mix is low in cost and calories, convenient and easy to prepare. And best of all, it can be kept on the pantry shelf until ready to use as the perfect quick topping for plain fruit desserts, puddings or pies.

Lemon Angel Meringues

1 envelope dessert topping mix
½ cup cold milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 package lemon pudding and pie filling mix
½ cup sugar
2 cups water
2 egg yolks
6 baked meringues, cooled

Prepare dessert topping mix with milk and vanilla as directed on package. Prepare pudding and pie filling mix with sugar, water and egg yolks as directed on the package. Cool.

Fold the dessert topping into the cooled pudding. Spoon filling into meringues. Chill 3 to 4 hours. Makes about 3⅔ cups filling.

Ribbon Sandwich Loaf

1 2-pound loaf sandwich bread, unsliced
6 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
6 slices boiled ham
1¼ cups Tuna-Cheese Filling
6 large slices tomato, ¼-inch thick
1 8-ounce or 3 3-ounce packages cream cheese
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup milk
½ cup chopped roasted almonds
12 sprigs parsley
1 canned pimiento

Remove crusts from unsliced loaf of bread and cut lengthwise into 4 equal-sized slices. Butter bread slices. On a bread slice arrange 2 layers of sliced, boiled ham. Cover with a bread slice spread with Tuna-Cheese Filling. Top with a third bread slice on which tomato slices are laid. Add fourth bread slice and press loaf firmly together. Wrap in waxed paper and refrigerate until just before serving time. Frost top and sides of loaf with cream cheese softened with lemon juice and milk. Sprinkle chopped almonds on sides of loaf. Garnish top with parsley sprays and heart cut out of pimiento. Arrange carrot curls and parsley along sides of platter.

Hasty Hash

For hurry-up meals during the Lenten season, consider the merits of a skillet hash made by combining two quick-frozen favorites ... fish sticks and potato patties. It's so easy, so good.

Skillet Hash

¼ cup butter
¼ cup chopped onion (optional)
1 package (12 ounces) quick frozen potato patties
1 package (8 ounces) quick-frozen pre-cooked fish sticks
Salt and pepper

Melt butter in a large heavy skillet. Add chopped onion and frozen potato patties. Saute, turning frequently, about 5 minutes, or until patties can be broken up with a fork. Crumble frozen fish sticks into potato mixture. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Continue to saute about 12 minutes, turning as the hash browns. Serve with tomato sauce, catsup, or chili sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Cranberry Sauce For Pork Chops

Pork chops really need no gilding, but sauces are always a welcome variation for dressing chops in attire for company or adding interest to family menus. A sauce using a plentiful food gives the entree a festive air as well as adding to its economy.

Such a topping is cranberry sauce. The tart berries are always a delicious accompaniment for meat, but pork chops become a special taste treat when cooked right with them. The slow braising creates a mouth-watering combination of flavors.

Reba Staggs, meat expert and home economist, recommends braising pork chops for about 45 minutes or until tender. The cranberries and brown sugar are cooked with the chops. When the meat is done it is placed on a platter and the sauce is thickened with cornstarch. The orange slices are added and the tart, tasty sauce is spooned over the chops. It's an attractive, appetizing combination!

Pork-Cranberry Treat

6 loin or rib pork chops, cut ¾ to 1 inch thick
1 tablespoon lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup raw cranberries
¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 teaspoons cornstarch
⅔ cup water
1 large orange, peeled and cut into slices ¼ inch thick

Brown chops in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Add cranberries and brown sugar. Cover tightly and simmer 45 minutes. Remove chops to a hot platter. Combine cornstarch and water and add to cooking liquid in pan. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add orange slices and heat through. Serve over chops. 6 servings.

Fruited Ring With Cottage Cheese

—feature as a luncheon main dish.

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
1 package orange-flavored gelatin
2 cups canned apple sauce
1 pound can whole cranberry sauce
¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
2 cups diced celery
1 pound cottage cheese
½ pint sour cream

Soak unflavored gelatin in ¼ cup cold water for 5 minutes. Drain pineapple; add enough water to syrup to make 1½ cups. Heat. Pour over orange-flavored gelatin; add unflavored gelatin. Stir until both are dissolved. Cool. Combine pineapple, apple sauce, cranberry sauce, sugar and orange rind; mix until well blended. Add celery. Add gelatin to fruits; mix well. Pour into 2 quart ring mold, chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens. Combine cottage cheese and sour cream; place in center of ring mold. Makes 8-10 servings.

Serve with hot rolls, preceded by pepperpot soup.

Congressional Viewpoint
by Sen. John M. Butler

Pre-eminent in the mind of every American today is the question, "What lies ahead?" In his first address to the Congress, President Kennedy somberly declared: "Before my term has ended, we shall have to test anew whether a nation organized and governed such as ours can endure. The outcome is by no means certain." Incredible as it may seem, while in possession of all the available information regarding the state of the Union and the state of the World, our Chief Executive was obliged to conclude, "The outcome is by no means certain." Within my memory, there has been no similar doubt expressed by a President upon his entry into office. It behooves every one of us, therefore, to examine his words and then to determine our course of action.

There are some weaknesses in the American economy; unemployment is spotty, inflation continues and our balance of payments teeters up and down. Outside our boundaries the communists persist in their strategy to divide and conquer, swiftly shifting their attack from the Congo to Laos to Berlin to Cuba to Formosa. What can we do? Where can we find the necessary strength and purpose and philosophy to remove all doubts and to win the Cold War? I believe that President Kennedy himself has provided the answer in his book "Profiles in Courage," in which he writes:

"Only the very courageous will be able to take the hard and unpopular decisions necessary for our survival in the struggle with a powerful enemy. And only the very courageous will be able to keep alive the spirit of individualism and dissent which gave birth to this nation, nourished it as an infant and carried it through its severest tests upon the attainment of its maturity."

Herein lies the challenge and the answer for America. And I hereby make a compact with the people of my state and my country that without regard for self or party, I wil. fight to keep alive the "spirit of individualism and dissent" which indeed has sustained this nation during its most critical hours.

No matter what criticism may be heaped upon me, I pledge my support of the principles of individualism, initiative and liberty which have always carried and which will carry this nation again across the river and into the trees. I shall keep this pledge — no matter what lies ahead.

Cinnamon Breakfast Apple Cake

—a cake to make simple breakfast festive

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 egg
¼ cup milk, about
2½ cups (1 can) sliced apples
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Cut in butter or margarine with two knives or pastry blender. Beat egg; add. Add enough milk to make soft dough. Spread out in greased 8" x 8" x 2" pan. Drain liquid from canned apples. Place sliced apples in rows on dough; sprinkle with lemon juice, brown sugar and cinnamon. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, 25-30 minutes. Remove from oven; pour melted butter or margarine over apples. Serve warm. Makes 6 servings.

Frozen Cooked Squash With Spicy-Nut Topping

Turn a package (10-oz.) frozen cooked squash into greased 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle with ¾ teaspoon salt. Cover and heat in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 45 minutes, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, saute' ¼ cup chopped English walnuts in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. When the squash has heated for 30 minutes in the oven, remove cover and sprinkle the sauted nuts over. Mix ½ teaspoon cinnamon with 3 tablespoons brown sugar and sprinkle over nuts. Continue heating in oven, uncovered, for the additional 15 minutes. Serves 3 or 4.

Onion-Flavored Frozen Cooked Squash

Turn package of frozen cooked squash into saucepan or double boiler. Add 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, ¼ teaspoon onion salt, ⅛ teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper, and ½ teaspoon salt. Heat according to package directions. Serves 3.

Cranberry Pink Fluff

1 package lemon flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup Ocean Spray Cranberry Juice Cocktail
2 egg whites, beaten stiff but not dry

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Stir in cranberry juice cocktail. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites stiff but not dry. Gradually pour cranberry mixture into egg whites-beating until mixed and foamy. Mixture will separate into a red and pink layer. Chill 4 hours.

CHEESE CUSTARD PUDDING

2 cups FARMERS cottage cheese
4 eggs, beaten slightly
1 quart milk, scalded
3 tablespoons flour
½ Teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon almond extract

Put Farmers Cottage Cheese through a sieve. Beat eggs together slightly; add scalded milk, stirring to blend. Mix dry ingredients; add sieved Farmers' cottage cheese. Gradually stir in milk egg mixture; add vanilla and almond extract. Pour into a well-buttered 8-inch glass baking dish. Place in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven, (325°F.) for 1½ hours or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean; let cool. Serves 6 to 8.

COTTAGE CHEESE SOUFFLE

1 cup FARMERS' cottage cheese
¼ cup soft bread crumbs
3 eggs
4 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
Dash of cayenne

Melt butter in skillet, add flour, salt and cayenne. Mix thoroughly, add all the buttermilk at once and stir until smooth. Then add the FARMERS' cottage cheese, soda and bread crumbs. Beat the eggs until light and fluffy and add to the cheese mixture. Pour into a well-greased baking dish, and bake for about 30 minutes at 350°F. Serve at once with a hot cheese sauce, made by adding snappy American or Cheddar cheese to a medium white sauce.

COTTAGE CHEESE FILLED TOMATOES

6 medium tomatoes
2 cups FARMERS' dry cottage cheese
¼ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
3 tablespoons chopped pickle
1 tablespoon minced onion
3 tablespoons chopped pimiento
3 tablespoons chopped walnut meats

Peel tomatoes; cut slices from top and scoop out center. Sprinkle with salt; invert to chill. Combine remaining ingredients and mix well; fill tomato cups. Chill thoroughly. Serve on lettuce with additional mayonnaise. Serves 6.

Your family will enjoy FARMERS' Cottage Cheese in salads and appetizers, for main dishes — it's low in calories, but high in protein nourishment.

1¼ cups Tuna-Cheese Filling
6 large slices tomato, ¼-inch thick
1 8-ounce or 3 3-ounce packages cream cheese
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup milk
½ cup chopped roasted almonds
12 sprigs parsley
1 canned pimiento

Remove crusts from unsliced loaf of bread and cut lengthwise into 4 equal-sized slices. Butter bread slices. On a bread slice arrange 2 layers of sliced, boiled ham. Cover with a bread slice spread with Tuna-Cheese Filling. Top with a third bread slice on which tomato slices are laid. Add fourth bread slice and press loaf firmly together. Wrap in waxed paper and refrigerate until just before serving time. Frost top and sides of loaf with cream cheese softened with lemon juice and milk. Sprinkle chopped almonds on sides of loaf. Garnish top with parsley sprays and heart cut out of pimiento. Arrange carrot curls and parsley along sides of platter.

Hasty Hash

For hurry-up meals during the Lenten season, consider the merits of a skillet hash made by combining two quick-frozen favorites ... fish sticks and potato patties. It's so easy, so good.

Skillet Hash

¼ cup butter
¼ cup chopped onion (optional)
1 package (12 ounces) quick frozen potato patties
1 package (8 ounces) quick-frozen pre-cooked fish sticks
Salt and pepper

Melt butter in a large heavy skillet. Add chopped onion and frozen potato patties. Saute, turning frequently, about 5 minutes, or until patties can be broken up with a fork. Crumble frozen fish sticks into potato mixture. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Continue to saute about 12 minutes, turning as the hash browns. Serve with tomato sauce, catsup, or chili sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Cranberry Sauce For Pork Chops

Pork chops really need no gilding, but sauces are always a welcome variation for dressing chops in attire for company or adding interest to family menus. A sauce using a plentiful food gives the entree a festive air as well as adding to its economy.

Such a topping is cranberry sauce. The tart berries are always a delicious accompaniment for meat, but pork chops become a special taste treat when cooked right with them. The slow braising creates a mouth-watering combination of flavors.

Reba Staggs, meat expert and home economist, recommends braising pork chops for about 45 minutes or until tender. The cranberries and brown sugar are cooked with the chops. When the meat is done it is placed on a platter and the sauce is thickened with cornstarch. The orange slices are added and the tart, tasty sauce is spooned over the chops. It's an attractive, appetizing combination!

Pork-Cranberry Treat

6 loin or rib pork chops, cut ¾ to 1 inch thick
1 tablespoon lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup raw cranberries
¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 teaspoons cornstarch
⅔ cup water
1 large orange, peeled and cut into slices ¼ inch thick

Brown chops in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Add cranberries and brown sugar. Cover tightly and simmer 45 minutes. Remove chops to a hot platter. Combine cornstarch and water and add to cooking liquid in pan. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add orange slices and heat through. Serve over chops. 6 servings.

Fruited Ring With Cottage Cheese

—feature as a luncheon main dish.

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
1 package orange-flavored gelatin
2 cups canned apple sauce
1 pound can whole cranberry sauce
¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
2 cups diced celery
1 pound cottage cheese
½ pint sour cream

Soak unflavored gelatin in ¼ cup cold water for 5 minutes. Drain pineapple; add enough water to syrup to make 1½ cups. Heat. Pour over orange-flavored gelatin; add unflavored gelatin. Stir until both are dissolved. Cool. Combine pineapple, apple sauce, cranberry sauce, sugar and orange rind; mix until well blended. Add celery. Add gelatin to fruits; mix well. Pour into 2 quart ring mold, chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens. Combine cottage cheese and sour cream; place in center of ring mold. Makes 8-10 servings.

Serve with hot rolls, preceded by pepperpot soup.

Congressional Viewpoint
by Sen. John M. Butler

Pre-eminent in the mind of every American today is the question, "What lies ahead?" In his first address to the Congress, President Kennedy somberly declared: "Before my term has ended, we shall have to test anew whether a nation organized and governed such as ours can endure. The outcome is by no means certain." Incredible as it may seem, while in possession of all the available information regarding the state of the Union and the state of the World, our Chief Executive was obliged to conclude, "The outcome is by no means certain." Within my memory, there has been no similar doubt expressed by a President upon his entry into office. It behooves every one of us, therefore, to examine his words and then to determine our course of action.

There are some weaknesses in the American economy; unemployment is spotty, inflation continues and our balance of payments teeters up and down. Outside our boundaries the communists persist in their strategy to divide and conquer, swiftly shifting their attack from the Congo to Laos to Berlin to Cuba to Formosa. What can we do? Where can we find the necessary strength and purpose and philosophy to remove all doubts and to win the Cold War? I believe that President Kennedy himself has provided the answer in his book "Profiles in Courage," in which he writes:

"Only the very courageous will be able to take the hard and unpopular decisions necessary for our survival in the struggle with a powerful enemy. And only the very courageous will be able to keep alive the spirit of individualism and dissent which gave birth to this nation, nourished it as an infant and carried it through its severest tests upon the attainment of its maturity."

Herein lies the challenge and the answer for America. And I hereby make a compact with the people of my state and my country that without regard for self or party, I will fight to keep alive the "spirit of individualism and dissent" which indeed has sustained this nation during its most critical hours.

No matter what criticism may be heaped upon me, I pledge my support of the principles of individualism, initiative and liberty which have always carried and which will carry this nation again across the river and into the trees. I shall keep this pledge — no matter what lies ahead.

Cinnamon Breakfast Apple Cake

—a cake to make simple breakfast festive

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 egg
¼ cup milk, about
2½ cups (1 can) sliced apples
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Cut in butter or margarine with two knives or pastry blender. Beat egg; add. Add enough milk to make soft dough. Spread out in greased 8" x 8" x 2" pan. Drain liquid from canned apples. Place sliced apples in rows on dough; sprinkle with lemon juice, brown sugar and cinnamon. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, 25-30 minutes. Remove from oven; pour melted butter or margarine over apples. Serve warm. Makes 6 servings.

Frozen Cooked Squash With Spicy-Nut Topping

Turn a package (10-oz.) frozen cooked squash into greased 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle with ¾ teaspoon salt. Cover and heat in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 45 minutes, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, saute ¼ cup chopped English walnuts in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. When the squash has heated for 30 minutes in the oven, remove cover and sprinkle the sauted nuts over. Mix ½ teaspoon cinnamon with 3 tablespoons brown sugar and sprinkle over nuts. Continue heating in oven, uncovered, for the additional 15 minutes. Serves 3 or 4.

Onion-Flavored Frozen Cooked Squash

Turn package of frozen cooked squash into saucepan or double boiler. Add 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, ¼ teaspoon onion salt, ⅛ teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper, and ½ teaspoon salt. Heat according to package directions. Serves 3.

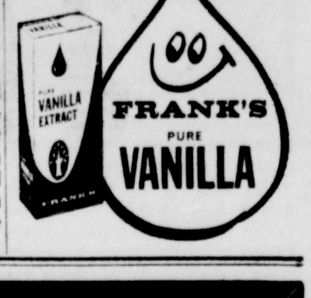

Cranberry Pink Fluff

1 package lemon flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup Ocean Spray Cranberry Juice Cocktail
2 egg whites, beaten stiff but not dry

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Stir in cranberry juice cocktail. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites stiff but not dry. Gradually pour cranberry mixture into egg whites beating until mixed and foamy. Mixture will separate into a red and pink layer. Chill 4 hours.

CHEESE CUSTARD PUDDING

2 cups FARMERS cottage cheese
4 eggs, beaten slightly
1 quart milk, scalded
3 tablespoons flour
½ Teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon almond extract

Put Farmers Cottage Cheese through a sieve. Beat eggs together slightly; add scalded milk, stirring to blend. Mix dry ingredients; add sieved Farmers' cottage cheese. Gradually stir in milk egg mixture; add vanilla and almond extract. Pour into a well-buttered 8-inch glass baking dish. Place in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven, (325°F.) for 1½ hours or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean; let cool. Serves 6 to 8.

COTTAGE CHEESE SOUFFLE

1 cup FARMERS' cottage cheese
¼ cup soft bread crumbs
3 eggs
4 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
Dash of cayenne

Melt butter in skillet, add flour, salt and cayenne. Mix thoroughly, add all the buttermilk at once and stir until smooth. Then add the FARMERS' cottage cheese, soda and bread crumbs. Beat the eggs until light and fluffy and add to the cheese mixture. Pour into a well-greased baking dish, and bake for about 30 minutes at 350°F. Serve at once with a hot cheese sauce, made by adding snappy American or Cheddar cheese to a medium white sauce.

COTTAGE CHEESE FILLED TOMATOES

6 medium tomatoes
2 cups FARMERS' dry cottage cheese
¼ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
3 tablespoons chopped pickle
1 tablespoon minced onion
3 tablespoons chopped pimiento
3 tablespoons chopped walnut meats

Peel tomatoes; cut slices from top and scoop out center. Sprinkle with salt; invert to chill. Combine remaining ingredients and mix well; fill tomato cups. Chill thoroughly. Serve on lettuce with additional mayonnaise. Serves 6.

Your family will enjoy FARMERS' Cottage Cheese in salads and appetizers, for main dishes — it's low in calories, but high in protein nourishment.

Honey Apple Coffee Cake

New! Honey Apple Coffee Cake to serve warm and fresh morning, noon or night

One whiff of the warm, apple yeasty fragrance of this Apple Coffee Cake and you know good eating is coming up.

It's a coffee cake of honest grit and grain, a coffee cake that takes to butter with real gusto. But also it's a coffee cake that's been rolled around a most luscious filling of cinnamon spiced apple sauce, grated lemon rind and raisins. That's not all either! The final touches are a generous top lick of honey butter and a thick sprinkling of pecans. Then into the oven it goes, to emerge a half hour later hot, golden crusted and nut-crunchy on top, soft, yielding and apple-fruity below.

Honey Apple Coffee Cake takes a little time to make because it must rise light. So save it for a lazy, weekend breakfast. Or for Saturday supper. Or to serve all warm and buttery to the youngsters as a real after-school treat. Or to offer as a late evening snack with glasses of chilled apple juice or a cup of coffee.

This is a coffee cake, too, that can be rewarmed, if you wish, for the apple sauce filling helps keep it moist and fresh. You'll find it basically simple and easy to make. This is what you do:

Apple Coffee Cake

½ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons shortening
1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
1 egg, beaten
2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 cups canned apple sauce
4 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 cup seedless raisins
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons honey
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
¼ cup chopped pecans

Scald milk; pour over sugar, salt and shortening, stir until dissolved. Cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water; add to milk mixture. Add egg; mix. Gradually add flour, mixing to smooth dough. Knead on lightly floured board until smooth and satiny. Shape into ball, place in greased bowl and grease top. Cover. Let rise in warm place until double in bulk.

Slowly cook apple sauce to reduce liquid, stirring occasionally. When finished there should be 1 cup. Add 2 tablespoons butter, cinnamon, raisins and lemon rind. Roll dough into rectangle 19" x 10". Spread with apple sauce mixture. Roll up jelly roll fashion starting with 19" edge. Shape in horseshoe on greased baking sheet. With scissors make cut ⅔ of the way through horseshoe at 1" intervals. Turn each section on its side. Cover and let rise until double in bulk. Combine remaining butter, honey and brown sugar; spread on top of coffee cake. Sprinkle with nuts. Bake in moderately hot oven 375 degrees, 30 mintues.

California Special Salad

1 large ripe avocado
2 tablespoons finely chopped celery
2 scallions, minced
¼ cup mayonaise
Dash Tabasco
1 cup American dry or sweet Sauterne wine
2 cup fresh grapefruit segments
Salt and pepper to taste
Shredded lettuce or other greens

Mash avocado with celery, scallions, mayonnaise and Tabasco; slowly add about 3 tablespoons wine, blending smooth while adding. Turn mixture into a shallow mold and chill several hours. Cover grapefruit segments with remaining wine and chill until ready to serve. When ready to serve, turn avocado mold out onto bed of shredded lettuce (the mold will be creamy rather than firm.) Surround avocado cream with well-drained grapefruit segments. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and serve with a dressing made by combining a prepared neutral French dressing half-and-half with the wine used as marinade for grapefruit. Makes 4 servings.

Cranberry-Wine Marlow

32 marshmallows
½ cup jellied cranberry sauce
½ cup Burgunday or other red dinner wine
2 teaspoons lemon juice
½ cup heavy cream, whipped

With scissors, cut marshmallows in quarters and place in a bowl. Place cranberry sauce and wine in a saucepan; crush cranberry sauce with a fork; heat mixture to boiling. Pour over marshmallows and stir until marshmallows are almost melted; add lemon juice; chill. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in whipped cream. Pour into 4 sherbet glasses and chill until firm. Garnish with a spoonful of whipped cream and a bit of cranberry sauce before serving.

Germans Like U. S. Chicken

FRANKFURT (UPI) — In the land of the bratwurst, a Lakewood N.J. housewife has introduced her own American specialty —chicken fried with bourbon.

The housewife, Mrs. Elizabeth Goetz, is no ordinary Sunday dinner chicken frier. She won out over 150 other contestants in a frying contest sponsored by the Del-Mar-Va poultry industry representing Delaware, Maryland and Virginia, and a five-week trip to Europe was part of her prize.

She and her husband have spent most of their time visiting relatives and friends at Stuttgart, Germany, where Mrs. Goetz quickly became known as "Queen Elizabeth."

She reciprocated by whipping up her prize-winning recipe for the Germans, who customarily fry chicker simply by dumping it into a pan of hot grease.

"It went over big," she said. "They had never had anything like it before."

Her chicken recipe goes like this: place 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate, 1 teaspoon garlic salt, and 2 teaspoons sweet paprika in shaker and season pieces of 2 chickens.

Bring to boil in saucepan 1 teaspoon bitters, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon bourbon, and ¼ cup of water. Pour over chicken and let marinate at least one hour or overnight if desired.

Roll pieces in ½ cup flour, dip into mixture of 2 well-beaten eggs and remainder of marinating sauce, and roll in fine bread crumbs. Fry in 1 inch of vegetable oil to a rich golden brown, and garnish with spiced apples or brandied peaches.

Delicious Pie Boasts Tangy Cheese Flavor

There is no better time to try an unusual flavor in your homemade apple pies than now while baking apples are at their peak.

If you are looking for a really distinctive variation of the always popular pie—one that has exciting taste appeal—let American blue cheese and dairy sour cream come to the rescue.

You'll find the subtle sharpness of the delicately-marbled blue cheese is in complete harmony with sweetened, lightly spiced sour cream. In combination they accentuate the goodness of sliced apples to make a surprisingly fine pie filling with the cheese providing an elegant note.

Blue Cheese Apple Pie

(Eight-inch pie)

Pastry for single 8-inch pie shell
4 to 5 large baking apples, pared and cored
⅔ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg
2 tablespoon flour
½ cup dairy sour cream
½ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 3 ounces)

Slice apples thin and arrange in pastry lined pie plate. Mix remaining ingredients together. Pour mixture evenly over the apples. Bake at 375 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes. Roll out any remaining pastry and cut designs with cooky cutter. Make them on a cooky sheet in hot oven for 10 minutes. Place cutouts on top of baked pie. Serve pie slightly warm.

Ham Makes A Tasty Casserole

One of the big advantages of highlighting your holiday dinner with a baked ham is the leftover slices and pieces which make such a wonderful variety of tasty, economical second day dishes.

Here's a picturesque suggestion ... Ham and Sweet Potato Casserole. It's quite easy to prepare and is ready to eat in less than an hour.

Cubed ham is combined with alternating layers of apple and brown sugar mixture. Mashed sweet potatots are heaped on top, and the dish is baked to a golden brown. You may add apple slices or rings as a garnish if you wish.

Ham and Sweet Potato Casserole

2½ cups pieces, sliced cooked ham
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon nutmeg
4 medium tart apples
¼ cup orange juice
2 cups mashed seasoned sweet potatoes

Mix together brown sugar, flour and nutmeg. Core unpeeled apples and cut into thin slices. Divide ham, apples and brown sugar mixture each into three parts and arrange in a greased 2-quart casserole, in alternating layers: ham, apples and then brown sugar mixture. Pour orange juice over all and top with mashed sweet potatoes. Bake in a slow oven (325° F.) for 45 to 50 minutes, or until the apples are tender. 4 to 6 servings.

Bananas Coconut-Half Moon

The executive chef of the luxurious Half Moon Hotel and Cottage Colony, Montego Bay, West Indies, has received so many requests from guests at the resort for his original recipe for "Bananas Coconut-Half Moon," that he is happy to give it, as follows:—

Ingredients

6 medium yellow bananas
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup orange juice
¼ cup brown sugar
1 cup grated coconut

Peel the bananas and cut in halves, lengthwise. Arrange in layers in a generously buttered baking dish. Mix orange juice and brown sugar; pour over bananas. Dot with the two tablespoons butter and spread with grated coconut. Bake in a hot oven for 12 to 15 minutes, or until the bananas are softened and the coconut browned. Serve as a dessert with hot rum sauce.

In double boiler scald ¾ cup of milk. Meanwhile, in a saucepan sift together ⅓ cup sugar and 2 tablespoons cornstarch. Gradually blend in additional ¼ cup cold milk, stirring constantly. Bring rapidly to boil over direct heat, stirring gently; cook for 3 minutes. Remove from heat and transfer to pot in double boiler. Cover and cook about 12 minutes, stirring 3 or 4 times. Vigorously stir in 3 tablespoons of hot mixture into 1 slightly beaten egg. Transfer mixture to double boiler. Cook over simmering water 3 to 5 minutes, stirring slowly but constantly. Remove from heat. Blend in 3 tablespoons rum and 1 cup whipped cream. Serve.

Divide ham, apples and brown sugar mixture each into three parts and arrange in a greased 2-quart casserole, in alternating layers: ham, apples and then brown sugar mixture. Pour orange juice over all and top with mashed sweet potatoes. Bake in a slow oven (325° F.) for 45 to 50 minutes, or until the apples are tender. 4 to 6 servings.

Bananas Coconut-Half Moon

The executive chef of the luxurious Half Moon Hotel and Cottage Colony, Montego Bay, West Indies, has received so many requests from guests at the resort for his original recipe for "Bananas Coconut-Half Moon," that he is happy to give it, as follows:—

Ingredients

6 medium yellow bananas
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup orange juice
¼ cup brown sugar
1 cup grated coconut

Peel the bananas and cut in halves, lengthwise. Arrange in layers in a generously buttered baking dish. Mix orange juice and brown sugar; pour over bananas. Dot with the two tablespoons butter and spread with grated coconut. Bake in a hot oven for 12 to 15 minutes, or until the bananas are softened and the coconut browned. Serve as a dessert with hot rum sauce.

In double boiler scald ¾ cup of milk. Meanwhile, in a saucepan sift together ⅓ cup sugar and 2 tablespoons cornstarch. Gradually blend in additional ¼ cup cold milk, stirring constantly. Bring rapidly to boil over direct heat, stirring gently; cook for 3 minutes. Remove from heat and transfer to pot in double boiler. Cover and cook about 12 minutes, stirring 3 or 4 times. Vigorously stir in 3 tablespoons of hot mixture into 1 slightly beaten egg. Transfer mixture to double boiler. Cook over simmering water 3 to 5 minutes, stirring slowly but constantly. Remove from heat. Blend in 3 tablespoons rum and 1 cup whipped cream. Serve.

This Week In Congress
by Rep. Charles Mathias

This week the Congress was organized for business by the appointment of committees. I am, therefore, beginning my Reports to the people of the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland through this column which will be published at regular intervals through the co-operation of your local newspapers. I am very pleased for the district and for myself that my request for assignment to the Judiciary Committee and the Committee on the District of Columbia was granted. It is my belief that through these committees I can render constructive service to the Congress and be of maximum help to my constituents.

Since a great part of my time will be spent on committee work, you will want to know what I will be doing as a member of the House Judiciary and District committees.

The Judiciary Committee's jurisdiction is national in scope. The matters this committee handles include federal courts, civil and criminal judicial proceedings, and revision of United States statutes. This committee is composed entirely of attorneys.

The House District Committee has been referred to as the "City Council" of Washington. This committee handles all matters relating to the District, including taxation, criminal and corporation laws, and public health and safety.

Since the Congress convened on January 3, I have introduced legislation to establish the C & O Canal National Park, to retain the Impacted Areas School Assistance Act and to create a Joint Committee on a National Fuels Study.

This week I introduced three proposals for the consideration of the Congress. On Monday, I joined many of my colleagues by introducing a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States to provide equal rights for men and women. My action is in keeping with the Republican Platform of 1960, which stated: "Congress should submit a Constitutional amendment providing equal rights for women." When adopted, this amendment will supersede laws which discrimate between the sexes. This proposal has been designated H. J. Res. 217.

Another proposal I introduced (H.R. 4452) would satisfy a 96-year-old claim against the government. This bill would reimburse the City of Frederick for ransom paid to Confederate forces to save the city from destruction in 1864. Since similar claims of Chambersburg, Pennsylvania and Lawrence, Kansas were satisfied in the past, this bill does not set a precedent.

The third proposal (H.R. 4451) would correct technical inequities in determining compensation of employes of the Government Printing Office.

I have been assigned to Room 133, Old House Office Building, which is now the headquarters for the Sixth Congressional District. This is your office, and I hope you will feel free to visit it whenever you are in Washington.

Coeur A La Creme With Cranberry Topping

For very special occasions
1 cup Commercial Soured Cream
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup milk
1 (lb.) can whole cranberry sauce, chilled

Put cottage cheese through seive. Add to Soured Cream, and salt. Beat until smooth. Sprinkle gelatine over milk (to soften) in Pyrex cup. Place cup in pan of hot water until gelatine dissolves. Blend into cottage cheese mixture. Rinse small bowl (about 1 pint capacity) with cold water. Pour into mixture. Chill until firm. Unmold when ready to serve. Top with a spoonful of cranberry sauce. Serve remaining sauce in bowl to spoon over wedges. Makes 6 servings.

A Return To Formality

Canned pear halves top this delicate burnt sugar cake in a simple circle arrangement. Cream cheese, softened with a little pear syrup, is fluted on with an icing decorator.

One of the best ways to add elegance to a dinner party is to plan a dessert that looks and tastes as though it took hours to prepare and great skill to cook.

Isn't it wonderful to know that now you can serve just such a dessert—but with a minimum of work, and without taking a course in gourmet cooking?

Burnt Sugar Pear Pirouette

Empty a package of Burnt Sugar Cake Mix into a large bowl. Cut off corner of packet of burnt sugar syrup and squeeze into measuring cup. Add enough water to make 1 cup syrup. Add syrup and 2 eggs to dry ingredients. Mix according to package directions. Pour batter into a well-greased and floured wedding cake layer pan, 10 inches in diameter by 1¾ to 2 inches deep. Bake in a preheated 350°F. oven for 40 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cool in pan for 10 minutes, then turn out on rack to cool. When cool, brush cake with syrup from a large can of pear halves.

Arrange pear halves in a spiral on top of cake and garnish with either hard sauce or softened cream cheese. Additional cream cheese sauce, made by thinning cream cheese with a little pear syrup, may be served on the side.

Chinese Turkey

Since Oriental foods have become so popular, homemakers have taken to incorporating some of the more adaptable Chinese ingredients into favorite Occidental dishes.

Chinese Turkey, for example, is a particularly welcome entree after the holidays when most cooks are looking for choice ways to use turkey leftovers. Bean sprouts and water chestnuts lend exotic texture and nutlike flavor to the American casserole.

Chinese Turkey
(Six servings)

3 cups cooked diced turkey
3 cups cooked rice
2 cups turkey gravey, thinned if necessary
1 5-ounce can water chestnuts, drained and sliced
¼ cup finely chopped pimentos
1 can bean sprouts, drained
Salt and pepper to taste
Buttered bread crumbs
Paprika

Into a buttered 1½ quart casserole, put a layer of rice and a layer of turkey. Cover with gravy. Add half of the water chestnuts, pimentos and bean sprouts, seasoning with salt and pepper. Repeat layers. Top with buttered crumbs and sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 350 degrees about 30 minutes.

Cranberry Topping For Ice Cream

When every minute counts
1 (lb.) can whole cranberry sauce
½ cup marshmallow cream

Stir ingredients together until well mixed. Chill. Serve as ice cream topping. Makes 2 cups.

Note: May also be frozen and served as ice cream.

Cranberry Muffins

Tender white .... ruby red
¾ cup fresh cranberries, halved
½ cup powdered sugar
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
4 tablespoons shortening, melted

Mix cranberry halves with powdered sugar and let stand while preparing muffin mixture. Sift dry ingredients, add egg, milk, and melted shortening all at once; mix until dry ingredients are dampened; do not beat. Fold in sugared cranberries. Fill greased muffin tins 2/3 full. Bake in moderate oven 350° F. for 20 minutes. Makes 1 dozen.

Coeur A La Creme With Cranberry Topping

For very special occasions

1 cup Commercial Soured Cream
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup milk
1 (lb.) can whole cranberry sauce, chilled

Put cottage cheese through seive. Add to Soured Cream, and salt. Beat until smooth. Sprinkle gelatine over milk (to soften) in Pyrex cup. Place cup in pan of hot water until gelatine dissolves. Blend into cottage cheese mixture. Rinse small bowl (about 1 pint capacity) with cold water. Pour into mixture. Chill until firm. Unmold when ready to serve. Top with a spoonful of cranberry sauce. Serve remaining sauce in bowl to spoon over wedges. Makes 6 servings.

Burnt Sugar Pear Pirouette

Empty a package of Burnt Sugar Cake Mix into a large bowl. Cut off corner of packet of burnt sugar syrup and squeeze into measuring cup. Add enough water to make 1 cup syrup. Add syrup and 2 eggs to dry ingredients. Mix according to package directions. Pour batter into a well-greased and floured wedding cake layer pan, 10 inches in diameter by 1¾ to 2 inches deep. Bake in a preheated 350°F. oven for 40 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cool in pan for 10 minutes, then turn out on rack to cool. When cool, brush cake with syrup from a large can of pear halves.

Arrange pear halves in a spiral on top of cake and garnish with either hard sauce or softened cream cheese. Additional cream cheese sauce, made by thinning cream cheese with a little pear syrup, may be served on the side.

Chinese Turkey
(Six servings)

3 cups cooked diced turkey
3 cups cooked rice
2 cups turkey gravey, thinned if necessary
1 5-ounce can water chestnuts, drained and sliced
¼ cup finely chopped pimentos
1 can bean sprouts, drained
Salt and pepper to taste
Buttered bread crumbs
Paprika

Into a buttered 1½ quart casserole, put a layer of rice and a layer of turkey. Cover with gravy. Add half of the water chestnuts, pimentos and bean sprouts, seasoning with salt and pepper. Repeat layers. Top with buttered crumbs and sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 350 degrees about 30 minutes.

Cranberry Topping For Ice Cream

When every minute counts

1 (lb.) can whole cranberry sauce
½ cup marshmallow cream

Stir ingredients together until well mixed. Chill. Serve as ice cream topping. Makes 2 cups.

Note: May also be frozen and served as ice cream.

Cranberry Muffins

Tender white .... ruby red

¾ cup fresh cranberries, halved
½ cup powdered sugar
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
4 tablespoons shortening, melted

Mix cranberry halves with powdered sugar and let stand while preparing muffin mixture. Sift dry ingredients, add egg, milk, and melted shortening all at once; mix until dry ingredients are dampened; do not beat. Fold in sugared cranberries. Fill greased muffin tins 2/3 full. Bake in moderate oven 350° F. for 20 minutes. Makes 1 dozen.

Girl Scouts Planning 1962 Birthday Year Observance

A community beautification and planting program has been adopted by Shawnee Council, Girl Scouts, as part of a program to observe the 50th anniversary of Girl Scouting in America.

The Blossoms for the Birthday Years committee, headed by Mrs. Marguerite Findlay met at the Girl Scout House and began plans for planting gold and green flowers to beautify the surroundings of various neighborhoods. Plantings are to be timed to begin blooming during Girl Scout week in March 1962.

Representatives of seven neighborhoods of Shawnee Council attended the meeting. They included Mrs. Ralph Isiminger, West Side; Mrs. Paul Fazenbaker, Penn-Mar; Mrs. C. D. Weasenforth, Tri-Towns; Mrs. James Kerr, Northeast; Mrs. Carlton Lewis, South; Mrs. Earl Richardson, Frostburg, and Mrs. Earl Staub, Romney.

Chairmen were asked to take the suggestions of the group back to their respective neighborhood meetings and after discussion and planning, to report back for exchange of ideas and reactions.

The next meeting of the blossoms committee will be April 24 at 1 p.m. at the Scout House.

The blossoms committee is one of several working on the Shawnee Council birthday years' committee whose membership includes Mrs. Merle Shumaker, chairman; Mrs. Karl Perry, Mrs. Caroline Whittaker and Mrs. Z. F. Zimowski who were all present at the meeting this week.

Mrs. Shumaker said the next group to be activated will be one concerned with Heritage Hikes and Trails. Each neighborhood is asked to send a representative to the Girl Scout House at 1 p.m. March 20 to plan that phase of the birthday year celebration.

Fort Hill High Boy Pianist Is Featured

A piano solo by Michael "Mike" Goetz, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Goetz, 9 East Second Street, was the feature of a musical program presented for the Cumberland Kiwanis Club yesterday by a group of Fort Hill High School boys under the direction of Harold B. Hanson, music teacher.

Young Goetz played the entire first movement of Greig's Piano Concerto. He has studied piano for about seven and one half years under the direction of Sister Ludgara, an Ursuline nun who teaches at SS. Peter and Paul's School. A Fort Hill sophomore, he hopes to attend the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore after graduation.

Nine other Fort Hill boys sang the varied program under Mr. Hanson's direction at Central YMCA. Soloists included Kenneth Brown, Walter Turner, William Rice and David Norris. Other members of the boys' ensemble included Charles Brown, Henry Fehlman, Jerry Belt, Jack Slocomb and William Weigelt.

Two of their selections, "True Love" and "Begin The Beguine," were arrangements by Mr. Hanson.

Wild birds do not sing more than eight or 10 weeks in the year.

Pa. Governor Thanks Area United Givers

Returning here yesterday after attending the Mid-Eastern United Funds Conference at Hershey, Pa., Winfield H. Adam, executive director of County United Fund, brought a message of thanks and commendation to United givers of this area from Governor David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania.

"As I see it," Gov. Lawrence said, "contributions to United Fund agencies are an investment in the community in which you live—for every dollar is intended, in some way, to help those around you.

"This aid may come in the form of foster home care, clinical treatment of the emotionally disturbed or a variety of other services. Yet no matter what form the assistance may take, it is of great value."

Although the work of some of the 28 agencies affiliated with County United Fund spills over into communities of southern Pennsylvania, Mr. Adam said, Gov. Lawrence's message was intended for all of the 20,000 United givers of this area.

"Aside from the humanitarian benefits of the United way of giving," the governor stated, "there are practical values in all forms of voluntary community service.

"Nearly all agencies which have become part of the United Fund are assuming responsibilities which might otherwise be left entirely to local, state or federal governments if they were to be done at all. It is in this respect—as a practical public servant—that I find an additional value to your work.

"It is obvious to me, at least, that governments themselves have a strong interest in the success of United Fund campaigns. They should give them every means of encouragement. Without the unique contribution the United Fund makes each year, the burden of governmental responsibility would expand."

Mr. Adam said that the three-day conference at Hershey was attended by United Fund supporters from all of the mid-eastern states and was designed to improve the service of United Funds and their agencies in hundreds of communities throughout the area.

County Civil Service Tests To Be Given

Applications are being sought by the Allegany County Civil Service Commission for positions as janitor and orderly in county institutions, according to Mrs. Joan S. Burke, secretary.

These applications must be received by Mrs. Burke, whose office is on the second floor of the Court House, until 3 p.m. Tuesday, February 28. The pay scale for janitors ranges from $2,600 to $3,100 a year. Orderlies start at $2,100 and reach a top of $2,600.

Three Are Held In Burglary Of Area Store

Three young men are being held in Allegany County Jail in connection with the breaking and entering and burglary of a store on Oldtown Road across the Potomac River from Paw Paw, W. Va.

Being held in jail are William F. Parker, 29, of near Paw Paw; James Herrell, 26, Paw Paw, and Carl R. (Buck) Evans, 28, also of Paw Paw.

Yesterday Sgt. William F. Baker and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya went to Martinsburg, where Evans and Herrell waived extradition at a hearing before Judge Gray Silver Jr.

The three men are being held in connection with the burglary of the State Line Service Station and Grocery Store early Wednesday morning.

Sgt. Baker and Tfc. Willis E. Foreman arrested Parker and Evans and Herrell were picked up by Chief of Police Roy Roby of Paw Paw.

Sgt. Baker said merchandise valued at approximately $500 was taken in the burglary, and that practically all of the items have been recovered, although some is damaged. The loot was recovered in the vacant home of a relative of Parker's at Sleepy Creek, W. Va., near Martinsburg.

Ray K. Larkin, proprietor said, the establishment was entered after a glass pane in the front door was smashed.

Taken in the robbery was $10 in cash (pennies) and merchandise valued at about $500. The items included a loaded .32 calibre pistol, some $100 worth of ammunition, 100 cartons of cigarettes, 50 pounds of butter, a case of flashlight batteries, 40 to 50 boxes of candy, two cases of motor oil, miscellaneous canned goods, luncheon meats, cakes and four cases of patent medicines.

Another Farm Surplus: Farmers

"How're you gonna keep 'em down on the farm after they've seen Paree?"

The words and music are of World War I vintage. But Tin Pan Alley may have unwittingly come up with a solution to America's farm problem.

One factor of that complex problem, it is widely recognized, is that farms produce not only surplus food products but surplus farmers. Several speakers at the National Farm Institute meeting in Des Moines harped on this theme.

Prof. L. H. Simerl, of the University of Illinois Department of Agricultural Economics, said the average American farm is only half as big as it should be to provide a profitable working unit. But if the size of farms were doubled, there would be only half as many farmers.

Laurel Roth, another agricultural economist, said much the same thing. He noted that the spurt in farm technology has resulted in farming methods which are only profitable on relatively good-sized farms.

Well, the ditty implies if surplus farmers are sent to Paree, they'll be off the farm for good. Just in case the ditty was wrong, though, there is something else an institute speaker said. The only effective way to get surplus farmers off the farms, he contended, is to achieve full employment in the non-farm economy.

After all, it isn't possible to simply pay a support price on a surplus farmer, store him in a warehouse and try to forget him. Before he can leave the farm, there must be a place for him to go.

And if Paree isn't the answer, that place must necessarily be a profitable niche in the non-farm economy.

These Days

More On Money

The organization of the Federal Reserve System was momentous in American economic history. The currency problem had bothered the United States since the founding of the nation. There were times when there was no system at all—local banks were issuing currency and sometimes money became so tight that 125 percent was paid for call-money. From time to time banks failed and the depositors lost all that was put into them.

In 1906, when the country was moving toward a financial panic, Jacob H. Schiff, one of the most brilliant minds ever to come to Wall Street, warned that unless the currency of the country were reformed, a panic of major dimensions would ensue. The Panic of 1907 duly arrived and it was a dilly. It started with the run on the Knickerbocker Trust Company in New York. When a run on a bank of good repute starts, anxiety appears throughout the country. This was a currency panic; the banks simply did not have enough money on hand to meet the demands of their customers. It was during this panic that J. P. Morgan asserted his leadership in American finance; he, in effect ordering the banks to obey his dictum and pulling the country through.

From that moment on, it became obvious that the currency of this country would have to be systematized. In 1913, the Federal Reserve System was organized, and all banks were, one might say, in a mutual self-protective association. However, the Federal Reserve System can only function to absolute advantage if the economy of the country is sound and its currency secure.

The Federal Reserve Bank, in effect, amounts to a centralization of reserves. Over the regional Federal Reserve Banks is a Federal Reserve Board. Every national bank must, and state trust companies may contribute to the capital of the Federal Reserve Bank in its district. The Federal Reserve System is not a central bank in the European sense, but it serves to mobilize and control credit and it can put a brake upon a political treasury which might stimulate inflation.

Since its organization in 1913, this country has gone through two major wars, a depression in depth, a continuing military and economically expensive operation called the Cold War, a faulty gold policy since 1933—and its currency has thus far survived every attack although at this moment, as in the period between 1929-1934, it is in serious peril.

The London Economic Conference of the League of Nations was called in 1933. Its agenda said:

"In the field of monetary and credit policy, the objective must be the restoration of an effective international monetary standard to which the countries which have abandoned the gold standard can wisely adhere. Each government must, of course, remain free to decide when and under what conditions it could adopt such a standard . . . there are a great number of economic as well as financial conditions which must be fulfilled before the restoration of an international gold standard can be a practical possibility. Moreover, it will be necessary to provide effective safeguards against such a restoration of the gold standard leading to a fresh breakdown . . ."

The gold standard was not restored. Instead, Roosevelt "made the manipulation of the value of the currency an open and admitted instrument of public policy." ("From the Morgenthau Diaries" of John Morton Blum.) Politically, currency remained an issue during the whole of the Roosevelt Administration. Father Coughlin, a Roman Catholic priest in Detroit, gained great popularity as a critic of the fiscal policies of the country and particularly of the Federal Reserve Bank. His voice on the radio was a great force.

The United States bought gold at $35 an ounce which was a good price when it was so fixed. At this price it came into possession of most of the monetary gold of the world—about $22,000,000,000—which was placed in Fort Knox for safekeeping. The task of all the other nations was to come into possession of gold and this proved an extremely difficult task during and after World War II. However, United States military expenditures abroad, military and economic aid as well as the trend of American industry to move jobs to European and Asiatic manufacturing centers produce a drain upon American gold. In fact, instead of Europe needing help because of the dollar gap, the United States needs assistance to hold its gold reserve.

Kennedy Programs Threaten States' Powers

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Some day the historians may say that the Kennedy Administration marked a new epoch in the American system of government—the beginning of the end of the 50 states in their traditional and constitutional role.

For, without change of a word in the federal constitution but by use of the power of appropriation of public funds, the states are headed for a role hardly more important in the future than that of cities and counties.

Big government — centralized government—has been given a new impetus.

This very week the President of the United States has proposed to Congress that $5.6 billion be spent for education—school construction and teachers' salaries—and he has asked also that social security taxes be raised to finance various social programs.

What does it all mean? Will the states hereafter be merely vehicles for political-party organizations to help win a presidential election and will the states of smaller population be continually subsidized by the taxpayers of other states? Perhaps the clearest explanation, if not prophesy, of what is coming was given the other day by the new Under Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, Ivan A. Nestigen. He was formerly mayor of Madison, Wisconsin. He was talking to a session here of the National Industrial Conference Board, and there were in the audience the heads of many of the large businesses of the country He made this significant observation, which was not fully reported in the press:

"The question is, as has fairly frequently been raised to me: why is it that on questions of education, on matters relating to social security or aid to people in the field of welfare, or in the field of health, why is it that we have to centralize everything in a national administration, and whether or not we cannot take care of it at a state or local level.

"I want to say this in answer to that, as a former municipal official: if we do not find a positive program coming forth from the federal government on these matters that are of concern, you won't have the action that is going to be needed to meet these problems in the years ahead for several reasons, and they are these:

"First of all, states and local units of government, on planes of varying degrees, don't have the financial wherewithal to provide for these needs. They do not have the taxing authority that is found in the federal government, and they are not able to meet these needs at a local or state level in good part.

"We all are aware of the financial problems that are faced by some of the states, and the unlimited financial means and still the great resources, the great human resources they have within their population, but the inability to provide for them on some of these programs.

'Another reason why you will not be able to find a good and adequate answer, and the answer that needs to be furnished at the pace that needs to be furnished from a local and state level, is that you do not have the political jurisdiction in which to act.

'Too many of these problems in the field of education, in the field of water pollution, in the field of air pollution, in the field of general welfare, do not have at the local level the political jurisdiction and control to act on these matters on a broad base.

"The federal government is going to have to take these steps. It is going to have to be in the best interests of all of us that these steps are taken by the federal government."

The above really shocked some of the members of the audience who talked about it among themselves afterward. One businessman said it negated the assurances President Kennedy had given at the same meeting when he spoke of "strengthened programs for health, education, and science and research" and declared that "many of these programs are within the province of state and local governments." He had added that full recovery "will increase the tax revenues that they so sorely need." He had spoken only of the federal government paying "its fair share of development of these human resources" and not taking over the full responsibility in place of the states and cities.

Even more reassuring were the words of Vice President Lyndon Johnson, who said that "this administration does not and will not seek great new powers by proclaiming great new terrors" and that the purpose of the new leadership is "not to aggrandize government in order to make the state supreme."

But when the years have passed and there is a retrospective glance at what began to happen in America in 1961 under the Kennedy programs, the historian may have to concede that Under Secretary Nestingen was more nearly right than any other speaker about the gradual erosion of the constitutional powers of the states by the use of the U. S. Treasury's taxing authority and by the exercise by Congress of its assumed right to pass laws spending the taxpayers' money as it pleases.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

VIEWPOINT — John F. Kennedy, as President of the United States, has just rejected the thinking of a former Senator from Massachusetts, who happens to be himself.

As a Senator, Kennedy joined with others in urging the U. S. Tariff Commission to raise tariffs so that the domestic rope and twine industry wouldn't be hurt so much by cheap imports.

In his first decision of its kind as President, Kennedy has sided with the Tariff Commission and rejected an industry plea for an increase in the rope and twine tariffs.

There will be more of these seeming contradictions as President Kennedy gets deeper into his White House tasks. As a Massachusetts Senator, Kennedy voted for and advocated steps wanted and needed by his state constituency. As President, Kennedy must act in the best interests of all 50 states.

Kennedy has a 14-year legislative record in the House and Senate, during which he made hundreds of speeches, thousands of statements and cast innumerable votes. It will be miraculous if he does not contradict a number of positions in the four and possibly eight years ahead.

Lye-Swallowing Patients Difficult To Treat

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

When lye is swallowed accidentally, the esophagus (gullet) is burned. On healing, the burned tissues form a scar that blocks the passage of food from the throat to the stomach. This obstruction is discouraged by stretching the esophagus with a special tube that is passed at frequent intervals during the time the gullet is healing. Should this plan fail, an opening must be made into the stomach to provide nourishment so that the victim won't starve.

Several attempts have been made to bypass the obstruction with a strip of intestine that is grafted into place. This method has never worked because the stomach acids digest away the lower part of the artificial tube.

More recently, a successful graft was inserted by a group of Milwaukee physicians, using a different technique. They made a new esophagus out of a piece of large intestine and sewed it into the side of the stomach. This graft has been in place now for more than a year.

Pregnancy before age 15 interrupts the girl's growth temporarily. Following delivery, the young mother may grow, but less than she would have if she had not conceived. Pregnancy after 15 affects the remaining growth potential but this is of no concern to the full grown woman.

According to a report in World Wide Abstracts, it is not the nutritional demands of the fetus that bring growth to a standstill; the glandular changes occurring during pregnancy are responsible. The baby usually is healthy, but the juvenile mother generally is asked to cut short the nursing period to avoid strain on her still developing body. She also must eat a well balanced diet, rich in vitamins and minerals.

The man who turns and whistles at a pretty blonde really is getting an eye opener. A group of University of Chicago scientists found that men's pupils actually dilate when they look at an attractive female. Women have a more maternal viewpoint: their pupils dilate most when shown pictures of a mother and child.

TOMORROW: Vitamin A overdosage.

ULCER AND ASPIRIN

B. V. writes: Is it safe for a peptic ulcer victim to use aspirin?

REPLY

Aspirin irritates the lining of the stomach and bleeding may result when ulcer is present.

EGG A DAY

J. J. writes: Will eating an egg at breakfast daily lead to hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

No. There is more to the development of arteriosclerosis than what we eat. Recently I read about a 101 year old man, who is calculated to have eaten 56,000 eggs in his long lifetime.

ON CLOUD NINE

N. Y. writes: What is euphoria?

REPLY

A sense of well being or elation. When it is abnormal to the point of a feeling of superiority, drugs such as cortisone or a psychiatric disorder may be responsible.

GASTRECTOMY

Mrs. T. writes: I have a hard time keeping my blood count up to normal since most of my stomach was removed a few years ago. Would iron pills help me?

REPLY

Probably not. Most anemias that follow partial removal of the stomach respond to injections of vitamin B12. The answer depends upon the type of anemia you have.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Rusk Sees Atomic Arms A Mutual Rather Than Massive Deterrent

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Can we trust ourselves? — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has suggested in a policy paper that neither the United States nor the Soviet Union can be trusted with too great a nuclear arvantage. He suggests that both countries should have nuclear parity so neither side would be tempted to attack the other. The United States must keep its nuclear weapons invulnerable, he warns, to avoid the temptation to strike first in order to prevent being wiped out by a surprise Soviet Attack. In other words, Rusk looks upon atomic arms as a "mutual deterrent" rather than "massive deterrent." The notion that we cannot trust ourselves, however, is sure to cause a stir on Capitol Hill.

THE LADY BLOWS HER TOP —Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, the lady from Maine, screamed at the Air Force last week for calling Brig. Gen. Jimmy Stewart, the movie actor, to active Pentagon duty the same week that his memoirs began in the Saturday Evening Post. Advertisements urged readers to buy the Post to "read Jimmy Stewart's version as to why Margaret Chase Smith opposed his nomination." She accused the Air Force of bringing Stewart to the Pentagon as a publicity stunt to promote the magazine series. Explained the movie star to his military superiors: "I swear I didn't write an unkind word about Senator Smith."

INTELLIGENCE FOR HIRE — The government's cloak-and-dagger agencies have been farming out intelligence work to private companies, a practice started under President Eisenhower who believed in turning more government business over to private enterprise. Such unlikely companies as Singer Sewing Machine, General Electric, RCA, Aerojet and Convair are preparing intelligence reports under contract. Some reports have been excellent, others have been worthless. All have cost the taxpayers far more than if the government had done its own spy work.

Mobster Misses Plane

ONE-WAY TRIP— Immigration authorities had planned to hustle Russell Bufalino, alleged labor racketeer, off to Italy last week without warning. They issued a deportation order, arranged a passport, reserved one-way plane passage. But the Italian Consul in Philadelphia tipped off Bufalino's lawyers, who brought court action to stop his hasty departure. The alleged Pennsylvania gangster has no wish to be banished to Italy which he hasn't seen since he was four months old.

SENATE'S DOUBLE STANDARD—The Senate forced James Webb to sever his connections with the Kerr-McGee Oil Company before he could serve as civilian space czar. On the question of ethics, however, the Senate has a double standard. Oklahoma's bearlike Sen. Bob Kerr, principal owner of the same Kerr-McGee company, wasn't asked to sell his stock before taking over as Senate Space Chairman. Yet Kerr-McGee is one of the nation's biggest suppliers of uranium, an ingredient of the space age.

A $50,000 SHORTAGE — Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg has discovered that his predecessor, James Mitchell, ran up such extravagant bills that the Secretary's office is short of funds. Another cause has been the quick take-over by the Democrats who filled up the payroll quicker than the budgeteers had anticipated. Total shortage: about $50,000. Mitchell tapped the till for long-distance trips and phone calls. While he was away, he dictated lengthy speeches and letters over the long-distance phone. Explained a Labor Department spokesman: "Mitchell concentrated on getting the job done, and worried about paying the bills afterward."

WRITTEN BUT NOT READ — Harry Golden, the famous Jewish humorist, was commissioned by Life Magazine to write a serious report on anti-semitism in Germany. He found that the West German government was doing its best to stamp out anti-Semitism. Yet he concluded that the horrors of Hitler, which still haunt the Jews and lurk in the attitudes of some Germans, makes it impossible for Jews to live happily in Germany. Although Life paid Golden handsomely, his manuscript has never been published.

Up Against Shotgun

HARASSED HARLEM CONGRESSMAN—Uncle Sam is holding a double-barrelled shotgun to the handsome head of Harlem's debonair Congressman Adam Clayton Powell. First barrel: court charges that he has cheated on his income taxes. Second barrel: FBI charges that he distributed unsigned campaign literature against Richard Nixon in violation of the federal election laws. Perhaps spurred by this threat, Powell has buckled down to work as chairman of the House Labor Committee. He has given subcommittee chairmanships without malice to southern congressmen who previously had blocked him from running a subcommittee. He has let them know, however, that he will fire any chairman who doesn't tend to his duties.

AFTER THE FUNERAL WAS OVER—The FBI has now learned the basis of the strange friendship between Alabama's Gov. John Patterson and his finance director, Charles Meriwether. The FBI has been investigating Meriwether's qualifications to serve as a director of the Export-Import Bank, an appointment Governor Patterson wangled for him. A witness has informed the FBI that the Patterson - Meriwether friendship began at the funeral of the former's father, Albert Patterson, the crusading state attorney general. Meriwether had opposed the elder Patterson. Yet the FBI informant declares: "On the day of the funeral a group of us, including Charles Meriwether, asked John Patterson whether he wanted us to support him for the now-vacant post of attorney general. John was dumfounded. A number of politicians at the funeral refused to join us in this move . . . but a deal was made by which John would run in a special election for the post of attorney general. A bunch of lawyers in the state tutored him for about six weeks on how to speak and write better English."

The Big Fight

PALM BEACH, Fla. — The white trunks were on and I hunted around the room in the Sea Breeze looking for a robe. I couldn't find any. If I was going to fight Ingemar Johansson, it wouldn't be nice to be carried to the morgue in trunks. Harold Conrad stuck his head in the room. "Main event," he said, trying hard not to conceal his contempt. "Come on."

He thought I wouldn't show up. I walked out of the room and down the windy corridor to Johansson's secret training room. The square Swede hadn't arrived. That was good. I wanted to light a cigarette. One of the seconds glared. Whitey Bimstein, who has a head like a pink grapefruit, came over and laced 12-ounce gloves on my hands. Mr. Bimstein is Johansson's chief trainer. I didn't trust the way he laced the gloves.

I showed them to my father. "He should have laced them over your head," he said. I pranced around the ring. It felt good except that my stomach kept bouncing in the opposite direction from the rest of the frame. I was the epitome of the conditioned athlete: 53 years of age, 162 pounds, 5' 7½" tall, a courageous heart and cowardly feet, a jaw manufactured by Libby-Owens, and baby blue eyeballs which see everything in a soft blur. With a little practice, I could lift the gloves.

The champ came in. He looked at me and smiled like a surgeon about to do a frontal lobotomy. "Ah," he said, "my friend is waiting." He weighed 215 and looked like a stone fort. He hopped through the ropes and the Sea Breeze Motel tilted. He wasn't scaring me.

"Are you serious?" he said. I gave him a look. He had been knocked out by Floyd Patterson. I had never lost a decision, except the 2,473 fights I had with my wife. My outdoor record is without blemish. It is zero zero. No fights. No losses.

Whitey turned on an egg timer and I touched gloves with Ingo. I backed up a few steps and he flicked his left. I struck a stance and Blimstein yelled: "Holy mackerel. He's a southpaw." This made no difference to Ingo. He came after me flat-footed, head low, right hand under the chin, left in front of the waist.

I tossed a right. It caught him below the chest with all the impact of a charlotte russe. He looked serious. Too serious for me. I tapped him with a left and brought the right hand over hard. It landed on his glove, which he cleverly raised in time to save himself.

A clinch seemed in order, but Ingo wouldn't play. He pushed me away gently with both arms and I flew across the ring without touching resin. I came back off the ropes grinning gamely—just to show that I wasn't hurt— and I looked anxiously at the egg timer, but no bell rang.

Mr. Johansson was very careful. He approached me and feinted three times in a row to coax me into throwing something— even a party. He wasn't conning me. I knew that if I hit him he would want to hit me back. I tried the friendly approach.

Whitey caught my eye and yelled. "Hit him in the mouth, Jim. He's wide open." I cocked my left and then I yelled: "I can't. He forgot his mouthpiece." His seemed to throw everybody into hysterics. I don't know why, but some of the sparring mates fell across the ropes laughing.

The champ can control his hands as some men control the impact of a pneumatic hammer. He can snake a left or a right swiftly, and each one touched my face or chest lightly as a powder puff, and was withdrawn. Bimstein decided to stop the massacre. He has a valuable property which, on March 13th will fight Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight championship of the world.

He'd be a fool to risk a knockdown at the hands of the Soggy Sight of Sea Bright. It might be difficult to keep the flash from the world. News leaks. So Whitey yelled, "Time!" and Ingo, a real gentleman and one of the smartest men in the fight business, stepped back and heaved a big sigh of relief.

The truth is, he had nothing to fear. I wouldn't have hurt him. Maybe I should have told him before we put the gloves on, but I was afraid this might give him false courage.

The whole thing lasted only one part of one round. I paid Whitey the fin I promised for short-changing the full round. "I don't want to be critical," he said, but you're a little out of shape. The only thing you can hit is typewriter keys, and sometimes you don't do them so good."...

Another Farm Surplus: Farmers

"How're you gonna keep 'em down on the farm after they've seen Paree?"

The words and music are of World War I vintage. But Tin Pan Alley may have unwittingly come up with a solution to America's farm problem.

One factor of that complex problem, it is widely recognized, is that farms produce not only surplus food products but surplus farmers. Several speakers at the National Farm Institute meeting in Des Moines harped on this theme.

Prof. L. H. Simerl, of the University of Illinois Department of Agricultural Economics, said the average American farm is only half as big as it should be to provide a profitable working unit. But if the size of farms were doubled, there would be only half as many farmers.

Laurel Roth, another agricultural economist, said much the same thing. He noted that the spurt in farm technology has resulted in farming methods which are only profitable on relatively good-sized farms.

Well, the ditty implies if surplus farmers are sent to Paree, they'll be off the farm for good. Just in case the ditty was wrong, though, there is something else an institute speaker said. The only effective way to get surplus farmers off the farms, he contended, is to achieve full employment in the non-farm economy.

After all, it isn't possible to simply pay a support price on a surplus farmer, store him in a warehouse and try to forget him. Before he can leave the farm, there must be a place for him to go.

And if Paree isn't the answer, that place must necessarily be a profitable niche in the non-farm economy.

A $50,000 SHORTAGE — Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg has discovered that his predecessor, James Mitchell, ran up such extravagant bills that the Secretary's office is short of funds. Another cause has been the quick take-over by the Democrats who filled up the payroll quicker than the budgeteers had anticipated. Total shortage: about $50,000. Mitchell tapped the till for long-distance trips and phone calls. While he was away, he dictated lengthy speeches and letters over the long-distance phone. Explained a Labor Department spokesman: "Mitchell concentrated on getting the job done, and worried about paying the bills afterward."

WRITTEN BUT NOT READ — Harry Golden, the famous Jewish humorist, was commissioned by Life Magazine to write a serious report on anti-semitism in Germany. He found that the West German government was doing its best to stamp out anti-Semitism. Yet he concluded that the horrors of Hitler, which still haunt the Jews and lurk in the attitudes of some Germans, makes it impossible for Jews to live happily in Germany. Although Life paid Golden handsomely, his manuscript has never been published.

Up Against Shotgun

HARASSED HARLEM CONGRESSMAN—Uncle Sam is holding a double-barrelled shotgun to the handsome head of Harlem's debonair Congressman Adam Clayton Powell. First barrel: court charges that he has cheated on his income taxes. Second barrel: FBI charges that he distributed unsigned campaign literature against Richard Nixon in violation of the federal election laws. Perhaps spurred by this threat, Powell has buckled down to work as chairman of the House Labor Committee. He has given subcommittee chairmanships without malice to southern congressmen who previously had blocked him from running a subcommittee. He has let them know, however, that he will fire any chairman who doesn't tend to his duties.

AFTER THE FUNERAL WAS OVER—The FBI has now learned the basis of the strange friendship between Alabama's Gov. John Patterson and his finance director, Charles Meriwether. The FBI has been investigating Meriwether's qualifications to serve as a director of the Export-Import Bank, an appointment Governor Patterson wangled for him. A witness has informed the FBI that the Patterson - Meriwether friendship began at the funeral of the former's father, Albert Patterson, the crusading state attorney general. Meriwether had opposed the elder Patterson. Yet the FBI informant declares: "On the day of the funeral a group of us, including Charles Meriwether, asked John Patterson whether he wanted us to support him for the now-vacant post of attorney general. John was dumfounded. A number of politicians at the funeral refused to join us in this move . . . but a deal was made by which John would run in a special election for the post of attorney general. A bunch of lawyers in the state tutored him for about six weeks on how to speak and write better English."

Kennedy Programs Threaten States' Powers

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Some day the historians may say that the Kennedy Administration marked a new epoch in the American system of government—the beginning of the end of the 50 states in their traditional and constitutional role.

For, without change of a word in the federal constitution but by use of the power of appropriation of public funds, the states are headed for a role hardly more important in the future than that of cities and counties.

Big government — centralized government—has been given a new impetus.

This very week the President of the United States has proposed to Congress that $5.6 billion be spent for education—school construction and teachers' salaries—and he has asked also that social security taxes be raised to finance various social programs.

What does it all mean? Will the states hereafter be merely vehicles for political-party organizations to help win a presidential election and will the states of smaller population be continually subsidized by the taxpayers of other states? Perhaps the clearest explanation, if not prophesy, of what is coming was given the other day by the new Under Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, Ivan A. Nestigen. He was formerly mayor of Madison, Wisconsin. He was talking to a session here of the National Industrial Conference Board, and there were in the audience the heads of many of the large businesses of the country He made this significant observation, which was not fully reported in the press:

"The question is, as has fairly frequently been raised to me: why is it that on questions of education, on matters relating to social security or aid to people in the field of welfare, or in the field of health, why is it that we have to centralize everything in a national administration, and whether or not we cannot take care of it at a state or local level.

"I want to say this in answer to that, as a former municipal official: if we do not find a positive program coming forth from the federal government on these matters that are of concern, you won't have the action that is going to be needed to meet these problems in the years ahead for several reasons, and they are these:

"First of all, states and local units of government, on planes of varying degrees, don't have the financial wherewithal to provide for these needs. They do not have the taxing authority that is found in the federal government, and they are not able to meet these needs at a local or state level in good part.

"We all are aware of the financial problems that are faced by some of the states, and the unlimited financial means and still the great resources, the great human resources they have within their population, but the inability to provide for them on some of these programs.

'Another reason why you will not be able to find a good and adequate answer, and the answer that needs to be furnished at the pace that needs to be furnished from a local and state level, is that you do not have the political jurisdiction in which to act.

'Too many of these problems in the field of education, in the field of water pollution, in the field of air pollution, in the field of general welfare, do not have at the local level the political jurisdiction and control to act on these matters on a broad base.

"The federal government is going to have to take these steps. It is going to have to be in the best interests of all of us that these steps are taken by the federal government."

The above really shocked some of the members of the audience who talked about it among themselves afterward. One businessman said it negated the assurances President Kennedy had given at the same meeting when he spoke of "strengthened programs for health, education, and science and research" and declared that "many of these programs are within the province of state and local governments." He had added that full recovery "will increase the tax revenues that they so sorely need." He had spoken only of the federal government paying "its fair share of development of these human resources" and not taking over the full responsibility in place of the states and cities.

Even more reassuring were the words of Vice President Lyndon Johnson, who said that "this administration does not and will not seek great new powers by proclaiming great new terrors" and that the purpose of the new leadership is "not to aggrandize government in order to make the state supreme."

But when the years have passed and there is a retrospective glance at what began to happen in America in 1961 under the Kennedy programs, the historian may have to concede that Under Secretary Nestingen was more nearly right than any other speaker about the gradual erosion of the constitutional powers of the states by the use of the U. S. Treasury's taxing authority and by the exercise by Congress of its assumed right to pass laws spending the taxpayers' money as it pleases.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

VIEWPOINT — John F. Kennedy, as President of the United States, has just rejected the thinking of a former Senator from Massachusetts, who happens to be himself.

As a Senator, Kennedy joined with others in urging the U. S. Tariff Commission to raise tariffs so that the domestic rope and twine industry wouldn't be hurt so much by cheap imports.

In his first decision of its kind as President, Kennedy has sided with the Tariff Commission and rejected an industry plea for an increase in the rope and twine tariffs.

There will be more of these seeming contradictions as President Kennedy gets deeper into his White House tasks. As a Massachusetts Senator, Kennedy voted for and advocated steps wanted and needed by his state constituency. As President, Kennedy must act in the best interests of all 50 states.

Kennedy has a 14-year legislative record in the House and Senate, during which he made hundreds of speeches, thousands of statements and cast innumerable votes. It will be miraculous if he does not contradict a number of positions in the four and possibly eight years ahead.

The Big Fight

PALM BEACH, Fla. — The white trunks were on and I hunted around the room in the Sea Breeze looking for a robe. I couldn't find any. If I was going to fight Ingemar Johansson, it wouldn't be nice to be carried to the morgue in trunks. Harold Conrad stuck his head in the room. "Main event," he said, trying hard not to conceal his contempt. "Come on."

He thought I wouldn't show up. I walked out of the room and down the windy corridor to Johansson's secret training room. The square Swede hadn't arrived. That was good. I wanted to light a cigarette. One of the seconds glared. Whitey Bimstein, who has a head like a pink grapefruit, came over and laced 12-ounce gloves on my hands. Mr. Bimstein is Johansson's chief trainer. I didn't trust the way he laced the gloves.

I showed them to my father. "He should have laced them over your head," he said. I pranced around the ring. It felt good except that my stomach kept bouncing in the opposite direction from the rest of the frame. I was the epitome of the conditioned athlete: 53 years of age, 162 pounds, 5' 7½" tall, a courageous heart and cowardly feet, a jaw manufactured by Libby-Owens, and baby blue eyeballs which see everything in a soft blur. With a little practice, I could lift the gloves.

The champ came in. He looked at me and smiled like a surgeon about to do a frontal lobotomy. "Ah," he said, "my friend is waiting." He weighed 215 and looked like a stone fort. He hopped through the ropes and the Sea Breeze Motel tilted. He wasn't scaring me.

"Are you serious?" he said. I gave him a look. He had been knocked out by Floyd Patterson. I had never lost a decision, except the 2,473 fights I had with my wife. My outdoor record is without blemish. It is zero zero. No fights. No losses.

Whitey turned on an egg timer and I touched gloves with Ingo. I backed up a few steps and he flicked his left. I struck a stance and Blimstein yelled: "Holy mackerel. He's a southpaw." This made no difference to Ingo. He came after me flat-footed, head low, right hand under the chin, left in front of the waist.

I tossed a right. It caught him below the chest with all the impact of a charlotte russe. He looked serious. Too serious for me. I tapped him with a left and brought the right hand over hard. It landed on his glove, which he cleverly raised in time to save himself.

A clinch seemed in order, but Ingo wouldn't play. He pushed me away gently with both arms and I flew across the ring without touching resin. I came back off the ropes grinning gamely—just to show that I wasn't hurt— and I looked anxiously at the egg timer, but no bell rang.

Mr. Johansson was very careful. He approached me and feinted three times in a row to coax me into throwing something— even a party. He wasn't conning me. I knew that if I hit him he would want to hit me back. I tried the friendly approach.

Whitey caught my eye and yelled. "Hit him in the mouth, Jim. He's wide open." I cocked my left and then I yelled: "I can't. He forgot his mouthpiece." His seemed to throw everybody into hysterics. I don't know why, but some of the sparring mates fell across the ropes laughing.

The champ can control his hands as some men control the impact of a pneumatic hammer. He can snake a left or a right swiftly, and each one touched my face or chest lightly as a powder puff, and was withdrawn. Bimstein decided to stop the massacre. He has a valuable property which, on March 13th will fight Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight championship of the world.

He'd be a fool to risk a knockdown at the hands of the Soggy Sight of Sea Bright. It might be difficult to keep the flash from the world. News leaks. So Whitey yelled, "Time!" and Ingo, a real gentleman and one of the smartest men in the fight business, stepped back and heaved a big sigh of relief.

The truth is, he had nothing to fear. I wouldn't have hurt him. Maybe I should have told him before we put the gloves on, but I was afraid this might give him false courage.

The whole thing lasted only one part of one round. I paid Whitey the fin I promised for short-changing the full round. "I don't want to be critical," he said, but you're a little out of shape. The only thing you can hit is typewriter keys, and sometimes you don't do them so good."...

Lye-Swallowing Patients Difficult To Treat

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

When lye is swallowed accidentally, the esophagus (gullet) is burned. On healing, the burned tissues form a scar that blocks the passage of food from the throat to the stomach. This obstruction is discouraged by stretching the esophagus with a special tube that is passed at frequent intervals during the time the gullet is healing. Should this plan fail, an opening must be made into the stomach to provide nourishment so that the victim won't starve.

Several attempts have been made to bypass the obstruction with a strip of intestine that is grafted into place. This method has never worked because the stomach acids digest away the lower part of the artificial tube.

More recently, a successful graft was inserted by a group of Milwaukee physicians, using a different technique. They made a new esophagus out of a piece of large intestine and sewed it into the side of the stomach. This graft has been in place now for more than a year.

Pregnancy before age 15 interrupts the girl's growth temporarily. Following delivery, the young mother may grow, but less than she would have if she had not conceived. Pregnancy after 15 affects the remaining growth potential but this is of no concern to the full grown woman.

According to a report in World Wide Abstracts, it is not the nutritional demands of the fetus that bring growth to a standstill; the glandular changes occurring during pregnancy are responsible. The baby usually is healthy, but the juvenile mother generally is asked to cut short the nursing period to avoid strain on her still developing body. She also must eat a well balanced diet, rich in vitamins and minerals.

The man who turns and whistles at a pretty blonde really is getting an eye opener. A group of University of Chicago scientists found that men's pupils actually dilate when they look at an attractive female. Women have a more maternal viewpoint: their pupils dilate most when shown pictures of a mother and child.

ULCER AND ASPIRIN

B. V. writes: Is it safe for a peptic ulcer victim to use aspirin?

REPLY

Aspirin irritates the lining of the stomach and bleeding may result when ulcer is present.

EGG A DAY

J. J. writes: Will eating an egg at breakfast daily lead to hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

No. There is more to the development of arteriosclerosis than what we eat. Recently I read about a 101 year old man, who is calculated to have eaten 36,000 eggs in his long lifetime.

ON CLOUD NINE

N. Y. writes: What is euphoria?

REPLY

A sense of well being or elation. When it is abnormal to the point of a feeling of superiority, drugs such as cortisone or a psychiatric disorder may be responsible.

GASTRECTOMY

Mrs. T. writes: I have a hard time keeping my blood count up to normal since most of my stomach was removed a few years ago. Would iron pills help me?

REPLY

Probably not. Most anemias that follow partial removal of the stomach respond to injections of vitamin B12. The answer depends upon the type of anemia you have.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

New Policies Set Up By City Police

A number of policies affecting members of the Police Department were adopted at a staff meeting Wednesday in the office of Police Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming.

It was decided to resume the firearms program that was instituted last year. Commissioner Fleming said, adding that it likely will be conducted on an annual basis.

Chief of Police B. F. Gaffney suggested that the firearms training be conducted in cooperation with the State Police, railroad policemen and members of the guard personnel at the various industrial firms in the region.

The chief advanced the idea on the basis that competition would prove helpful to the separate units. Commissioner Fleming said Chief Gaffney was instructed to contact the other groups and present a report at the next staff meeting. The chief also will conduct a survey of the police firing range to determine what improvements are needed.

The commissioner said a report on the recent supervisory school conducted at the Maryland State Police Headquarters at Pikesville was presented by Officer John Daum. Patrolman Daum recommended that future classes be made available to members of the department, explaining that the tactics taught at the school would benefit all Police Department personnel.

Commissioner Fleming said it also was decided to issue an order calling for members of the police force to be in uniform when appearing in either police or magistrate courts. The staff was in agreement that uniforms would be in keeping with the dignity of the court, the commissioner said.

Prior to now, he continued, officers who were not on duty did not have to appear in court in uniform.

Attending the meeting, besides the commissioner and chief, were Assistant Chief John E. Sherry, Lt. Raymond R. Johnston, Lt. Donald H. Smith, Lt. Wilbur Shank, Sgt. John H. Newhouse, Sgt. C. C. Roby, Sgt. E. Gordon Hite, Sgt. R. L. Gilpin and Officer Daum.

United Fund To Elect Officers Tuesday

"Operation Success" will be the theme of the annual meeting and election of officers of County United Fund to be held Tuesday evening in the Central YMCA community room.

J. Glenn Beall Jr. heads the nominating committee that will select candidates for the board of directors, executive committee and top officers.

Under the leadership of William E. Crooks, campaign chairman, the fourth annual County United Fund drive was the most successful held in this area to date.

Other members of the nominating committee are Charles H. Brode, William F. Cowherd, Alton R. Fortney, Earl K. Hess, David Hopkins, C. Edwin Jordan, Andrew M. Lewis Jr., Billy W. Myers and Robert B. Thomas.

Members of the board of directors whose terms expire this month are James Armstrong, John W. Barger, Beall, Mrs. Samuel Berry, A. Trago Brust Jr., J. Wallace Close, Mrs. Bernard Coberly Sr., Mrs. Ray C. Coffman, Flyod Davis, L. Fred Dean, Coy F. Dyer, J. Paul Fisher, Philmore Fleming, John E. Geare, Charles Hill, Dr. W. Royce Hodges, John Ives, Jonathan Jenkins, John C. Kelly, Mrs. Dorothy Kight, George Lashbaugh and Ervin Lewis.

Outgoing area vice presidents include Peebles, Central Creek; Mrs. Young, Cumberland; Andrew M. Lewis Jr., east county; Ewald, Frostburg-Mt. Savage; Nuzum, Keyser, and Staggers, Tri-Towns.

Two Damage Suits Filed In Court Here

Two suits were docketed in Circuit Court yesterday as a result of separate highway accidents.

Hilda Talley, 47½ First Street, Frostburg, filed suit for $15,000 in damages from Virgie M. Walbert, Mt. Savage. The declaration, filed by John Sullivan, attorney for the plaintiff, states that on August 28, 1960, she was a passenger in the Walbert car when it crashed on U. S. Route 40, one mile east of Uniontown, Pa.

The plaintiff claims she suffered severe injuries, loss of wages and incurred hospital and medical expenses.

The second suit was filed by Arthur Ray Butler Jr., of Accident, against the Nationwide Insurance Company in connection with a claim for damages to a truck tractor.

The declaration, filed by C. William Gilchrist, William R. Carscaden and Gorman Getty, attorneys for the plaintiff, states that the truck tractor involved in a crash September 25, 1960 near Markleysburg, Pa., and was a total loss.

Butler claims that he had a policy with the insurance firm which provided for payment in case of damages. The tractor was valued at $11,800 and was worth only $700 as salvage, according to the declaration.

Butler is asking for $11,000 from the insurance firm.

Dr. Hager Takes Graduate Work

Dr. Robert C. Hager, D.D.S., 110 Bedford Street, has returned from Georgetown University where he completed a post graduate course in "Malocclusion—Its Detection, Moderation and Interception."

Dr. Faustin N. Weber, D.D.S., M.S., professor and head of the Department of Orthodontics of the University of Tennessee, conducted the course.

Elderly William Henry Harrison delivered the longest inaugural in history, the National Geographic Society says. Consisting of nearly 8,500 words. At the other extreme was George Washington's second inaugural—only 135 words.

On College Honor Roll

Miss Sara J. Kroll, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Mark M. Kroll, 110 South Centre Street, has been named to the honor roll at Penn Hall Junior College and Preparatory School at Chambersburg, Pa.

A member of the junior class of the preparatory school, she ranks in the upper ten per cent of her class.

Lenten Service Planned

Rev. Dr. Albert P. Shirkey, pastor of Mt. Vernon Place Methodist Church, Washington, will preach at the Lenten service Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at Centre Street Methodist Church.

The Youth Choir, directed by Joyce Zornig, wil present a program. Rev. Carlton M. Harris, pastor, will be in charge of the service.

Girls' Band To March

DUBLIN (UPI) — A Dublin girls' pipe band will march down Fifth Avenue in New York's St. Patrick's Day parade for the first time this year. The Emerald Girls' Pipe Band will march behind the 69th Division at the head of the parade.

Dr. Hager Takes Graduate Work

Dr. Robert C. Hager, D.D.S., 110 Bedford Street, has returned from Georgetown University where he completed a post graduate course in "Malocclusion—Its Detection, Moderation and Interception."

Dr. Faustin N. Weber, D.D.S., M.S., professor and head of the Department of Orthodontics of the University of Tennessee, conducted the course.

Elderly William Henry Harrison delivered the longest inaugural in history, the National Geographic Society says. Consisting of nearly 8,500 words. At the other extreme was George Washington's second inaugural—only 135 words.

On College Honor Roll

Miss Sara J. Kroll, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Mark M. Kroll, 110 South Centre Street, has been named to the honor roll at Penn Hall Junior College and Preparatory School at Chambersburg, Pa.

A member of the junior class of the preparatory school, she ranks in the upper ten per cent of her class.

Two Damage Suits Filed In Court Here

Two suits were docketed in Circuit Court yesterday as a result of separate highway accidents.

Hilda Talley, 47½ First Street, Frostburg, filed suit for $15,000 in damages from Virgie M. Walbert, Mt. Savage. The declaration, filed by John Sullivan, attorney for the plaintiff, states that on August 28, 1960, she was a passenger in the Walbert car when it crashed on U. S. Route 40, one mile east of Uniontown, Pa.

The plaintiff claims she suffered severe injuries, loss of wages and incurred hospital and medical expenses.

The second suit was filed by Arthur Ray Butler Jr., of Accident, against the Nationwide Insurance Company in connection with a claim for damages to a truck tractor.

The declaration, filed by C. William Gilchrist, William R. Carscaden and Gorman Getty, attorneys for the plaintiff, states that the truck tractor involved in a crash September 25, 1960 near Markleysburg, Pa., and was a total loss.

Butler claims that he had a policy with the insurance firm which provided for payment in case of damages. The tractor was valued at $11,800 and was worth only $700 as salvage, according to the declaration.

Butler is asking for $11,000 from the insurance firm.

EXECUTOR'S SALE OF VALUABLE PROPERTY SITUATED ON ARCH STREET, IN CUMBERLAND, ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND

Pursuant to an Order of the Orphans' Court for Allegany County, Maryland, dated February 3, 1961, and passed in a certain proceeding in said Court entitled "In the Matter of the Estate of Addie Belle Norton, deceased — Estate No. 6624", the undersigned Executor will offer at public sale along the side of The Second National Bank Building, Liberty and Baltimore Streets, Cumberland, Maryland, on

SATURDAY, MARCH 18th, 1961, AT 10:00 O'CLOCK A. M., E.S.T., the following described real estate:

All that lot or parcel of ground situated and lying on Arch Street, in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, composed of parts of Lots Numbers 210 and 211 in the Cumberland Improvement and Investment Company's Southern Addition to Cumberland, said parts of said lots being particularly described as follows, to wit:

FIRST: Beginning for the part of Lot Number 210 at a point on the first line of said whole lot distant twenty feet from the end of the first line of Lot Number 209 in said Addition, and running thence with Arch Street South 18 degrees 34 minutes West 20 feet; then South 71 degrees 26 minutes East 100 feet to the West side of Hattie Alley; then with said Alley North 18 degrees 34 minutes East 20 feet; then by a straight line through Lot Number 210 to the beginning.

SECOND: Beginning for the part of Lot Number 211 at the end of the first line of Lot Number 210, and running thence with Arch Street South 18 degrees 34 minutes West 10 feet; then South 71 degrees 26 minutes East 100 feet through said Lot Number 211 to the West side of Hattie Alley; then with said Alley North 18 degrees 34 minutes East 10 feet to the second line of Lot Number 210; and with said line reversed North 71 degrees 26 minutes West 100 feet to the beginning.

IT BEING the same property which was conveyed to Thomas F. Norton and Addie B. Norton, his wife, by Charles E. Shaw, Trustee, by deed dated June 29, 1934, and recorded in Deeds Liber 171, folio 203, among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland. The said Thomas F. Norton departed this life on December 8, 1959, thereby vesting the entire title to said property in the said Addie Belle Norton by operation of law. The said Addie Belle Norton departed this life on August 21, 1960, and by the terms of her Last Will and Testament duly admitted to probate in the Orphans' Court for Allegany County, Maryland, on September 2, 1960, directed her Executor therein named to sell the aforementioned property.

Said property is improved by a two-story single frame dwelling known as No. 22 Arch Street, Cumberland, Maryland, containing six rooms and bath, partial basement, gas fired furnace, and is equipped with gas, electricity and water.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third in cash on the day of sale, and the balance upon the delivery of a good and sufficient deed following ratification of the sale by the Orphans' Court for Allegany County, Maryland. All taxes and public assessments shall be adjusted as of the date of sale. Property can be inspected by making an appointment with the undersigned Executor, telephone PArkview 2-0123.

EXECUTOR'S SALE OF VALUABLE PROPERTY SITUATED ON ARCH STREET, IN CUMBERLAND, ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND

Pursuant to an Order of the Orphans' Court for Allegany County, Maryland, dated February 3, 1961, and passed in a certain proceeding in said Court entitled "In the Matter of the Estate of Addie Belle Norton, deceased — Estate No. 6624", the undersigned Executor will offer at public sale along the side of The Second National Bank Building, Liberty and Baltimore Streets, Cumberland, Maryland, on

SATURDAY, MARCH 18th, 1961, AT 10:00 O'CLOCK A. M., E.S.T., the following described real estate:

All that lot or parcel of ground situated and lying on Arch Street, in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, composed of parts of Lots Numbers 210 and 211 in the Cumberland Improvement and Investment Company's Southern Addition to Cumberland, said parts of said lots being particularly described as follows, to wit:

FIRST: Beginning for the part of Lot Number 210 at a point on the first line of said whole lot distant twenty feet from the end of the first line of Lot Number 209 in said Addition, and running thence with Arch Street South 18 degrees 34 minutes West 20 feet; then South 71 degrees 26 minutes East 100 feet to the West side of Hattie Alley; then with said Alley North 18 degrees 34 minutes East 20 feet; then by a straight line through Lot Number 210 to the beginning.

SECOND: Beginning for the part of Lot Number 211 at the end of the first line of Lot Number 210, and running thence with Arch Street South 18 degrees 34 minutes West 10 feet; then South 71 degrees 26 minutes East 100 feet through said Lot Number 211 to the West side of Hattie Alley; then with said Alley North 18 degrees 34 minutes East 10 feet to the second line of Lot Number 210; and with said line reversed North 71 degrees 26 minutes West 100 feet to the beginning.

IT BEING the same property which was conveyed to Thomas F. Norton and Addie B. Norton, his wife, by Charles E. Shaw, Trustee, by deed dated June 29, 1934, and recorded in Deeds Liber 171, folio 203, among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland. The said Thomas F. Norton departed this life on December 8, 1959, thereby vesting the entire title to said property in the said Addie Belle Norton by operation of law. The said Addie Belle Norton departed this life on August 21, 1960, and by the terms of her Last Will and Testament duly admitted to probate in the Orphans' Court for Allegany County, Maryland, on September 2, 1960, directed her Executor therein named to sell the aforementioned property.

Said property is improved by a two-story single frame dwelling known as No. 22 Arch Street, Cumberland, Maryland, containing six rooms and bath, partial basement, gas fired furnace, and is equipped with gas, electricity and water.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third in cash on the day of sale, and the balance upon the delivery of a good and sufficient deed following ratification of the sale by the Orphans' Court for Allegany County, Maryland. All taxes and public assessments shall be adjusted as of the date of sale. Property can be inspected by making an appointment with the undersigned Executor, telephone PArkview 2-0123.

Apportionment Of Delegates Is Unchanged

W.Va. House Takes Positive Action

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The House of Delegates overwhelmingly decided Wednesday to continue the method which for 60 years has been followed in apportioning seats in the chamber — even though the attorney general says it's unconstitutional.

By a vote of 72-25, the delegates approved a bill to take two seats away from McDowell and one each from Logan and Fayette, and give two more to Kanawha and one each to Wood and Hancock Counties.

And Del. Richard Parsons, D-McDowell, who originally raised the question of constitutionality of the apportionment policy, immediately served notice that he would ask the State Supreme Court to formally rule the whole thing unconstitutional.

Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson held Monday that the Constitution does NOT allow each county at least one seat in the House. He said the Constitution specifically sets up certain requirements as to population and that 13 counties now do not have enough population to qualify for a seat.

The bill passed Wednesday would make changes based on population losses and gains by the six counties mentioned, based on the 1960 census, but each county still would have at least one representative regardless of how small its population.

Del. Jack Miller, R-Wood, one of the sponsors of the approved measure, said he felt in his own mind the measure was constitutional despite the opinion of the state's chief legal officer.

"I believe there is conflicting language in the Constitution and that the State Supreme Court would uphold the Legislature if it passed this bill," he said.

Mt. Savage Heart Drive Organized

MT. SAVAGE — Mrs. John Knepp, area chairman for the Mt. Savage-Barrelville Heart Fund drive being conducted this month, has announced the list of volunteer campaign workers.

Mrs. Knepp said that Heart Sunday (February 26) chairman for the area is Mrs. Carl Neder.

Mrs. Neder and the area chairman have distributed plastic hearts to all schools and business places in the area

The Student Council at Mt. Savage High School is assisting with the Heart Drive and have taken charge of the coin cannisters which are being used this year for the first time.

The area has been divided into four sections, Main Street, Church Hill, Calla Hill and Barrelville.

There is a captain for each section, Mrs. Knepp said, and each captain has her co-workers.

Captains are Mrs. Joseph Brannon, Main Street; Mrs. Raymond Fannon, Church Hill; Mrs. Wilson Sweene, Calla Hill, and Mrs. Margaret Wilhelm, Barrelville.

In all, 38 women have volunteered for Heart Sunday canvassing.

Parking Lot Is Restricted

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Police Department announced that parking restrictions are being applied to the city parking lot located west of Water Street off Mechanic Street.

A survey yesterday disclosed several cars had been parked there for a week or more. Approximately 10 of the cars were owned by employes of business houses and others were from garages.

Police pointed out that the Frostburg Merchants Association requested more parking spaces in town for shoppers, and felt that the parking lot was the first place to start.

Two hour parking will be allowed on the lot between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. weekdays and from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. Saturdays.

There will be no restrictions on Sunday or other hours.

Patrolmen have been instructed to include the lot in their beats and to check all cars. Parking tickets will be issued to violators.

Eckhart Baptist Church Offers Series On Missions

ECKHART — The Eckhart Baptist Church will hold their annual World Vision Mississionary Conference beginning Sunday morning and continuing every evening through March 5. Services will begin each evening at 7:30 and will feature missionary speakers from five different countries. The missionaries will use slides, curios, and exhibits to present the stories of their land.

Rev. Walter S. Jackson will begin the series by speaking at both the 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday services. Rev. Jackson with his wife and children are missionaries from the country of Surinam in South America. They plan to return in April and will be pioneering a new work among primitive Wayana Indians. This tribe is cut off from civilization by 175 miles of dense jungle and have never had the preaching of the gospel. Rev. Jackson will also present special music with his violin.

The schedule for the remainder of the week includes the following speakers and fields, Monday and Tuesday evenings the field will be the land of Mexico and the missionary will be Rev. Morris Shirk.

On Wednesday and Thursday nights Rev. Romyne Strickland will present the work in one of the new Republics of Africa, the Republic of Chad.

The field of Portugal will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings by Rev. Manuel Marques who serves as an evangelist in that land.

The conference will close with Rev. Robert Howell speaking at the Sunday morning and evening services. Rev. Howell, born in Honduras, Central America of English ancestry, returned to that country as a missionary after studying in the United States.

Rev. George Hattenfield, pastor of the Eckhart church announces that all of the services are open to the public.

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Police Department announced that parking restrictions are being applied to the city parking lot located west of Water Street off Mechanic Street.

A survey yesterday disclosed several cars had been parked there for a week or more. Approximately 10 of the cars were owned by employes of business houses and others were from garages.

Police pointed out that the Frostburg Merchants Association requested more parking spaces in town for shoppers, and felt that the parking lot was the first place to start.

Two hour parking will be allowed on the lot between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. weekdays and from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. Saturdays.

There will be no restrictions on Sunday or other hours.

Patrolmen have been instructed to include the lot in their beats and to check all cars. Parking tickets will be issued to violators.

Dean's List Shows 69 With Top Honors

Kathryn Simpson Is Top Student

Eckhart Baptist Church Offers Series On Missions

ECKHART — The Eckhart Baptist Church will hold their annual World Vision Mississionary Conference beginning Sunday morning and continuing every evening through March 5. Services will begin each evening at 7:30 and will feature missionary speakers from five different countries. The missionaries will use slides, curios, and exhibits to present the stories of their land.

Rev. Walter S. Jackson will begin the series by speaking at both the 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday services. Rev. Jackson with his wife and children are missionaries from the country of Surinam in South America. They plan to return in April and will be pioneering a new work among primitive Wayana Indians. This tribe is cut off from civilization by 175 miles of dense jungle and have never had the preaching of the gospel. Rev. Jackson will also present special music with his violin.

The schedule for the remainder of the week includes the following speakers and fields, Monday and Tuesday evenings the field will be the land of Mexico and the missionary will be Rev. Morris Shirk.

On Wednesday and Thursday nights Rev. Romyne Strickland will present the work in one of the new Republics of Africa, the Republic of Chad.

The field of Portugal will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings by Rev. Manuel Marques who serves as an evangelist in that land.

The conference will close with Rev. Robert Howell speaking at the Sunday morning and evening services. Rev. Howell, born in Honduras, Central America of English ancestry, returned to that country as a missionary after studying in the United States.

Rev. George Hattenfield, pastor of the Eckhart church announces that all of the services are open to the public.

Farrady Legion Post Sets Plans For Dinner-Dance

FROSTBURG — Farrady Post 24, American Legion, will hold its annual dinner and dance March 18 at 6 p.m. in the post home, according to Commander Ray Layman.

Charles Meerbaugh, general chairman, and Mrs. Helen Blocher president of the Legion Auxiliary, have announced the following committee members: Ronald Hess, Jacob Seib, Alfred Drew, Donald Adams, William Davis, George Layman, Francis Scarcelli, Ray Layman, Mrs. Blocher, Anna Lee Shanon, Peggy Hess, Marie Cosgrove, Angela Jackson and Thelma Layman.

Gold Star mothers and fathers and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hosken will be guests. Invitation are being sent to state Legion officials, the Mountain District vice commander and all commanders of the Legion posts in the district.

Meerbaugh, who is also chairman of the membership committee, has set a goal of 400 members by March 18.

Frostburg Red Cross Unit Names New Committees

FROSTBURG — Mrs. William S. Jenkins, chairman of Frostburg branch, Red Cross, has announced the appointment of a committee to select a memorial for the late Mrs. J. C. Cobey, former RC leader here.

The committee is comprised of Mrs. Benjamin Hughes, Mrs. Ralph Race and Mrs. Jenkins. Announcement will be made later of the type of memorial proposed.

A disaster committee was also organized by the executive group. Capt. Gerald Reeves of the Maryland National Guard was appointed as chairman. He will work with members of the Motor Corps and the executive committee in forming his organization.

Purpose of the disaster unit is to be ready and to know what to do in case of any kind of emergency in the community.

The Frostburg branch has adopted a set of bylaws to be read yearly at the annual business meeting. The regulations were written under the direction of Mrs. Jenkins and Charles M. Sanner, president of the Allegany County Chapter.

Other members of the executive committee are Mrs. Edward J. Ryan, chairman of the Motor Corps; Mrs. George F. Martens, chairman of the Blood Bank, Mrs. Rudolph Mendelsohn, Mrs. John Ives, Miss Katherine Close and Mrs. Amer Suter.

Lions Bulletin Lists Activities

LONACONING — Simeon H. Hutcheson, president of Lonaconing Lions Club, is also editor of the "By-Lions" news bulletin issued to all members of his club. The bulletin reports on activities being scheduled this Spring.

Robert Robertson, first vice president; Albert Shaffer, second vice president; Raymond Bampton, past president; attended the "Roaring Lions" classes Monday night at Fort Hill High School, Cumberland, as representatives of the local club.

Mr. Hutcheson has tickets for members who will be attending the Ladies Zone social night at the American Legion home, Westernport, March 6 at 7 p. m.

The Lions Club will be allowed four representatives to the District 22 convention at Atlantic City, N. J., from May 24 to May 27.

Two members of the Lions club are attending the Lonaconing Civic Improvement Association meetings held the second Tuesday of each month at the VFW home to plan money-raisinig projects for new street holiday decorations and other civic developments.

Keyser Church Heads To Meet

PIEDMONT — A Massinetta Springs campaign luncheon will be held at the Keyser Presbyterian Church at 12:30 p. m. Thursday, March 2.

It is being held for area pastors, presidents of the Men of the Church and the Women of the Church, chairmen of committees of Christian Education, clerks of Sessions and chairman of the Boards of Deacons.

Elks Arrange Ladies Night

FROSTBURG—Lodge 470 of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will be host to wives of members and their lady friends at a cocktail party Saturday from 9:30 to 10:30 p. m.

Committees have arranged for canapes and beverages to be served without charge.

Arrangements also have been made to provide stereophonic hi-fidelity music in the bar and cocktail lounge for the occasion. The cocktail hour will be followed by dancing.

Officers of the lodge have expressed hope that the affair will mark the beginning of a number of social events throughout the year for Elks' wives and friends.

Water Company Has Election

MT. SAVAGE — Thomas E. Stephens was re-elected president of Mt. Savage Water Company at the annual meeting of the stockholders held Monday in the fire hall.

The meeting was called to order by the president and reports were read and adopted.

It was brought out at the meeting that some members of the water company use a hose to water gardens and lawns and for washing automobiles when the supply is low. This will not be tolerated in the future and if any member continues to use water for such purposes the water will be cut off.

Other officers named were Arthur Kirby, vice president; Frank Mulligan, recording secretary; Miss Martha Reagan, financial secretary and treasurer; George Uhl and Wilbert Logsdon, three-year trustees; Frank Mullaney and John Stevens, two-year trustees, and Raymond Lancaster and Harry Crow, one-year trustees.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Tired? Go Hang Your Head!

Wherever you spend your working day, at home or in the office or shop, long periods of indoor atmosphere are bound to take something out of you. So, whenever clamorous pressure and stuffy air slow you down and make you feel stale, go hang your head! I mean EXACTLY that!

Bend over—and hold that pose a moment—while the blood circulation to the brain is stepped up. When you straighten up, youll be surprised at how much more relaxed and alert you feel.

This is an easy exercise that no woman with normal good health should pass by. (If you have any doubts, be sure to get your doctor's OK). It can be as refreshing as a shower, as revitalizing as a catnap—so, schedule it for the times when you wish you could nap or shower, but can't. During that mid-mornin slump, perhaps—or that sleepy period after lunch or before dinner.

If you can manage the privacy, let your entire body follow your head. Go limp all over, to mimic the boneless attitude of a Raggedy Ann doll. If you find that you can't keep your balance in a standing position, then—lady, be seated! (Keep in mind that sitting with your head thrust forward between your knees is excellent first aid at the first sign of feeling faint.)

Now, then you are at home, you can make even greater headway by combining this refresher with a beauty routine. What an appropriate time for brushing your hair—100 strokes from the roots without cheating—or for massaging your scalp.

How about the calisthenic routines you can perform with your hands and arms while your head is down?

Try swinging your arms slowly from side to side. (As Method actors would say, be a pendulum!) Flex your fingers, twist your wrists, to build up those strength-starved hands. Or, elbows up and akimbo, hold the back of your neck with your hands, and give those muscles in your shoulders, upper back and breasts a good workout, alternately tightening and releasing them.

There are more suggestions to be sampled from my booklet, "Dance Through a Week to Beauty." Just send 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to me, JRP, c/o this newspaper. Please allow two weeks for delivery.

Now, after using your head, a tingling sensation will tell you that tension has been broken. Stand up straight, take three deep lung-filling breaths — and go back to your job with all the new energy you've summoned so simply.

Payments Increase

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Department of Public Assistance said Wednesday that payments to needy West Virginians during January totaled $3,551,082, an increase of $21,000 from December. The largest category was $1,819,939 for aid to dependent children.

Pigeons Doped, Moved

NICE, France (AP)—To permit a thorough cleaning of public buildings and statuary, city officials have decided to put Nice's 10,000 pigeons to sleep with drugged grain and transport them to the countryside.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — One hundred thousand dollars in real money was paid David Merrick by Dino de Laurentiis for the release of Tony Quinn from "Becket" before June 1. Tony then signed a contract with Columbia Pictures for two of their motion pictures.

The first one is "Barrabas," the story of the thief released by Pontius Pilate instead of Christ, and it will be filmed in its entirety in Italy starting in April. Following this he goes to Greece to star in "Holiday" for Carl Foreman, also to be released by Columbia. Richard Fleischer, who will direct "Barrabas," budgeted at $10,000,000, is already in Italy. Agent Milt Grossman, the mastermind behind the deal, just got back from New York on one of the few planes leaving there.

Jose Ferrer is out of directing "The Chapman Report." Jose said from the beginning that unless he could re-write the story his way and make it less offensive, he would not be interested. In fact, he and Dick Zanuck shook hands on the deal and made a gentleman's agreement that if they did not see eye to eye, Jose could withdraw.

I don't see how the story can be cleaned up, and I am very afraid this could well bring censorship on our heads. Having lived through Funkhawser's autocratic cutting of movies in Chicago, I know what this means.

I wish, I wish, I wish Dick Zanuck would not make this picture. But one word from me, and he'll do just as he pleases, as Kubrick and Harris did with "Lolita."

Dorothy Provine hasn't been told by her studio yet, but she will be given permission to star in Frank Sinatra's "X-15" at Warners, after she finishes her work in the TV series "The Roaring 20's."

Dorothy had an ulcerated right eye, but it's improving so rapidly she will be able to attend the Washington press correspondents dinner at which she will sing for President Kennedy. Let's hope by that time the air strike will be settled.

I am not a David Susskind fan, but I must say I throughoutly enjoyed his DuPont TV show of the Month "The Murder of Abraham Lincoln." I cut my eye teeth on Lincoln since my grandmother used to tell me all about him, and I couldn't help but think what an upset this would be to her and all the Lincoln devotees in my home state, Illinois.

Susskind took Theodore Roscoe's story "Web of Conspiracy" which tells of treachery in Lincoln's cabinet, and that is the basis of the TV story. It's treated really as a court trial. I missed the usual scene showing the shooting of Lincoln by John Wilkes Booth. When he leaped on the stage and shouted "sic semper tyrannis" (death to the tyrant) and that was where he was supposed to have broken his leg.

So eager was Ginger Rogers to keep her engagement to Bill Marshall a secret until they were married, that she had her telephone number changed, and gave it to no one but her mother, her secretary, and Bill, of course. Seems she and Bill have been seeing each other much longer than anyone knew. There were reports when she was seen around town with a young actor named Eaton, that this was a serious romance, but she denied it again and again.

I couldn't believe that it was 26 years ago (1935) that she married Lew Ayres. I was at their wedding. Ginger, without a doubt, is the youngest looking woman of her age anywhere. Maybe that's because she doesn't smoke, drink and believes in much exercise. She dances a lot and plays tennis.

Las Vegas soon will be as well known to the world as Monte Carlo was in its heyday. Peter Graves, tall handsome younger brother of "Gunsmoke's" Jim Arness (Matt Dillon) who has been starring in a TV series "Whiplash," was handed a contract for "Las Vegas Beat" to be produced by Goodson-Todman.

All the Vegas hotels will be represented in this hour-long NBC series. Just how this will conflict with Warner Bros., "Las Vegas File," starring Peter Breck, will be answered when the shows are aired. The Warner crowd is in Las Vegas this week filming exteriors and it's my guess they will get their Vegas TV show out first.

Secrets Of Charm

Tired? Go Hang Your Head!

Wherever you spend your working day, at home or in the office or shop, long periods of indoor atmosphere are bound to take something out of you. So, whenever clamorous pressure and stuffy air slow you down and make you feel stale, go hang your head! I mean EXACTLY that!

Bend over—and hold that pose a moment—while the blood circulation to the brain is stepped up. When you straighten up, youll be surprised at how much more relaxed and alert you feel.

This is an easy exercise that no woman with normal good health should pass by. (If you have any doubts, be sure to get your doctor's OK). It can be as refreshing as a shower, as revitalizing as a catnap—so, schedule it for the times when you wish you could nap or shower, but can't. During that mid-mornin slump, perhaps—or that sleepy period after lunch or before dinner.

If you can manage the privacy, let your entire body follow your head. Go limp all over, to mimic the boneless attitude of a Raggedy Ann doll. If you find that you can't keep your balance in a standing position, then—lady, be seated! (Keep in mind that sitting with your head thrust forward between your knees is excellent first aid at the first sign of feeling faint.)

Now, then you are at home, you can make even greater headway by combining this refresher with a beauty routine. What an appropriate time for brushing your hair—100 strokes from the roots without cheating—or for massaging your scalp.

How about the calisthenic routines you can perform with your hands and arms while your head is down?

Try swinging your arms slowly from side to side. (As Method actors would say, be a pendulum!) Flex your fingers, twist your wrists, to build up those strength-starved hands. Or, elbows up and akimbo, hold the back of your neck with your hands, and give those muscles in your shoulders, upper back and breasts a good workout, alternately tightening and releasing them.

There are more suggestions to be sampled from my booklet, "Dance Through a Week to Beauty." Just send 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to me, JRP, c/o this newspaper. Please allow two weeks for delivery.

Now, after using your head, a tingling sensation will tell you that tension has been broken. Stand up straight, take three deep lung-filling breaths — and go back to your job with all the new energy you've summoned so simply.

Payments Increase

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Department of Public Assistance said Wednesday that payments to needy West Virginians during January totaled $3,551,082, an increase of $21,000 from December. The largest category was $1,819,939 for aid to dependent children.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — One hundred thousand dollars in real money was paid David Merrick by Dino de Laurentiis for the release of Tony Quinn from "Becket" before June 1. Tony then signed a contract with Columbia Pictures for two of their motion pictures.

The first one is "Barrabas," the story of the thief released by Pontius Pilate instead of Christ, and it will be filmed in its entirety in Italy starting in April. Following this he goes to Greece to star in "Holiday" for Carl Foreman, also to be released by Columbia. Richard Fleischer, who will direct "Barrabas," budgeted at $10,000,000, is already in Italy. Agent Milt Grossman, the mastermind behind the deal, just got back from New York on one of the few planes leaving there.

Jose Ferrer is out of directing "The Chapman Report." Jose said from the beginning that unless he could re-write the story his way and make it less offensive, he would not be interested. In fact, he and Dick Zanuck shook hands on the deal and made a gentleman's agreement that if they did not see eye to eye, Jose could withdraw.

I don't see how the story can be cleaned up, and I am very afraid this could well bring censorship on our heads. Having lived through Funkhawser's autocratic cutting of movies in Chicago, I know what this means.

I wish, I wish, I wish Dick Zanuck would not make this picture. But one word from me, and he'll do just as he pleases, as Kubrick and Harris did with "Lolita."

Dorothy Provine hasn't been told by her studio yet, but she will be given permission to star in Frank Sinatra's "X-15" at Warners, after she finishes her work in the TV series "The Roaring 20's."

Dorothy had an ulcerated right eye, but it's improving so rapidly she will be able to attend the Washington press correspondents dinner at which she will sing for President Kennedy. Let's hope by that time the air strike will be settled.

I am not a David Susskind fan, but I must say I throughoutly enjoyed his DuPont TV show of the Month "The Murder of Abraham Lincoln." I cut my eye teeth on Lincoln since my grandmother used to tell me all about him, and I couldn't help but think what an upset this would be to her and all the Lincoln devotees in my home state, Illinois.

Susskind took Theodore Roscoe's story "Web of Conspiracy" which tells of treachery in Lincoln's cabinet, and that is the basis of the TV story. It's treated really as a court trial. I missed the usual scene showing the shooting of Lincoln by John Wilkes Booth. When he leaped on the stage and shouted "sic semper tyrannis" (death to the tyrant) and that was where he was supposed to have broken his leg.

So eager was Ginger Rogers to keep her engagement to Bill Marshall a secret until they were married, that she had her telephone number changed, and gave it to no one but her mother, her secretary, and Bill, of course. Seems she and Bill have been seeing each other much longer than anyone knew. There were reports when she was seen around town with a young actor named Eaton, that this was a serious romance, but she denied it again and again.

I couldn't believe that it was 26 years ago (1935) that she married Lew Ayres. I was at their wedding. Ginger, without a doubt, is the youngest looking woman of her age anywhere. Maybe that's because she doesn't smoke, drink and believes in much exercise. She dances a lot and plays tennis.

Las Vegas soon will be as well known to the world as Monte Carlo was in its heyday. Peter Graves, tall handsome younger brother of "Gunsmoke's" Jim Arness (Matt Dillon) who has been starring in a TV series "Whiplash," was handed a contract for "Las Vegas Beat" to be produced by Goodson-Todman.

All the Vegas hotels will be represented in this hour-long NBC series. Just how this will conflict with Warner Bros., "Las Vegas File," starring Peter Breck, will be answered when the shows are aired. The Warner crowd is in Las Vegas this week filming exteriors and it's my guess they will get their Vegas TV show out first.

Elk Garden Victor In Keyser Sectional

Ridgeley Scores In Consolation; Pick Tourney Team

Elk Garden squeezed out a 45-43 decision over Piedmont High's Lions, a team which defeated the Elks twice in regular season competition, to win the Section 13-A championship last night on the Potomac State College boards in Keyser.

Ridgeley High's in-and-out Blackhawks downed the Fort Ashby Eagles, 61-57, in the consolation finale.

Score Tied 9 Times

The score was tied nine times at 2, 17, 21, 25, 31, 33, 34, 36 and 38 as the two teams battled for the right to advance to the Region Four playoffs next week at Potomac State.

Robert Shook's goal put Piedmont ahead for the last time at 40-38 in the final moments of play before a foul by Shillingberg and goals by Paugh and Shillingberg iced the contest for the Elks.

Piedmont dropped the decision at the foul line where the Lions converted 7-9 chances to Elk Garden's 13-19. The Lions had an edge in field goals, 18-16.

Vincent Fagan, all-tourney center for Piedmont, paced the Lions' scorers with 18 points while Shillingberg had 20 for Elk Garden.

In the consolation game Ridgeley led all the way in the rough contest which saw five players ejected on personals. The Hawks won the game on fouls, hitting on 27 of 36 chances to Fort Ashby's 21-33.

Teams Had Split

The two teams had split in regular season play, Ridgeley winning 52-51 and Fort Ashby scoring 69-61.

High scorer for Ridgeley was Del Schoonover with 20 points. Paul Price garnered 23 for the Eagles.

Exiting on personal fouls were Ridgeley's Francis Lambert, an all-tourney selection, and David Imes, and Price, Bob Barnes and Lindley Newcomber of Fort Ashby.

Tournament officials announced the selection of the all-tourney team at the completion of the championship game.

Picked were Fagan of Piedmont, Lambert of Ridgeley, Harold Kerns, Fort Ashby, and Paugh and Mike Burke of Elk Garden. The best cheerleaders represented Ridgeley High School. The lineups:

St. Luke's Five Upsets Presbyterian

St. Luke's Lutheran jolted First Presbyterian's title hopes last night by edging Coach Ced Miller's tossers, 30-29, in the feature of an American Division double-header at Central YMCA in the Sunday School Basketball League.

St. Luke's jumped off to a 10-6 first-quarter lead only to see the losers rally to gain the edge 17-16 at halftime and 23-21 at the close of the third period. The winners outscored First Presbyterian 9-6 in the final stanza to chalk up their seventh win in 16 games. Presbyterian's record now is 14-2.

Yutzy was St. Luke's leading scorer with nine points. High for First Presbyterian was Eyler with 10.

In the nightcap affair Potomac Park downed a scrappy Centre Street Methodist quint, 36-30, to register win No. 5 for the season. They have lost 11 games. Centre Street dropped its 12th decision in 14 starts.

Bayard Cops Section 11-A Crown, 53-43

Whips Mountaineer High In Playoff

Coach Francis Maleonskie's Bayard Tigers blew an early lead then rallied in the final quarter to defeat Mountaineer High of Thomas, 53-43, at Bayard last night, winning the best-of-three playoff series for Section 11-A honors in two straight games.

The triumph advances Bayard to the Region 3 playoffs at Rowlesburg next week where the Tigers will meet the winners of Sections 9, 10 and 12 in the West Virginia Class A tournament.

Pairings for the Region 3 playoffs will be made Sunday at a meeting of officials at Rowlesburg. The tournament semi-finals are scheduled to open Friday, March 3 and the championship game will be played Saturday, March 4.

Bayard hopped off to a 16-7 first-quarter lead and retained the margin at halftime, 26-18. Mountaineer, which lost the opener at Thomas, 62-46, bounced back to go ahead, 34-33, at the end of the third period.

Bayard's Lonnie Kuhn and Wayne Hawk collaborated to pace the Tigers' last-period drive which netted 20 points and the victory. Bayard went ahead 36-35 and steadily increased its margin thereafter to clinch the sectional title.

Kuhn poured in 23 points and Hawk added 15 for Bayard while Henry Eliza tallied 18 in a losing cause for Mountaineer.

Bobcats Top Waynesburg

Frostburg State Scores 87-75 Win

Paced by George Lauder, who scored 24 points on six field goals and 12-14 fouls, Frostburg State Teachers College defeated Waynesburg (Pa.) College's Yellowjackets last night at Frostburg by the score of 87-75.

The victory was the 7th in 19 starts for Coach Ron Van Rysywyk's Bobcats. Waynesburg suffered its 16th loss against three victories.

Waynesburg held a 38-37 lead at halftime and it was a see-saw affair until early in the second half when two free throws by Ronald "Butch" Young put the Bobcats ahead to stay at 48-47.

Hank Winner scored 19 points for the winners and snared 15 rebounds. Geoff Whitmore scored 12 of his 16 points in the first half and had 12 rebounds while Lauder had 15 rebounds. Young collected 16 points.

Jack Barclay, 6-foot-5 forward, poured in 24 points for Waynesburg on 10 goals and 4-6 fouls. Bill Eloshway contributed 14 tallies and John Freilino garnered eleven.

Gaels Upset CYO Leaders

SS. Peter & Paul Is Stopped, 52-48

St. Mary's Gaels handed SS. Peter & Paul its first defeat of the second half race of the Catholic Youth League by winning last night at SS. Peter & Paul gym by the score of 52-48.

The setback gave SS. Peter & Paul a 5-1 record but failed to knock them out of first place.

Jim Hudson scored 20 points for the Gaels while Lueck and Perlozzo excelled with their ball-hawking. Larry Becker tossed in 18 points for the losers.

St. Peter's, Westernport, paced by Larry Patterson and Pat Ryan, who scored 18 points each, made its record 5-2 in the runner-up spot by whipping St. Patrick's, of Mt. Savage, 44-42. George Shaffer led the losers with 10 tallies.

St. Michael's, Frostburg, downed St. Patrick's, Cumberland, 59-23, to make its record 4-2. Garry Sittig and Bobby Seibert scored 16 and 14 points for the Frostburg quint.

Elks Defeat Piedmont For Title, 45-43

Ridgeley Scores In Consolation; Pick Tourney Team

Elk Garden squeezed out a 45-43 decision over Piedmont High's Lions, a team which defeated the Elks twice in regular season competition, to win the Section 13-A championship last night on the Potomac State College boards in Keyser.

Ridgeley High's in-and-out Blackhawks downed the Fort Ashby Eagles, 61-57, in the consolation finale.

Score Tied 9 Times

The score was tied nine times at 2, 17, 21, 25, 31, 33, 34, 36 and 38 as the two teams battled for the right to advance to the Region Four playoffs next week at Potomac State.

Robert Shook's goal put Piedmont ahead for the last time at 40-38 in the final moments of play before a foul by Shillingberg and goals by Paugh and Shillingberg iced the contest for the Elks.

Piedmont dropped the decision at the foul line where the Lions converted 7-9 chances to Elk Garden's 13-19. The Lions had an edge in field goals, 18-16.

Vincent Fagan, all-tourney center for Piedmont, paced the Lions' scorers with 18 points while Shillingberg had 20 for Elk Garden.

In the consolation game Ridgeley led all the way in the rough contest which saw five players ejected on personals. The Hawks won the game on fouls, hitting on 27 of 36 chances to Fort Ashby's 21-33.

Teams Had Split

The two teams had split in regular season play, Ridgeley winning 52-51 and Fort Ashby scoring 69-61.

High scorer for Ridgeley was Del Schoonover with 20 points. Paul Price garnered 23 for the Eagles.

Exiting on personal fouls were Ridgeley's Francis Lambert, an all-tourney selection, and David Imes, and Price. Bob Barnes and Lindley Newcomber of Fort Ashby.

Tournament officials announced the selection of the all-tourney team at the completion of the championship game.

Bayard Cops Section 11-A Crown, 53-43

Whips Mountaineer High In Playoff

Coach Francis Maleonskie's Bayard Tigers blew an early lead then rallied in the final quarter to defeat Mountaineer High of Thomas, 53-43, at Bayard last night, winning the best-of-three playoff series for Section 11-A honors in two straight games.

The triumph advances Bayard to the Region 3 playoffs at Rowlesburg next week where the Tigers will meet the winners of Sections 9, 10 and 12 in the West Virginia Class A tournament.

Pairings for the Region 3 playoffs will be made Sunday at a meeting of officials at Rowlesburg. The tournament semi-finals are scheduled to open Friday, March 3 and the championship game will be played Saturday, March 4.

Bayard hopped off to a 16-7 first-quarter lead and retained the margin at halftime, 26-18. Mountaineer, which lost the opener at Thomas, 62-46, bounced back to go ahead, 34-33, at the end of the third period.

Bayard's Lonnie Kuhn and Wayne Hawk collaborated to pace the Tigers' last-period drive which netted 20 points and the victory. Bayard went ahead 36-35 and steadily increased its margin thereafter to clinch the sectional title.

Kuhn poured in 23 points and Hawk added 15 for Bayard while Henry Elza tallied 18 in a losing cause for Mountaineer.

Tri-State Jr. College Tourney Opens Today At Keyser

Catamounts Will Battle Catonsville

Defending Champs In 9 P.M. Contest; Four Tilts Listed

Potomac State College's defending champions will tackle Catonsville in the opening round of the Tri-State Junior College Conference tonight at 9 p.m., at Keyser.

This will be the final of four first round games slated in the fourth annual tournament.

In the afternoon contests Prince Georges of Suitland, Md., faces Charles County of LaPlata, at 1 o'clock and Harford, of Bel Air, opposes Shenandoah, of Winchester, Va., at 3 o'clock.

Montgomery, of Takoma Park, Md., tangles with Baltimore Junior College in the first of two night games at 7 o'clock.

Semi-finals are billed for Saturday at 10 and 11:45 a.m., while the championship game at 8:30 will be preceded by a consolation tilt at 6:30.

Over four seasons Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's Catamounts own a 26-3 record against conference opponents. In the three past tournaments held at Takoma Park, Hagerstown and Suitland the Catamounts had a 7-2 record. Potomac swept three games to win last year's tourney at Suitland High School. The Keyser school lost out in the finals to Hagerstown in 1958 and to Montgomery in 1959.

Potomac won the regular season title with a 9-1 record. Prince Georges was runner-up with 15-2 and Montgomery finished in third place with 13-2.

Carry Back, Crozier Are Horses To Beat In Flamingo Stakes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Owners and trainers agreed Thursday that Carry Back and Crozier are the horses to beat in Saturday's $100,000 added Flamingo Stakes, the season's first big test for derby age colts.

However, he conceded that Fred W. Hooper's Crozier, third choice at 3-1 could take top money.

Bobsled Races Off

LAKE PLACID, N. Y. (UPI)—The North American AAU Bobsled Championships scheduled here this weekend were called off Thursday because of lack of snow a Chamber of Commerce spokesman said.

The spokesman also said the state Commerce Department has ordered the Mt. Van Hoevenberg Olympic Bobrun closed for the season for the same reason.

Rusty Callow, Rowing Coach, Taken By Death

Tutored Penn, Navy, Washington Crews

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Russell S. (Rusty) Callow, famed collegiate and Olympic rowing coach, died of a heart attack Wednesday night at the age of 70.

Death came to Callow in his sleep at a Phoenix resort, where he was spending a month's vacation with his wife, Dorothy. He had been in ill health for several years.

A University of Washington graduate, he was captain of its crew in 1915, then served as coach from 1922 to 1928, winning three national championships.

He then went to the University of Pennsylvania, where in a 22-year stay he tutored the only two oarsmen ever to win the Amateur Athletic Union's coveted Sullivan Award.

They were Jack Kelly and Joe Burk, present Penn rowing coach, both winners in the Diamond Sculls at Henley-on-the-Thames.

Callow, an Olympic coach for 20 of his 37 years in the profession, accepted the rowing post at the U. S. Naval Academy in 1950 and remained there until his retirement in 1959.

Callow's Navy crews made a clean sweep of the 1952 Olympics and his eight-oared crew went on to ring up a collegiate record of 31 straight victories.

Survivors include his wife and two sons — Keith, a Seattle lawyer, and Gordon of Washington, D. C. The body will be sent to Seattle for services and burial.

Drake Enters Meet

NEW YORK (AP)—Drake University has entered a mile relay team in the Knights of Columbus meet at Madison Square Garden March 3.

Directors of the event said Thursday the Drake runners, who recently won their specialty in the Michigan State Relays in 3:18.3, were paying their own way to come East and challenge Morgan State, Villanova and New York University.

Final Game

Feb. 27—Fort Hill at Valley

Beall High School's Mountaineers routed the Bruce High School Bulldogs by the score of 74-49 last night at Westernport and finished in second place in the W.M.I. League with a 7-3 record.

It marked the fourth time in five games that Bruce had gone down to defeat in a league game on its home floor. Bruce won at Beall on January 6 by the score of 54-52.

The loss dropped the Bulldogs, County Class B champions, into third place, a half game in front of Fort Hill which winds up its league campaign at Valley on Monday.

Playing without the services of Earl Riggleman, regular center, who was ill, Bruce trailed at the quarters, 14-8, 36-21 and 55-35. The score was knotted at 2-2 and 4-4 in the first period.

Bruce was playing its third game in four days. The Bulldogs defeated Mt. Savage on Monday and lost to Keyser Wednesday night.

Bill Wiltison, Bruce guard, sewed up the individual scoring championship of the league for the 1961 season by dumping in 21 points on eight goals and 5-6 fouls to up his season total to 215 points. Ken McDowell scored 15 points for the losers.

Jim Evans, Beall forward, took over the runner-up spot in the W.M.I. scoring race by ringing up 31 points on 14 field goals and 3-4 fouls to soar his 10-game total to 184. Allen Eisel and Marshall Hamilton registered 11 points each and Wayne Metz collected ten.

Moorefield, Wardensville Sectionals To Open Today

Winners In Class A Finals Saturday Go To Regional Event

Wardensville and Moorefield in Hardy county will play host to West Virginia sectional basketball tournaments tonight.

Four schools from Hardy and Pendleton counties will vie in Class A-14 event at Moorefield High School and four teams from Hardy, Hampshire and Morgan counties will compete in the Class A-15 games at Wardensville High School.

Moorefield Pairings

Opening round games today at Moorefield finds Mathias (4-16) tackling Franklin (7-12) at 7 o'clock while Moorefield (15-6) will meet Circleville (4-16) at 8:30 o'clock.

Franklin has beaten Mathias twice this season, 69-48 and 74-55 while Moorefield holds three decisions over Circleville, beating the Indians in the Petersburg Holiday tourney, 62-57, and during the regular season, 106-67 and 84-71.

The championship game is billed for Saturday at 8:30 and will be preceded by the consolation contest at 7.

John Mathias is director of the tourney. Larry Patterson and John Fox will officiate.

Wardensville Games

Wardensville (9-9) will play West Virginia School for the Deaf (8-12) in the 7:30 opening game at Wardensville. Capon Bridge (5-11) will face Paw Paw's Pirates (11-8) at 9 o'clock.

Wardensville's Warriors split even with the Lions from Romney, winning 60-57, and losing 60-55. Paw Paw and Capon Bridge will be meeting for the first time this season.

The championship game is set for Saturday at 9 o'clock after the 7:30 consolation tilt.

Ervin Emswiler is director of the tourney.

Mason-Dixon Tourney Pairings Are Announced

BALTIMORE (AP)—Officials of the Mason - Dixon Conference Thursday announced pairings for the first round of its annual tournament to be held Saturday at three sites.

At Bridgewater: 7 p.m., American University (3) vs. Lynchburg (6). 9 p.m., Roanoke (4) vs. Bridgewater (5).

At Randolph - Macon: 7 p.m., Randolph-Macon (2) vs. Hampden-Sydney (7). 9 p. m., Catholic University (1) vs. Gallaudet (8).

Dawn Fraser 5th In 880-Yard Race

Miss Fraser, who earlier had captured the 400-and 100-meter titles, finished a fading fifth in the 880-yard race, won by 17-year-old Jan Paine.

Pollard Gets Chicago Post

Former Laker To Coach NBA Entry

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Pollard, once a ballhawk for the Minneapolis Lakers, Thursday was named coach of Chicago's new entry in the National Basketball Association.

A six-time, all-NBA star, Pollard was given a two-year contract of about $20,000 per year to direct the NBA's second attempt to make a go in Chicago. The team will make its debut next season.

"I'm a basketball nut, I guess," Pollard said at his Chicago unveiling.

Pollard's Chicagoans will try to succeed where the NBA's Chicago Stags failed a decade ago—and also face a boxoffice battle with a Chicago entry in Abe Saperstein's proposed American Basketball Association, also starting next season.

Pollard, 38, quit as a pro player in 1955, brings with him some coaching experience. That includes three winning seasons (1956-57-58) as mentor of Philadelphia's La Salle College and bossing the Lakers as they finished their Minneapolis history in 1960. This season, the Lakers are the NBA's Los Angeles contender.

Pollard's appointment was announced by Dave Trager, insurance executive who heads the group owning the new Chicago NBA club.

West Liberty Cops Opener Of Series

WEST LIBERTY, W. Va. (UPI) — Gene Franke and George Niggemyer each scored 18 points to spearhead West Liberty in a blistering second half comeback that overhauled West Virginia State 78-74 Thursday night in the opening game of the District 28 NAIA playoff.

West Liberty thus took a 1-0 lead in a best-of-three series to decide who will represent West Virginia in the national NAIA tournament in Kanasas City. The second game of the series will be at Institute Tuesday.

Old Germans, Wilson's Win

Boal's Tossers Top Forty & Eight Club

The Old Germans defeated the K. of C., 67-56, and Wilson Hardware won over Roseland, 76-56, last night at Fort Hill High School and remained tied for first place in the second half race of the City Basketball League with 3-0 records.

The win was the 12th for the undefeated Old Germans this season.

Maryland All-Stars Play YMCA Varsity March 11

Kiwanians Sponsor Basketball Game At Allegany Gym

Cumberland's Central YMCA varsity basketball team will host the Maryland College All-Stars on Saturday, March 11, at Allegany High School gym in the second annual benefit contest sponsored by the Kiwanis Club for deserving children.

Lloyd Fox, president of the Kiwanis organization, said the program will include a week-end of festivities beginning Friday night and will conclude with the basketball game at 8 o'clock Saturday evening.

The visiting all-star aggregation will feature outstanding college players from the Naval Academy, Mount St. Mary's, Western Maryland, Johns Hopkins University, Washington College, Towson State, Frostburg State, Loyola College, University of Maryland and the University of Baltimore.

Activities will begin Friday, March 10, with a dinner for the visiting college players. A practice session will be held for the all-stars followed by a dance at Central YMCA in honor of the visitors.

Saturday morning a tour of the city and its major industries is on tap plus luncheon with civic officials. The all-stars will have the afternoon free prior to the feature game Saturday evening.

The committee on arrangements includes Paul W. Barnett, chairman; William H. Macy, Albert D. Darby, Wallace E. Dow, Norman Messman and Edward V. Welsh, the Kiwanis president said.

Last year the college all-stars included five team captains and three of the four high-point men in the Mason-Dixon Conference. The group was coached by the athletic director and basketball mentor of Loyola College.

Personnel for this year's team will be selected by team coaches at the conclusion of the regular basketball season.

The Kiwanis club hopes to provide area fans with an opportunity to see the best Maryland college basketball players each year handled by the leading coach of the state.

Selection of players and the team's coach will be announced later, Fox stated.

Doherty Is Named Coach At Loyola

BALTIMORE (AP) — Edward (Nap) Doherty, 30, a 1953 graduate of Loyola College, Thursday was named to succeed Emil G. (Letty) Reitz Jr. as basketball coach at the Baltimore school.

Doherty has been Loyola's assistant hardwood coach for four years. Reitz, 51, will continue as Loyola's athletic director and baseball coach after a 23-year career as basketball coach for the Greyhounds.

Montgomery, of Takoma Park, Md., tangles with Baltimore Junior College in the first of two night games at 7 o'clock.

Semi-finals are billed for Saturday at 10 and 11:45 a.m., while the championship game at 8:30 will be preceded by a consolation tilt at 6:30.

Over four seasons Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's Catamounts own a 26-3 record against conference opponents. In the three past tournaments held at Takoma Park, Hagerstown and Suitland the Catamounts had a 7-2 record. Potomac swept three games to win last year's tourney at Suitland High School. The Keyser school lost out in the finals to Hagerstown in 1958 and to Montgomery in 1959.

Potomac won the regular season title with a 9-1 record. Prince Georges was runner-up with 15-2 and Montgomery finished in third place with 13-2.

Carry Back, Crozier Are Horses To Beat In Flamingo Stakes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Owners and trainers agreed Thursday that Carry Back and Crozier are the horses to beat in Saturday's $100,000 added Flamingo Stakes, the season's first big test for derby age colts.

However, he conceded that Fred W. Hooper's Crozier, third choice at 3-1 could take top money.

Bobsled Races Off

LAKE PLACID, N. Y. (UPI)—The North American AAU Bobsled Championships scheduled here this weekend were called off Thursday because of lack of snow a Chamber of Commerce spokesman said.

The spokesman also said the state Commerce Department has ordered the Mt. Van Hoevenberg Olympic Bobrun closed for the season for the same reason.

Rusty Callow, Rowing Coach, Taken By Death

Tutored Penn, Navy, Washington Crews

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Russell S. (Rusty) Callow, famed collegiate and Olympic rowing coach, died of a heart attack Wednesday night at the age of 70.

Death came to Callow in his sleep at a Phoenix resort, where he was spending a month's vacation with his wife, Dorothy. He had been in ill health for several years.

A University of Washington graduate, he was captain of its crew in 1915, then served as coach from 1922 to 1928, winning three national championships.

He then went to the University of Pennsylvania, where in a 22-year stay he tutored the only two oarsmen ever to win the Amateur Athletic Union's coveted Sullivan Award.

They were Jack Kelly and Joe Burk, present Penn rowing coach, both winners in the Diamond Sculls at Henley-on-the-Thames.

Callow, an Olympic coach for 20 of his 37 years in the profession, accepted the rowing post at the U. S. Naval Academy in 1950 and remained there until his retirement in 1959.

Callow's Navy crews made a clean sweep of the 1952 Olympics and his eight-oared crew went on to ring up a collegiate record of 31 straight victories.

Survivors include his wife and two sons — Keith, a Seattle lawyer, and Gordon of Washington, D. C. The body will be sent to Seattle for services and burial.

Drake Enters Meet

Directors of the event said Thursday the Drake runners, who recently won their specialty in the Michigan State Relays in 3:18.3, were paying their own way to come East and challenge Morgan State, Villanova and New York University.

Feb. 27—Fort Hill at Valley

Beall High School's Mountaineers routed the Bruce High School Bulldogs by the score of 74-49 last night at Westernport and finished in second place in the W.M.I. League with a 7-3 record.

It marked the fourth time in five games that Bruce had gone down to defeat in a league game on its home floor. Bruce won at Beall on January 6 by the score of 54-52.

The loss dropped the Bulldogs, County Class B champions, into third place, a half game in front of Fort Hill which winds up its league campaign at Valley on Monday.

Playing without the services of Earl Riggleman, regular center, who was ill, Bruce trailed at the quarters, 14-8, 36-21 and 55-35. The score was knotted at 2-2 and 4-4 in the first period.

Bruce was playing its third game in four days. The Bulldogs defeated Mt. Savage on Monday and lost to Keyser Wednesday night.

Bill Wiltison, Bruce guard, sewed up the individual scoring championship of the league for the 1961 season by dumping in 21 points on eight goals and 5-6 fouls to up his season total to 215 points. Ken McDowell scored 15 points for the losers.

Jim Evans, Beall forward, took over the runner-up spot in the W.M.I. scoring race by ringing up 31 points on 14 field goals and 3-4 fouls to soar his 10-game total to 184. Allen Eisel and Marshall Hamilton registered 11 points each and Wayne Metz collected ten.

Moorefield, Wardensville Sectionals To Open Today

Winners In Class A Finals Saturday Go To Regional Event

Wardensville and Moorefield in Hardy county will play host to West Virginia sectional basketball tournaments tonight.

Four schools from Hardy and Pendleton counties will vie in Class A-14 event at Moorefield High School and four teams from Hardy, Hampshire and Morgan counties will compete in the Class A-15 games at Wardensville High School.

Moorefield Pairings

Opening round games today at Moorefield finds Mathias (4-16) tackling Franklin (7-12) at 7 o'clock while Moorefield (15-6) will meet Circleville (4-16) at 8:30 o'clock.

Franklin has beaten Mathias twice this season, 69-48 and 74-55 while Moorefield holds three decisions over Circleville, beating the Indians in the Petersburg Holiday tourney, 62-57, and during the regular season, 106-67 and 84-71.

The championship game is billed for Saturday at 8:30 and will be preceded by the consolation contest at 7.

John Mathias is director of the tourney. Larry Patterson and John Fox will officiate.

Wardensville Games

Wardensville (9-9) will play West Virginia School for the Deaf (8-12) in the 7:30 opening game at Wardensville. Capon Bridge (5-11) will face Paw Paw's Pirates (11-8) at 9 o'clock.

Wardensville's Warriors split even with the Lions from Romney, winning 60-57, and losing 60-55. Paw Paw and Capon Bridge will be meeting for the first time this season.

The championship game is set for Saturday at 9 o'clock after the 7:30 consolation tilt.

Ervin Emswiler is director of the tourney.

Mason-Dixon Tourney Pairings Are Announced

BALTIMORE (AP)—Officials of the Mason - Dixon Conference Thursday announced pairings for the first round of its annual tournament to be held Saturday at three sites.

At Randolph - Macon: 7 p.m., Randolph-Macon (2) vs. Hampden-Sydney (7). 9 p. m., Catholic University (1) vs. Gallaudet (8).

Dawn Fraser 5th In 880-Yard Race

Miss Fraser, who earlier had captured the 400-and 100-meter titles, finished a fading fifth in the 880-yard race, won by 17-year-old Jan Paine.

Pollard Gets Chicago Post

Former Laker To Coach NBA Entry

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Pollard, once a ballhawk for the Minneapolis Lakers, Thursday was named coach of Chicago's new entry in the National Basketball Association.

A six-time, all-NBA star, Pollard was given a two-year contract of about $20,000 per year to direct the NBA's second attempt to make a go in Chicago. The team will make its debut next season.

"I'm a basketball nut, I guess," Pollard said at his Chicago unveiling.

Pollard's Chicagoans will try to succeed where the NBA's Chicago Stags failed a decade ago—and also face a boxoffice battle with a Chicago entry in Abe Saperstein's proposed American Basketball Association, also starting next season.

Pollard, 38, quit as a pro player in 1955, brings with him some coaching experience. That includes three winning seasons (1956-57-58) as mentor of Philadelphia's La Salle College and bossing the Lakers as they finished their Minneapolis history in 1960. This season, the Lakers are the NBA's Los Angeles contender.

Pollard's appointment was announced by Dave Trager, insurance executive who heads the group owning the new Chicago NBA club.

West Liberty Cops Opener Of Series

WEST LIBERTY, W. Va. (UPI) — Gene Franke and George Niggemyer each scored 18 points to spearhead West Liberty in a blistering second half comeback that overhauled West Virginia State 78-74 Thursday night in the opening game of the District 28 NAIA playoff.

West Liberty thus took a 1-0 lead in a best-of-three series to decide who will represent West Virginia in the national NAIA tournament in Kanasas City. The second game of the series will be at Institute Tuesday.

Old Germans, Wilson's Win

Boal's Tossers Top Forty & Eight Club

The Old Germans defeated the K. of C., 67-56, and Wilson Hardware won over Roseland, 76-56, last night at Fort Hill High School and remained tied for first place in the second half race of the City Basketball League with 3-0 records.

The win was the 12th for the undefeated Old Germans this season.

Kiwanians Sponsor Basketball Game At Allegany Gym

Cumberland's Central YMCA varsity basketball team will host the Maryland College All-Stars on Saturday, March 11, at Allegany High School gym in the second annual benefit contest sponsored by the Kiwanis Club for deserving children.

Lloyd Fox, president of the Kiwanis organization, said the program will include a week-end of festivities beginning Friday night and will conclude with the basketball game at 8 o'clock Saturday evening.

The visiting all-star aggregation will feature outstanding college players from the Naval Academy, Mount St. Mary's, Western Maryland, Johns Hopkins University, Washington College, Towson State, Frostburg State, Loyola College, University of Maryland and the University of Baltimore.

Activities will begin Friday, March 10, with a dinner for the visiting college players. A practice session will be held for the all-stars followed by a dance at Central YMCA in honor of the visitors.

Saturday morning a tour of the city and its major industries is on tap plus luncheon with civic officials. The all-stars will have the afternoon free prior to the feature game Saturday evening.

The committee on arrangements includes Paul W. Barnett, chairman; William H. Macy, Albert D. Darby, Wallace E. Dow, Norman Messman and Edward V. Welsh, the Kiwanis president said.

Last year the college all-stars included five team captains and three of the four high-point men in the Mason-Dixon Conference. The group was coached by the athletic director and basketball mentor of Loyola College.

Personnel for this year's team will be selected by team coaches at the conclusion of the regular basketball season.

The Kiwanis club hopes to provide area fans with an opportunity to see the best Maryland college basketball players each year handled by the leading coach of the state.

Selection of players and the team's coach will be announced later, Fox stated.

Doherty Is Named Coach At Loyola

BALTIMORE (AP) — Edward (Nap) Doherty, 30, a 1953 graduate of Loyola College, Thursday was named to succeed Emil G. (Lefty) Reitz Jr. as basketball coach at the Baltimore school.

Doherty has been Loyola's assistant hardwood coach for four years. Reitz, 51, will continue as Loyola's athletic director and baseball coach after a 23-year career as basketball coach for the Greyhounds.

LaSalle Gets City Title Shot At Allegany Tonight

Explorers Need Victory To Tie For Championship

Fort Hill To Host Rebels; Flintstone To Invade Oldtown

LaSalle puts a 10-game home floor winning streak on the line when it engages Allegany High School's Campers tonight in a game the Explorers must win to tie the Campobello quint for city championship honors.

Coach Chet Payne's quint will be gunning for its third title within a week. The Campers have sewed up the W.M.I. League championship with an 8-2 record and captured Allegany county Class A laurels by sweeping their two-game series with Fort Hill. The West Siders have won their last four games and they are 14-6 for the season.

Campers Won First, 57-55

Allegany captured the first game of the series from the Explorers in a 57-55 hair-raiser and leads the city race with a 3-0 record. LaSalle is 2-1 and Fort Hill is 0-4.

Coach George Geatz's team is the winningest high school quint in the tri-state area this season with 19 victories and three losses. The Explorers are unbeaten at home and 9-3 away where they lost to Pittsburgh Catholic Central, 60-53, Allegany and Beall 73-71. They have won their last six contests. Last season LaSalle made a four-game sweep to annex the city championship.

Tonight's game is the 81st of the series between the city schools. Allegany leads in wins 50 to 30.

Rebels At Fort Hill

Another topnotch attraction is slated tonight at Fort Hill where the Sentinels will clash with Nick Scallion's classy South High School Rebels of Hagerstown.

The Rebs come here with a 17-2 record and their only losses came at the hands of Martinsburg. It was at Fort Hill that Martinsburg, now 17-1, suffered its only defeat on February 13 when Coach Jim Eckard's team cracked the Bulldogs' 14-game victory skein, 85-79.

South High decisioned Fort Hill in the first game in the Hub City, 63-49. The Sentinels take an 8-8 record into tonight's game.

Class C Title At Stake

If Flintstone sweeps the series it will qualify for the district tourney. An Oldtown victory will tie up the series at one-all and will mean a playoff game for the championship. Flintstone won the first game 49-42.

The Aggies have won six and lost seven while Oldtown's record to date is 5-14.

Hyndman High School winds up its season in the Bedford County League by playing the newly crowned champions, Tussey Mountain High School, at Saxton. The Hornets' league record is 2-6. Tussey won the series opener, 65-57.

All Reserve Seat Tickets Sold For City Game Tonight

Standing room only tickets may be purchased at the door for tonight's game at SS. Peter & Paul gymnasium between LaSalle and Allegany, it was announced last night by Brother Thomas, LaSalle athletic director.

All reserve seat tickets were sold out last evening.

166 Golfers Vie In Baton Rouge Open Tourney

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Defending champion Arnold Palmer and 165 other professional and amateur golfers warmed up Thursday for the $20,000 Baton Rouge Open under bright sunshine.

The course at Sherwood Forest Country Club, local pro Johnny Whitten said, "is playing real good today and should play beautiful by tomorrow. Where we were wading around in water before, there is no water at all today."

There are 153 pros and 13 amateurs entered in the tournament.

It begins Friday a day late, because players wanted a chance to practice on the 6,700-yard, par 70 layout after heavy rains soaked the closed course for a week.

Catholic Quints Meet At Allegany In Title Battle

The first half championship of the Catholic Youth Basketball League will be at stake today when St. Michael's of Frostburg does battle with SS. Peter & Paul of Cumberland in a playoff game at Allegany High School at 6:15 p. m.

These teams wound up their first half schedules with 8-2 records. They met twice with St. Michael's taking the first game at Frostburg, 28-21, while SS. Peter & Paul squared accounts by winning here, 35-29.

"Chick" Snider and "Spike" Herboldsheimer will officiate.

Liston, Johnson To Fight June 8

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Manager Marv Jenson said Thursday that a heavyweight bout between Young Jack Johnson and Sonny Liston is "all set" for June 8 at Miami Beach.

Jenson, who is here with NBA middleweight champion Gene Fulmer, said the fight would be held in the Civic Auditorium, but would make no other comment.

Liston currently is listed as the No. 1 contender for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight crown. Johnson, former California heavyweight champion, defeated German Billy Besmanoff in his last outing.

Tom Bean, Barton Native, Voted Into Michigan's Hall Of Fame

Coached Royal Oak St. Mary's Teams For Thirty Years

A native of Barton, who has coached high school teams for 30 years in the Wolverine State, will be installed in the Michigan High School Coaches Hall of Fame, March 25, according to an article in The Daily Tribune of Royal Oak.

Thomas Bean, veteran St. Mary Royal Oak High School athletic director and coach, is one of 12 veteran state high school sports figures who will be honored at the annual coaches' banquet at Kellogg Center, East Lansing, at state basketball tournament time.

The group will be awarded plaques and will be introduced between halves of the Class A final in Jenison Fieldhouse.

Coached For 30 Years

The 64-year-old Bean has been on the job at St. Mary's for nearly 30 years and has coached all three of the school's prep sports, most of the time handling the Irish basketball and baseball teams. He also has coached the school's entries in CYO grade school sports, and is still active in that capacity.

Bean gave up prep duties three years ago with the exception of 1957 baseball when he filled a vacancy long enough to guide the Irish to a Second Division Suburban League title.

It was one of the numerous titles the Irish won under Bean, both in prep and CYO sports.

Won 8 Baseball Titles

Probably his most successful record came in baseball with eight league titles and two Catholic city

championships in 1943 and 1950.

Bean's basketball teams were strong local representatives in the Suburban League races and reached their greatest heights in 1949-50 and 1950-51 with successive titles.

The Irish enjoyed unusual success in football in the mid-40's, too, when Bean served as assistant.

The Daily Tribune says:

"Bean always accepted titles with a minimum of fanfare and went to work quietly on his next team, looking back on a banner year almost as if it were another so-so season.

"It is with this same quiet acceptance he is regarding Hall of Fame status."

Headed Barton Teams

Tom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Bean, and was born at Barton where he coached and managed independent teams in the 1920s. He makes his home at Royal Oak with his sister, Miss Margaret Bean. His brother Frank Bean is a resident of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Carrie Bean resides at Barton.

Pen-Mar League To Meet Sunday

The Pen-Mar Baseball League will hold a reorganization meeting at 2 p.m., Sunday, February 26 at Melody Manor, Barrelville.

Officers will be elected and plans for the coming season will be discussed.

Barrelville was the pennant and playoff winner in 1960. Other teams were Hyndman, Centerville and Salisbury, Pa., Moorefield, W. Va., Mt. Savage, Frostburg and Flintstone, Md.

Any club desiring to obtain a franchise in the league is requested to have a representative at this meeting.

LaSalle Gets City Title Shot At Allegany Tonight

Explorers Need Victory To Tie For Championship

Fort Hill To Host Rebels; Flintstone To Invade Oldtown

LaSalle puts a 10-game home floor winning streak on the line when it engages Allegany High School's Campers tonight in a game the Explorers must win to tie the Campobello quint for city championship honors.

Coach Chet Payne's quint will be gunning for its third title within a week. The Campers have sewed up the W.M.I. League championship with an 8-2 record and captured Allegany county Class A laurels by sweeping their two-game series with Fort Hill. The West Siders have won their last four games and they are 14-6 for the season.

Campers Won First, 57-55

Allegany captured the first game of the series from the Explorers in a 57-55 hair-raiser and leads the city race with a 3-0 record. LaSalle is 2-1 and Fort Hill is 0-4.

Coach George Geatz's team is the winningest high school quint in the tri-state area this season with 19 victories and three losses. The Explorers are unbeaten at home and 9-3 away where they lost to Pittsburgh Catholic Central, 60-53, Allegany and Beall 73-71. They have won their last six contests. Last season LaSalle made a four-game sweep to annex the city championship.

Tonight's game is the 81st of the series between the city schools. Allegany leads in wins 50 to 30.

Rebels At Fort Hill

Another topnotch attraction is slated tonight at Fort Hill where the Sentinels will clash with Nick Scallion's classy South High School Rebels of Hagerstown.

The Rebs come here with a 17-2 record and their only losses came at the hands of Martinsburg. It was at Fort Hill that Martinsburg, now 17-1, suffered its only defeat on February 13 when Coach Jim Eckard's team cracked the Bulldogs' 14-game victory skein, 35-79.

South High decisioned Fort Hill in the first game in the Hub City, 63-49. The Sentinels take an 8-8 record into tonight's game.

Class C Title At Stake

Allegany county's Class C title is at stake tonight when Orville "Stony" Jackson's Flintstone Aggies face Ronnie Kellough's Oldtown High cagers on the latter's court.

If Flintstone sweeps the series it will qualify for the district tourney. An Oldtown victory will tie up the series at one-all and will mean a playoff game for the championship. Flintstone won the first game 49-42.

The Aggies have won six and lost seven while Oldtown's record to date is 5-14.

Hyndman High School winds up its season in the Bedford County League by playing the newly crowned champions, Tussey Mountain High School, at Saxton. The Hornets' league record is 2-6. Tussey won the series opener, 65-57.

All Reserve Seat Tickets Sold For City Game Tonight

Standing room only tickets may be purchased at the door for tonight's game at SS. Peter & Paul gymnasium between LaSalle and Allegany, it was announced last night by Brother Thomas, LaSalle athletic director.

All reserve seat tickets were sold out last evening.

166 Golfers Vie In Baton Rouge Open Tourney

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Defending champion Arnold Palmer and 165 other professional and amateur golfers warmed up Thursday for the $20,000 Baton Rouge Open under bright sunshine.

The course at Sherwood Forest Country Club, local pro Johnny Whitten said, "is playing real good today and should play beautiful by tomorrow. Where we were wading around in water before, there is no water at all today."

There are 153 pros and 13 amateurs entered in the tournament.

It begins Friday a day late, because players wanted a chance to practice on the 6,700-yard, par 70 layout after heavy rains soaked the closed course for a week.

Catholic Quints Meet At Allegany In Title Battle

The first half championship of the Catholic Youth Basketball League will be at stake today when St. Michael's of Frostburg does battle with SS. Peter & Paul of Cumberland in a playoff game at Allegany High School at 6:15 p. m.

These teams wound up their first half schedules with 8-2 records. They met twice with St. Michael's taking the first game at Frostburg, 28-21, while SS. Peter & Paul squared accounts by winning here, 35-29.

Liston, Johnson To Fight June 8

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Manager Marv Jenson said Thursday that a heavyweight bout between Young Jack Johnson and Sonny Liston is "all set" for June 8 at Miami Beach.

Jenson, who is here with NBA middleweight champion Gene Fulmer, said the fight would be held in the Civic Auditorium, but would make no other comment.

Liston currently is listed as the No. 1 contender for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight crown. Johnson, former California heavyweight champion, defeated German Billy Besmanoff in his last outing.

Charter Member

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Cincinnati was the first professional baseball club in the United States —the Red Stockings of 1869 — and was a charter member of the National League when it was formed in 1876.

Tom Bean, Barton Native, Voted Into Michigan's Hall Of Fame

Coached Royal Oak St. Mary's Teams For Thirty Years

A native of Barton, who has coached high school teams for 30 years in the Wolverine State, will be installed in the Michigan High School Coaches Hall of Fame, March 25, according to an article in The Daily Tribune of Royal Oak.

Thomas Bean, veteran St. Mary Royal Oak High School athletic director and coach, is one of 12 veteran state high school sports figures who will be honored at the annual coaches' banquet at Kellogg Center, East Lansing, at state basketball tournament time.

Coached For 30 Years

The 64-year-old Bean has been on the job at St. Mary's for nearly 30 years and has coached all three of the school's prep sports, most of the time handling the Irish basketball and baseball teams. He also has coached the school's entries in CYO grade school sports, and is still active in that capacity.

Bean gave up prep duties three years ago with the exception of 1957 baseball when he filled a vacancy long enough to guide the Irish to a Second Division Suburban League title.

Won 8 Baseball Titles

championships in 1943 and 1950.

Bean's basketball teams were strong local representatives in the Suburban League races and reached their greatest heights in 1949-50 and 1950-51 with successive titles.

The Irish enjoyed unusual success in football in the mid-40's, too, when Bean served as assistant.

The Daily Tribune says:

"Bean always accepted titles with a minimum of fanfare and went to work quietly on his next team, looking back on a banner year almost as if it were another so-so season.

"It is with this same quiet acceptance he is regarding Hall of Fame status."

Headed Barton Teams

Tom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Bean, and was born at Barton where he coached and managed independent teams in the 1920s. He makes his home at Royal Oak with his sister, Miss Margaret Bean. His brother Frank Bean is a resident of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Carrie Bean resides at Barton.

Pen-Mar League To Meet Sunday

The Pen-Mar Baseball League will hold a reorganization meeting at 2 p.m., Sunday, February 26 at Melody Manor, Barrelville.

Officers will be elected and plans for the coming season will be discussed.

Barrelville was the pennant and playoff winner in 1960. Other teams were Hyndman, Centerville and Salisbury, Pa., Moorefield, W. Va., Mt. Savage, Frostburg and Flintstone, Md.

39 Teams To Compete In Dog Sled Derby

LACONIA, N.H. (UPI)—Trucks hauled in snow to cover the bare spots Thursday for the World championship Sled Dog Derby Friday.

A total of 39 teams from New England, New York State and Canada were entered to compete for purses totaling $2,500. The derby ends Sunday.

Arcaro Seeks 5th Win In Flamingo

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Eddie Arcaro is due from California Friday to ride Calumet Farm's Beau Prince Saturday in Hialeah's $100,000 added Flamingo Classic.

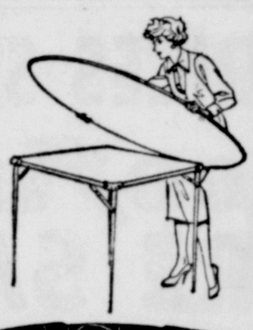

Arcaro is the leading jockey in Flamingo competition, having won four times on Requested (1942), Stir Up (1944), Nashua (1955), and Bold Ruler (1957).

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	6 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣

It is difficult to stress too sharply the importance of that refreshing pause at trick one. It is at this time that declarer should muster his forces for the ensuing battle. A hasty play from dummy could readily place the contract beyond his reach.

However, the pause should not be too extended. Where legitimate means are not available by declarer, and artifice is required, the defender must not be given too much time in which to work out his own problems. South in today's hand rated a pat on the back for his neat psychological effort at the start of play.

The bidding will not pass muster. North's proper rebid is one no trump not two hearts. With a bare 13 point opener and three indifferent trumps he should not give partner a direct raise. South's use of Blackwood was rather pointless since the number of aces held would not answer his problems. Observe that, though the partnership has all four aces, there is no good play for a slam contract. However, a bit of resourcefulness and quick witted dummy play enabled South to make his bid stand up.

West opened the king of clubs and declarer, without a flicker of hesitation, followed suit with the nine. West was certain that he had located the flaw in his opponent's armor and, without further consideration, he continued with the queen of clubs. South played the ace, drew trumps and cashed the dummy's top diamonds, discarding his last club. Now the ruff of a low club felled West's jack and established the suit for the discard of declarer's spade losers. The ace of spades, of course, provided access to the dummy.

A spade shift at trick two would have defeated the contract, for this would have driven out dummy's card of re-entry before the clubs were established.

A number of awards, including two Eagle Scout badges, were presented during a ceremony for members of Boy Scout Troop 80 following a dinner Wednesday in the Bowling Green Fire Hall.

Willis V. Smith, Potomac Council executive, presented the Eagle Scout badges to Delton Johnson Jr. and Lester Boden Jr. The boys then had the badges pinned on them by their mothers, Mrs. Delton Johnson Sr. and Mrs. Lester Boden Sr.

Scoutmaster Lester Boden Sr. presented a Life Badge to Perry Boden and a Star Scout rank to Larry Speir.

Tenderfoot badges, Richard Cosgrove, James Burke, William McKenzie, Harry Bowman and Ivan Wiland.

The charter of the troop, sponsored by the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company, was presented by J. Paul Fisher, Nemacolin Trail District chairman to Barnard Warren, institutional executive officer.

Others participating in the ceremony were Delton Johnson Sr., troop committee chairman, and Assistant Scoutmasters Francis Harvey and Charles Norris.

Mrs. Lester Boden Sr. was dinner chairman with Mrs. Nicholas Vlachos Sr. as co-chairman. Other hostesses were Mrs. Francis Harvey, Mrs. Allan Speir, Mrs. Betty Hughes, Mrs. William McKenzie, Mrs. John Clower, Mrs. Robert Haines and Mrs. Richard Davis.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 15-year-old son has a job after school and on Saturday. Bruce is a sensible, thoughtful boy who saves his money wisely.

He is very fond of his older brother in fact, he looks up to him as an idol. Bruce bought his older brother an electric razor which was an expensive gift for a boy of 15. His brother seemed pleased at the time but I happen to know he never used the gift.

Last week I learned he rewrapped the electric razor and gave it to his boss as a birthday present. When I asked him about it he said he was short of money and this was an emergency measure. If Bruce finds out he'll be heartbroken. What shall I do?

—E. J. L.

DEAR E. J. L.: Explain to the older boy that there's an even greater emergency on the home front. Lend him the money, if necessary, but see to it that he replaces the electric razor immediately. Bruce must never know his brother was so thoughtless and inconsiderate.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You're the only one I can ask for help. When you hear the problem you'll understand why.

I started to go with Nick when I was 19. He was 27 and had already been divorced twice. He never talked to me much about his ex-wives but both were older than he was and both were alcoholics.

It sounds terrible when I write it, but at the time it didn't seem wrong—he asked me to move into his place and I did. The landlady assumed we were married and so did everyone else. I posed as Mrs. — joint savings account, charge accounts, the whole works. That year we had a baby boy. The next year a girl. Now — we have four lovely children and are very happy. But he still has not married me.

I've taken it easy on the subject because I know his former marriage experiences have made him afraid. Yesterday I brought it out in the open. I told him our children are growing up and we MUST get married. He says our friends and family would be shocked and it would hurt him with his boss if he knew we had been living together illegally all these years.

Please tell me what to do. I'll bet you've never had this problem before and you'll have to hunt plenty for an answer.

—LYNN.

DEAR LYNN: I get this problem only about twice a week. I have an answer all ready. Here it is: Marriage laws vary from state to state. Go to your city hall and consult the marriage license department. Ask if a ceremony can be performed and the records kept private. If they can do it—seek no further. If not, go to the nearest large city where you are not known. And may I be the first (and probably the ONLY one) to congratulate you?

DEAR READERS: This is a plea from me to you.

Please, please don't send money with your letters asking for advice. I am well paid by the newspapers that print the column.

Often I suspect the reader has sent the money at some sacrifice to himself. It makes me unhappy when I find silver coins scotch-taped to the letters—and no address, which makes it impossible to return.

I am deeply touched by your expressions of appreciation, but your written thanks is enough.

P. S. This month I'm sending such contributions to the Cerebral Palsy fund.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teen-agers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Cards of Thanks

The family of the late Melvin Cuthbertson wishes to thank friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement. To those who sent flowers and assisted us in many ways, we extend our sincerest thanks.

Mrs. Deanie Cuthbertson & Family

I wish to thank all my friends and neighbors for the kindness shown me in the bereavement following the death of my beloved husband, Wilbur D. Riggleman. I also wish to extend my thanks to Rev. Frank Fratto, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

MRS. LAURA V. RIGGLEMAN

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Frederick C. Troutman. We especially wish to thank those who sent flowers, those who sent cash donations, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, the pallbearers and Rev. Donald Bates. To all others who in any manner rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful.

THE TROUTMAN FAMILY

Cards of Thanks

The family of the late Melvin Cuthbertson wishes to thank friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement. To those who sent flowers and assisted us in many ways, we extend our sincerest thanks.

Mrs. Deanie Cuthbertson & Family

I wish to thank all my friends and neighbors for the kindness shown me in the bereavement following the death of my beloved husband, Wilbur D. Riggleman. I also wish to extend my thanks to Rev. Frank Fratto, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

MRS. LAURA V. RIGGLEMAN

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Frederick C. Troutman. We especially wish to thank those who sent flowers, those who sent cash donations, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, the pallbearers and Rev. Donald Bates. To all others who in any manner rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful.

THE TROUTMAN FAMILY

Market Gains In Heaviest Trading Since Sept., 1955

NEW YORK (AP)—Electronics and specially situated issues inspired the stock market to a ragged advance Thursday on the highest volume since Sept. 26, 1955.

That was the first market session after President Eisenhower's memorable heart attack when the market reeled backwards on turnover of 7.72 million shares. Thursday's volume was 5.62 million compared with 5.07 million Tuesday.

The over-all advance was moderate but enough to put the Associated Press average to another historic high of 237.10 on a gain of .60. Industrials and rails rose .60 apiece while utilities rose .30.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index also reached a new historic peak, rising .23 to 62.59.

The Dow Jones industrial average gained 2.02 to 654.42, leaving it still below its peak in last June's rally—656.42—and far below its all-time high of 685.47 achieved Jan. 5, 1960.

Specially situated issues rose 1 to 4 points. The key stocks were mostly content with gains of fractions to about a point.

The rise and the big volume reflections, brokers said, of the public's conviction that the period ahead will be inflationary and marked by big spending for defense, educational expansion, housing and automation.

Of 1,295 issues traded, 648 advanced and 421 declined. New highs for 1960-'61 totaled 111.

Market Gains In Heaviest Trading Since Sept., 1955

NEW YORK (AP)—Electronics and specially situated issues inspired the stock market to a ragged advance Thursday on the highest volume since Sept. 26, 1955.

That was the first market session after President Eisenhower's memorable heart attack when the market reeled backwards on turnover of 7.72 million shares. Thursday's volume was 5.62 million compared with 5.07 million Tuesday.

The over-all advance was moderate but enough to put the Associated Press average to another historic high of 237.10 on a gain of .60. Industrials and rails rose .60 apiece while utilities rose .30.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index also reached a new historic peak, rising .23 to 62.59.

The Dow Jones industrial average gained 2.02 to 654.42, leaving it still below its peak in last June's rally—656.42—and far below its all-time high of 685.47 achieved Jan. 5, 1960.

Specially situated issues rose 1 to 4 points. The key stocks were mostly content with gains of fractions to about a point.

The rise and the big volume reflections, brokers said, of the public's conviction that the period ahead will be inflationary and marked by big spending for defense, educational expansion, housing and automation.

Of 1,295 issues traded, 648 advanced and 421 declined. New highs for 1960-'61 totaled 111.

University Bill Goes To Assembly Today

Delegation Pledges Unanimous Support

The Allegany County Delegation will introduce in the General Assembly today a bill to convert Frostburg State Teachers College into a center of the University of Maryland.

Announcement of the action was made last night by Del. Fred B. Driscoll, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly.

He said the bill is being introduced with the unanimous support of the delegation and that the plan has the full approval of State Senator Charles M. See.

The legislation will be sponsored by Speaker of the House Perry O. Wilkinson, D - Prince George's County, the Allegany County delegation and the Garrett County delegation.

Changes Are In

Del. Driscoll said changes requested by Allegany County legislators have been agreed to by all concerned and have been incorporated into the bill which is being introduced today.

He characterized the bill as it now stands as a "distinct asset to the people of Western Maryland."

Del. Driscoll added the delegation will support the bill "all the way down the line."

The bill spells out the mechanics of unifying the educational facilities at Frostburg State Teachers College with the University of Maryland.

The delegation spokesman said Allegany County's six delegates and Senator See felt that meetings held with groups in Cumberland and Frostburg the past two weekends were "very helpful" and that the legislators got a great deal out of the conferences.

From Annapolis, The Associated Press said the proposal is expected to create as much controversy in the full assembly as it did in the Allegany delegation before agreement was reached there.

Pullen Opposes

The Frostburg conversion is bitterly opposed by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools; the State Board of Education, which now controls state teachers colleges, and many parent-teacher groups.

Before Allegany County legislators agreed to support the conversion, certain changes in the original proposal were agreed on.

The language of the final draft was being kept secret Thursday night, but it is expected to contain features designed to head off some of the major objections raised in advance.

Critics have complained the move would impair teacher education in Maryland and would raise the cost of teacher training for Frostburg students.

Gov. Tawes has strongly endorsed the proposal as a means of improving educational opportunity in Western Maryland and has often crossed swords with Dr. Pullen in smarting exchanges of public statements.

The conversion idea originated with a committee of Western Maryland leaders after a broader plan to convert three of the five state teacher colleges was put aside for further study.

School Board Will Submit New Budget

Will Be Presented Next Tuesday

Allegany County's Board of Education held a special executive session yesterday afternoon to put the finishing touches to the 1961-62 fiscal year budget which will be presented next Tuesday to the Board of County Commissioners by Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

Traditionally, the school board does not divulge details of the budget until it is presented to the county commissioners for approval.

During the current fiscal year, which started last July 1, the school board has been operating on a budget which provides it a total of $2,017,613 in county funds.

It is known that a number of increases will be sought in the new budget starting July 1. For one thing, at its January 17 meeting, the Board of Education voted to submit a new teacher salary schedule starting at $4,000 and reaching a maximum of $6,200. This would provide an increase of $300 or $400 a year for virtually all teachers.

This salary increase for principals and teachers would cost in the neighborhood of $200,000 more than is being spent this year. The budget also will provide increases for supervisors, secretaries and janitors. Just how much this will amount to is not known.

A $30,000 item also is expected in the budget for the establishment of a community college using the facilities of the now closed Carver School. Another $11,000 in the proposed budget would provide the funds for typewriters and typing tables for use at Flintstone and Oldtown high schools, which do not now have commercial courses.

With these proposed increases, it appears clear that the county will be asked to provide at least $2,250,000 for schools in the next fiscal year.

26,092,390 Eggs Will Be Eaten In County This Year

A group of Allegany County poultry producers was told yesterday by experts from the University of Maryland that agricultural economists predict that Americans will eat fewer eggs in 1961 than in previous years.

However, the 310 eggs the average American will eat in 1961 represents six eggs every week for each of us .

Even though the consumption is down, these University of Maryland spokesmen pointed out that it adds up to plenty of eggs. On the basis of this county's 1960 population of 84,169 persons, the residents of this county alone will consume 26,092,390 eggs this year.

The 1959 census of agriculture showed that Allegany County farmers had total production of 3,369,928 eggs. In other words, this county must import most of the eggs we eat. That gives the experts reason to believe that there is plenty of room for more poultry producers in this county .

Similarly, experts figure that the average family of three persons eats one turkey a year. On that basis, Allegany countians will eat 28,056 turkeys this year. And yet, when the 1959 census of agriculture was conducted, only one 4-H boy in this county had any turkeys. The agriculture census taker counted 24 turkeys. All the rest were imported.

Farmers interested in getting into the poultry business were told that the cost of a poultry house ranges between $3.25 and $3.50 per bird.

County Agent Joseph M. Steger, who reported on these poultry figures, said that only about 30 persons attended the all-day meeting yesterday at the LaVale Fire Hall. Richard Stegmaier of Christie Road was the chairman.

Speakers were Dr. Harold M. DeVolt, professor of apian pathology; Wade H. Rice, associate professor of poultry husbandry, and Dr. Harold Smith, associate professor of agricultural economics.

Urban Renewal Legislation Will Be Sought

Legislation will be sought during the current session of the General Assembly to allow the City of Cumberland to qualify for federal aid in redevelopment or urban renewal projects.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said yesterday that an order will be introduced at Monday's Council meeting, authorizing City Solicitor William R. Carscaden to prepare a bill for introduction at Annapolis.

The enabling legislation would provide the City of Cumberland with certain powers to participate in such projects in the event federal funds are available.

At present, Baltimore is the only Maryland city which has the authority to engage in urban renewal projects, city officials said.

Cumberland will be only one of a number of Maryland cities which will seek such enabling legislation from the 1961 Legislature.

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission is at present engaged in getting proposals from several planning firms and is expected to make a recommendation this spring.

The firm selected will prepare a Master Plan for the development of the city — another requirement needed to qualify for federal help on urban renewal.

Flood Manual Is Revised

Copies of the 1961 edition of the Flood Emergency Warning Plan for the Cumberland area have been received at City Hall.

The revised manual was prepared by the City Engineering Department in cooperation with the Corps of Army Engineers.

It includes an outline of the warning plan for Area 17, which includes the basins of Wills Creek and Evitts Creek and the cities of Cumberland and Ridgeley.

Agencies in all of the communities which function during an alert or swing into action in case of an actual flood, are listed, along with personnel and equipment which are avaliable in time of emergencies.

Municipal Unit Will Convene Here Oct. 19

Over 200 Expected To Attend Sessions

The Maryland Municipal League will hold its annual convention in Cumberland October 19-21, according to Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

Plans for the annual meeting were made in City Hall yesterday as Mayor Keech, vice president of the League, met with Alan Beals, executive secretary of the League, and Walter A. Scheiber, city manager of Rockville.

The Fort Cumberland Hotel will be the headquarters for the convention.

Officials of some 65 Maryland municipalities will take part, and over 200 mayors and councilmen and their wives are expected to attend.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery and City Attorney William R. Carscaden sat in on the program planning sessions yesterday.

Mayor Keech said yesterday he got a "bum steer" from League officials when he announced this will be the first time for the League to hold its fall meeting here.

He said the organization held its 1950 convention here.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, has a copy of the program for the 1950 meeting.

Mr. Gibson noted yesterday that city, county, state fiscal relationships were as hot a subject in 1950 as today, and this was one of the subjects duscussed at that meeting.

Mayor Keech represents Cumberland on a study committee named by Governor Tawes to explore the subject.

Mental Patient Picked Up Here

Police were notified at 3:55 p. m. that the man was missing from the mental hospital. He was picked up at a North Centre Street home an hour later by Detective Kenneth Morrissey and Officer Murl Boggs.

Ham Shoot Tonight

A shooting match will be held tonight at 7:30 at Baltimore Pike Fire Hall, with hams and turkeys as first prizes and bacon as second prizes. Refreshments will be sold by the auxiliary.

Senate Group Gives Approval To Loan Bill

Measure Faces Delays On Floor

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The administration's bill to regulate the mushrooming savings and loan industry in Maryland won quick approval Thursday in a senate committee over protests it was being rushed.

The measure, drafted by a study commission headed by Baltimore Attorney Richard W. Case, will be reported Friday to the Senate floor where it faces almost certain delays.

Chairman John-Clarence North of the Senate Banking and Insurance Committee served notice that he will fight any delaying efforts or attempts to amend the bill on the floor.

"I think it's imperative that we get this legislation on the move and get it out of the Senate," he said in insisting the committee act on the bill Thursday.

Voice Approval

"It is one of the finest pieces of legislation ever devised in its field and it is in the public interest that we move it."

The committee gave voice approval to the bill at a 20-minute session that brought a sharp verbal exchange between North and committee members Raymond Buffington, D-Balto 3rd, and Harry T. Phoebus, R-Somerset.

Buffington sought to delay committee action until a written opinion on the bill's constitutionality could be obtained from the attorney general.

He has questioned the validity of a controversial feature which would outlaw operation of multi-stock companies, those which are controlled by a small select group which hold the capital stock in contrast to mutual savings associations in which depositors have a voice.

North said Case had been assured by the attorney general's office that the bill is "perfectly legal and constitutional."

"Was the opinion in writing?" demanded Buffington. When North said it wasn't, Buffington again asked that it be held up until a written opinion is in hand.

"Your request is denied by the chair," North told him.

Amendment Approved

"We all know there are some people opposed to this legislation. We have had it in our hands since Feb. 1 and we have had a full-blown public hearing on it."

Sen. Phoebus said that in his years in the senate he had never seen a bill moved in the absence of members who might want to offer amendments in committee.

"I'll probably be for this bill, but if you bring it out to the floor tomorrow, you're going to get amendments and it'll be laid over until Monday night," Phoebus told him. "We'll have a good audience then."

The five committee members present approved a series of amendments to the bill which the Case Commission submitted. All but one were technical in nature.

The other provides that persons holding stock in multi-stock associations will have 30 days in which to withdraw their money or convert it into new stock when such firms are required to become mutual associations or go out of business.

Deed Records Sale Of Drive-In Theatre

The sale of the Potomac Drive-In Theatre on the easterly side of Winchester Road was recorded yesterday in a deed filed in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

This 7.8-acre tract was sold for about $35,000, according to the stamps affixed to the deed. The Baland Corporation sold the theatre to the Queen City Enterprises Inc., a Maryland corporation whose president is John G. Broumas of Chevy Chase. The purchaser also owns the Maryland Theatre here. Five indoor theatres and six drive-ins in Maryland and Virginia are included in this chain.

'Litterbug' Gets 30-Day Term

Wilson Blaine Kidwell, 21, of Apartment 1E, Fort Cumberland Homes, who had been accused of placing 12 empty beer bottles along the edge of U. S. Route 40 at the top of Green Ridge Mountain, drew fines and court costs totaling $76.50 last night from Magistrate Russell V. Nierman of Flintstone.

He was arrested last October 28 by State Trooper John W. McFarland. Charged with placing an "injurious substance" on U. S. Route 40, he failed to appear last November 15 for his hearing. He was arrested early Tuesday by city police and has been in County Jail since then.

Last night, Magistrate Nierman fined Kidwell $50 and 75 cents court costs on the "injurious substance" charge. Another $25 and 75 cents court costs was levied on the charge of failure to appear for the November 15 hearing. He told the magistrate he "forgot" about that date.

When he was unable to pay the fines, Magistrate Nierman ordered him committed for 30 days on the "litterbug" offense and 25 days on the other charge, to be served concurrently.

Library Bills Submitted To House Group

Ask More State, County Assistance

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Public libraries were described Thursday as crowded and inadequate, "literally about to burst through the walls," and greatly in need of increased state aid to meet a growing reading demand by the public.

The House Ways and Means Committee was urged to approve three bills which would provide more state and county money for library operation, create an incentive fund for building more libraries and establish regional reference libraries as a source of supply for local libraries.

P. D. Brown, chairman of the Maryland Library Association which submitted the bills, said their total net cost to the state in the first year of operation would be $1.6 million.

Superintendent of Schools Thomas G. Pullen Jr., who supported them, told the committee that the state has an obligation to the public throughout Maryland to improve the quality of libraries.

There were a flock of speakers at the two-hour hearing, describing conditions in their local libraries and the need for improvements. Most were trustees of county libraries.

Edward W. Couey of Hagerstown said the Washington County Library, which opened in 1901 and is the second oldest county library in the nation, operated last year with a total appropriation of $110,000 from the state, county and City of Hagerstown and yet had a book circulation of 410,000.

"Most of the libraries in this state, except the Enoch Pratt (in Baltimore City), are not financially able to render services the public wants and needs," said Couey.

He said the Washington County Library spent $80,000 last year to acquire a new site and is "about ready to embark" on a $750,000 public subscription campaign to build a new library.

Dr. Adam Baer, chairman of the Allegany County Library Board, said that county's library is the "infant" in state service, having been in operation only eight months. He said the past year it tried to serve 82,000 people with a budget of $60,000 and is seeking a penny additional on the county tax rate for boosting service next year.

The bills call for the state to participate with counties on a 30-70 per cent cost sharing basis.

North Critic Of Dr. Pullen

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Sen. John-Clarence North (D. Talbot) said yesterday Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools, is inflicting "grave injustice" on the parents of students by trying to gain his ends by "emotional appeal."

North was taking issue with Pullen's opposition to a plan to convert Frostburg State Teachers College into a branch of the University of Maryland.

Pullen and powerful Parent-Teacher Association groups have denounced the plan as a piecemeal attempt to implement the Warfield Plan, which already has gone to the Legislative Council. The Warfield Commission, headed by Edwin Warfield 3d, recommended merging of Frostburg, Salisbury, and Towson state teachers colleges into the university system.

North said Dr. Pullen "gives the word, and it filters down to the school administrators, the faculty and finally students."

"The students contact the parents, telling them that their tuition is going to be increased or some such things if the conversion is accomplished and the parents get excited," North said.

To Hold Meeting

Forestry Unit Approves Plans For Expansion

Improvements Listed For Three Camps

The Advisory Board of Boys' Forestry Camps yesterday gave approval to a general plan to expand the physical plants of the three camps in Western Maryland.

In other action at a board meeting held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, the advisory unit also approved a request for between $100,000 and $150,000 for capital improvements at the camps for the fiscal year of 1963.

The meeting opened with several reports on population and personnel by David L. Curran, secretary of the board, and Paul Falconer, supervisor of case work services for the three camps.

These discussions included possible classification of work supervisors, staff shortages and the introduction of Hendrick A. Essers Jr., the new supervisor for the Meadow Mountain Camp.

Progress Outlined

R. Thomas Thayer, district forester, also addressed the group and outlined the forestry accomplishments at the three camps for the past four years.

Mr. Thayer pointed out during the four-year period that a total of 372,500 trees were planted at the camps and some 71 acres were cleared for planting. Other activities included improvement and maintenance of 67 miles of road and improvements to 204 acres of timber land.

A report also was made on Gov. Tawes' budget for the coming year, which is for $192,535, an increase of $15,050 over the $177,485 for the fiscal year of 1961.

A list of tentative capital improvements to the three camps also was submitted at yesterday's meeting of the board.

Improvement Projects

A total of $52,000 for improvements to the camp at Green Ridge was outlined in the first draft of the improvement plan. Improvements at the camp include replacement of the bath house, replacement of old wooden piers supporting three old CCC buildings, dormitory alterations and improvements, new recreation room, repairs to the electrical and heating system, and new camp equipment.

Some $23,000 was specified for the camp at Lonaconing. This includes money for improvements to the heating system, conversion of storage building to shop and vocational building, site improvements and enlargement of the dormitory.

The cost of improvements at the Meadow Mountain camp has been set at $23,000. Projects there include improvements to the heating system, conversion of metal storage building to shop and vocational building with office for camp supervisor, site improvements and enlargement of dormitory building.

Frank Powers presided at the session in the absence of Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley.

Belt Begins Planning Duty

Carl O. Belt of Park Heights, secretary of the John I. Vandergrift Company, local contractors, was welcomed as the new member of the Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission at the group's monthly meeting last night at the Court House.

He was appointed February 3 to a five-year term as the successor to Alvin H. Ternent of Lonaconing.

Richard Winer, chairman of the commission, and James A. Perrin were the only other commission members present. County Commissioner John T. Mason missed his first meeting since the commission was organized more than a year ago. The other member, Ralph M. Race, is recuperating from an operation.

Julian Tarrant of Richmond, Va., a representative of the planning engineering firm of Ladislas Segoe and Associates, Cincinnati, Ohio, also was present for the meeting. He informed the commission that he has heard from several applicants for the job as county planner here. The commission expects to interview applicants soon.

Application Tabled By Zoning Board

The application of Mrs. Mae Smith, 7 Roberts Street, to build a brick veneer dwelling with attached garage at 120 and 121 Elder Street was tabled by the Board of Zoning appeals last night.

The action was taken by the board when the applicant failed to appear at the scheduled hearing in City Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey B. Ritchie, RFD 4, city, a daughter yesterday.

Former Area Man Killed

Relatives in Westernport were notified of the young man's death, but no details of the accident were received.

He was a son of Mrs. George Salyina Cole, Lorain, Ohio, and the late Pete J. Salyina.

Surviving, besides his mother, are his stepfather, George Cole, Lorain; four brothers, Walter and Theodore, both of Lorain; Frank, Wichita, Kan., and Pete Salyina, Winter Haven, and three sisters, Mrs. Terry Woods, Morgantown, W.Va.; Mrs. Gene Leach, Lorain, and Mrs. Robert Wilson, Baltimore.

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home, Westernport, where the family will be received from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Services will be conducted there tomorrow at 1 p.m. by Rev. Marvin Coleman, pastor of Elk Garden Assembly of God Church. Burial will be in Queens Point Cemetery at Keyser.

Pallbearers will be Robert Poland, Jack Poland, Robert Smith, William Smith, John Smith and Joseph Smith Sr.

County Bills Are Enacted

The Senate last night enacted two minor bills sponsored by the Allegany County Delegation.

They are House Bills 352 and 354, to repeal obsolete laws relating to the county road system and the miners' relief fund.

44 Sets Of Tags Sold First Day

The first purchaser yesterday was Clyde Brooke Combs, 97 Mullen Avenue, Luke, who traveled more than 25 miles for that honor. As a matter of fact, Mr. Combs bought the first two sets. The collector's office will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday for the sale of license tags and other business.

Wade To Head K Of P Lodge

Robert C. Wade Jr. was installed chancellor commander of Cumberland Lodge No. 60, Knights of Pythias, at a recent meeting in the Knights of Malta Hall here.

Other officers are Harold Fishell, vice chancellor; Odith M. Brotemarkle, prelate; B. O. Shaffer, master of works; J. Walter McKee, secretary.

Robert C. Wade Sr., financial secretary; David W. Smith, treasurer, and George H. Keifer, master at arms.

Mr. Shaffer was elected representative to the Grand Lodge sessions which will open in Hagerstown September 13, and Robert C. Wade Sr. was named alternate.

The 80-member lodge also made plans for the observance of Pythian Week here March 12 to 18. It will be marked by open meetings and attendance in a body at church services.

Forestry Advisory Board Meets

The Advisory Board of Boys' Forestry Camps met here yesterday to discuss more adequate physical plants at the three campsites in Western Maryland. Left to right are Raymond L. Manella, superintendent of the Division of Training Schools; David L. Curran, secretary of the board and superintendent of the camps; Frank T. Powers, vice chairman of the board; Hendrik A. Essers Jr., new supervisor of the Meadow Mountain camp, and Paul R. Falconer, supervisor of case work service.

The Maryland Municipal League will hold its annual convention in Cumberland October 19-21, according to Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

Plans for the annual meeting were made in City Hall yesterday as Mayor Keech, vice president of the League, met with Alan Beals, executive secretary of the League, and Walter A. Scheiber, city manager of Rockville.

The Fort Cumberland Hotel will be the headquarters for the convention.

Officials of some 65 Maryland municipalities will take part, and over 200 mayors and councilmen and their wives are expected to attend.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery and City Attorney William R. Carscaden sat in on the program planning sessions yesterday.

Mayor Keech said yesterday he got a "bum steer" from League officials when he announced this will be the first time for the League to hold its fall meeting here.

He said the organization held its 1950 convention here.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, has a copy of the program for the 1950 meeting.

Mr. Gibson noted yesterday that city, county, state fiscal relationships were as hot a subject in 1950 as today, and this was one of the subjects duscussed at that meeting.

Mayor Keech represents Cumberland on a study committee named by Governor Tawes to explore the subject.

Mental Patient Picked Up Here

City police yesterday afternoon took into custody a local man who escaped that morning from Springfield State Hospital.

Police were notified at 3:55 p. m. that the man was missing from the mental hospital. He was picked up at a North Centre Street home an hour later by Detective Kenneth Morrissey and Officer Murl Boggs.

Ham Shoot Tonight

A shooting match will be held tonight at 7:30 at Baltimore Pike Fire Hall, with hams and turkeys as first prizes and bacon as second prizes. Refreshments will be sold by the auxiliary.

Senate Group Gives Approval To Loan Bill

Measure Faces Delays On Floor

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The administration's bill to regulate the mushrooming savings and loan industry in Maryland won quick approval Thursday in a senate committee over protests it was being rushed.

The measure, drafted by a study commission headed by Baltimore Attorney Richard W. Case, will be reported Friday to the Senate floor where it faces almost certain delays.

Chairman John-Clarence North of the Senate Banking and Insurance Committee served notice that he will fight any delaying efforts or attempts to amend the bill on the floor.

"I think it's imperative that we get this legislation on the move and get it out of the Senate," he said in insisting the committee act on the bill Thursday.

Voice Approval

"It is one of the finest pieces of legislation ever devised in its field and it is in the public interest that we move it."

The committee gave voice approval to the bill at a 20-minute session that brought a sharp verbal exchange between North and committee members Raymond Buffington, D-Balto 3rd, and Harry T. Phoebus, R-Somerset.

Buffington sought to delay committee action until a written opinion on the bill's constitutionality could be obtained from the attorney general.

He has questioned the validity of a controversial feature which would outlaw operation of multi-stock companies, those which are controlled by a small select group which hold the capital stock in contrast to mutual savings associations in which depositors have a voice.

North said Case had been assured by the attorney general's office that the bill is "perfectly legal and constitutional."

"Was the opinion in writing?" demanded Buffington. When North said it wasn't, Buffington again asked that it be held up until a written opinion is in hand.

"Your request is denied by the chair," North told him.

Amendment Approved

"We all know there are some people opposed to this legislation. We have had it in our hands since Feb. 1 and we have had a full-blown public hearing on it."

Sen. Phoebus said that in his years in the senate he had never seen a bill moved in the absence of members who might want to offer amendments in committee.

"I'll probably be for this bill, but if you bring it out to the floor tomorrow, you're going to get amendments and it'll be laid over until Monday night," Phoebus told him. "We'll have a good audience then."

The five committee members present approved a series of amendments to the bill which the Case Commission submitted. All but one were technical in nature.

The other provides that persons holding stock in multi-stock associations will have 30 days in which to withdraw their money or convert it into new stock when such firms are required to become mutual associations or go out of business.

Deed Records Sale Of Drive-In Theatre

The sale of the Potomac Drive-In Theatre on the easterly side of Winchester Road was recorded yesterday in a deed filed in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

This 7.8-acre tract was sold for about $35,000, according to the stamps affixed to the deed. The Baland Corporation sold the theatre to the Queen City Enterprises Inc., a Maryland corporation whose president is John G. Broumas of Chevy Chase. The purchaser also owns the Maryland Theatre here. Five indoor theatres and six drive-ins in Maryland and Virginia are included in this chain.

'Litterbug' Gets 30-Day Term

Wilson Blaine Kidwell, 21, of Apartment 1E, Fort Cumberland Homes, who had been accused of placing 12 empty beer bottles along the edge of U. S. Route 40 at the top of Green Ridge Mountain, drew fines and court costs totaling $76.50 last night from Magistrate Russell V. Nierman of Flintstone.

He was arrested last October 28 by State Trooper John W. McFarland. Charged with placing an "injurious substance" on U. S. Route 40, he failed to appear last November 15 for his hearing. He was arrested early Tuesday by city police and has been in County Jail since then.

Last night, Magistrate Nierman fined Kidwell $50 and 75 cents court costs on the "injurious substance" charge. Another $25 and 75 cents court costs was levied on the charge of failure to appear for the November 15 hearing. He told the magistrate he "forgot" about that date.

When he was unable to pay the fines, Magistrate Nierman ordered him committed for 30 days on the "litterbug" offense and 25 days on the other charge, to be served concurrently.

Library Bills Submitted To House Group

Ask More State, County Assistance

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Public libraries were described Thursday as crowded and inadequate, "literally about to burst through the walls," and greatly in need of increased state aid to meet a growing reading demand by the public.

The House Ways and Means Committee was urged to approve three bills which would provide more state and county money for library operation, create an incentive fund for building more libraries and establish regional reference libraries as a source of supply for local libraries.

P. D. Brown, chairman of the Maryland Library Association which submitted the bills, said their total net cost to the state in the first year of operation would be $1.6 million.

Superintendent of Schools Thomas G. Pullen Jr., who supported them, told the committee that the state has an obligation to the public throughout Maryland to improve the quality of libraries.

There were a flock of speakers at the two-hour hearing, describing conditions in their local libraries and the need for improvements. Most were trustees of county libraries.

Edward W. Couey of Hagerstown said the Washington County Library, which opened in 1901 and is the second oldest county library in the nation, operated last year with a total appropriation of $110,000 from the state, county and City of Hagerstown and yet had a book circulation of 410,000.

"Most of the libraries in this state, except the Enoch Pratt (in Baltimore City), are not financially able to render services the public wants and needs," said Couey.

He said the Washington County Library spent $80,000 last year to acquire a new site and is "about ready to embark" on a $750,000 public subscription campaign to build a new library.

Dr. Adam Baer, chairman of the Allegany County Library Board, said that county's library is the "infant" in state service, having been in operation only eight months. He said the past year it tried to serve 82,000 people with a budget of $60,000 and is seeking a penny additional on the county tax rate for boosting service next year.

The bills call for the state to participate with counties on a 30-70 per cent cost sharing basis.

North Critic Of Dr. Pullen

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Sen. John-Clarence North (D. Talbot) said yesterday Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools, is inflicting "grave injustice" on the parents of students by trying to gain his ends by "emotional appeal."

North was taking issue with Pullen's opposition to a plan to convert Frostburg State Teachers College into a branch of the University of Maryland.

Pullen and powerful Parent-Teacher Association groups have denounced the plan as a piecemeal attempt to implement the Warfield Plan, which already has gone to the Legislative Council. The Warfield Commission, headed by Edwin Warfield 3d, recommended merging of Frostburg, Salisbury, and Towson state teachers colleges into the university system.

North said Dr. Pullen "gives the word, and it filters down to the school administrators, the faculty and finally students."

"The students contact the parents, telling them that their tuition is going to be increased or some such things if the conversion is accomplished and the parents get excited," North said.

To Hold Meeting

Forestry Unit Approves Plans For Expansion

Improvements Listed For Three Camps

The Advisory Board of Boys' Forestry Camps yesterday gave approval to a general plan to expand the physical plants of the three camps in Western Maryland.

In other action at a board meeting held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, the advisory unit also approved a request for between $100,000 and $150,000 for capital improvements at the camps for the fiscal year of 1963.

The meeting opened with several reports on population and personnel by David L. Curran, secretary of the board, and Paul Falconer, supervisor of case work services for the three camps.

These discussions included possible classification of work supervisors, staff shortages and the introduction of Hendrick A. Essers Jr., the new supervisor for the Meadow Mountain Camp.

Progress Outlined

R. Thomas Thayer, district forester, also addressed the group and outlined the forestry accomplishments at the three camps for the past four years.

Mr. Thayer pointed out during the four-year period that a total of 372,500 trees were planted at the camps and some 71 acres were cleared for planting. Other activities included improvement and maintenance of 67 miles of road and improvements to 204 acres of timber land.

A report also was made on Gov. Tawes' budget for the coming year, which is for $192,535, an increase of $15,050 over the $177,485 for the fiscal year of 1961.

A list of tentative capital improvements to the three camps also was submitted at yesterday's meeting of the board.

Improvement Projects

A total of $52,000 for improvements to the camp at Green Ridge was outlined in the first draft of the improvement plan. Improvements at the camp include replacement of the bath house, replacement of old wooden piers supporting three old CCC buildings, dormitory alterations and improvements, new recreation room, repairs to the electrical and heating system, and new camp equipment.

Some $23,000 was specified for the camp at Lonaconing. This includes money for improvements to the heating system, conversion of storage building to shop and vocational building, site improvements and enlargement of the dormitory.

The cost of improvements at the Meadow Mountain camp has been set at $23,000. Projects there include improvements to the heating system, conversion of metal storage building to shop and vocational building with office for camp supervisor, site improvements and enlargement of dormitory building.

Frank Powers presided at the session in the absence of Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley.

Belt Begins Planning Duty

Carl O. Belt of Park Heights, secretary of the John I. Vandergrift Company, local contractors, was welcomed as the new member of the Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission at the group's monthly meeting last night at the Court House.

He was appointed February 3 to a five-year term as the successor to Alvin H. Ternent of Lonaconing.

Richard Winer, chairman of the commission, and James A. Perrin were the only other commission members present. County Commissioner John T. Mason missed his first meeting since the commission was organized more than a year ago. The other member, Ralph M. Race, is recuperating from an operation.

Julian Tarrant of Richmond, Va., a representative of the planning engineering firm of Ladislas Segoe and Associates, Cincinnati, Ohio, also was present for the meeting. He informed the commission that he has heard from several applicants for the job as county planner here. The commission expects to interview applicants soon.

Application Tabled By Zoning Board

The application of Mrs. Mae Smith, 7 Roberts Street, to build a brick veneer dwelling with attached garage at 120 and 121 Elder Street was tabled by the Board of Zoning appeals last night.

The action was taken by the board when the applicant failed to appear at the scheduled hearing in City Hall.

Former Area Man Killed

Relatives in Westernport were notified of the young man's death, but no details of the accident were received.

He was a son of Mrs. George Salyina Cole, Lorain, Ohio, and the late Pete J. Salyina.

Surviving, besides his mother, are his stepfather, George Cole, Lorain; four brothers, Walter and Theodore, both of Lorain; Frank, Wichita, Kan., and Pete Salyina, Winter Haven, and three sisters, Mrs. Terry Woods, Morgantown, W.Va.; Mrs. Gene Leach, Lorain, and Mrs. Robert Wilson, Baltimore.

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home, Westernport, where the family will be received from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Services will be conducted there tomorrow at 1 p.m. by Rev. Marvin Coleman, pastor of Elk Garden Assembly of God Church. Burial will be in Queens Point Cemetery at Keyser.

County Bills Are Enacted

The Senate last night enacted two minor bills sponsored by the Allegany County Delegation.

They are House Bills 352 and 334, to repeal obsolete laws relating to the county road system and the miners' relief fund.

44 Sets Of Tags Sold First Day

Apparently comparatively few Allegany County automobile owners got their automobile license tag applications yesterday although they were supposed to have been mailed Tuesday from Baltimore.

At any rate, only 44 sets of the new white tags with blue letters and numbers were sold yesterday at the office of County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff at the Court House.

The first purchaser yesterday was Clyde Brooke Combs, 97 Mullen Avenue, Luke, who traveled more than 25 miles for that honor. As a matter of fact, Mr. Combs bought the first two sets. The collector's office will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday for the sale of license tags and other business.

Wade To Head K Of P Lodge

Other officers are Harold Fishell, vice chancellor; Odith M. Brotemarkle, prelate; B. O. Shaffer, master of works; J. Walter McKee, secretary.

Robert C. Wade Sr., financial secretary; David W. Smith, treasurer, and George H. Keifer, master at arms.

Mr. Shaffer was elected representative to the Grand Lodge sessions which will open in Hagerstown September 13, and Robert C. Wade Sr. was named alternate.

The 80-member lodge also made plans for the observance of Pythian Week here March 12 to 18. It will be marked by open meetings and attendance in a body at church services.

Forestry Advisory Board Meets

The Advisory Board of Boys' Forestry Camps met here yesterday to discuss more adequate physical plants at the three campsites in Western Maryland. Left to right are Raymond L. Manella, superintendent of the Division of Training Schools; David L. Curran, secretary of the board and superintendent of the camps; Frank T. Powers, vice chairman of the board; Hendrik A. Essers Jr., new supervisor of the Meadow Mountain camp, and Paul R. Falconer, supervisor of case work service.
